Military News

Nursing Sister Eva Bell, who has done service at Lennox and in France and England, has taken over the position of matron of Queen's Military Hospital here. She is a graduate of the Kingston General Hospital.

Lieut. F. Ingledew has retired as a lieutenant of the 4th Hussars.

Pte. W. R. Metcalfe, taken on the strength at Kingston, reported some time ago as missing, is now officially presumed to be dead. His mother lives at Palms, Mich.

Militia orders just issued contains the following: "When in the judgment of the military authorities such procedure is necessary, compulsory vaccination against smallpox and compulsory vaccination against typhoid fever, dysentery, cholera and other such infectious diseases, may be resorted to in the cases of members of the Canadian expeditionary force."

"With a view to the protection of the community against the transmission of venereal disease, all members of the Canadian expeditionary force shall submit to blood examinations when so required by superior authority."

"Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions and in addition thereto, it shall be an offence, cognizable by a court martial, for a soldier belonging to the Canadian expeditionary force to refuse to be inoculated or vaccinated or to submit to the blood examinations above mentioned and for such offence he shall, on conviction, be subject to the penalty provided for an offence under section 18 of the Army Act."

Lieut.-Col. George H. Gillespie has been selected by the authorities to be in charge of the arrangements for the soldiers' vote. He will give out information on the subject and make the plans for the location of polling booths. Every unit will have a polling booth in charge of a returned soldier, and Col. Gillespie will make these selections.

Sapper A. R. Self, signal depot, has been taken to England for scientific work for the Admiralty.

Lieut.-Col. Street, district military representative, will probably announce in a few days the names of the military representatives on the various exemption appeal boards.

Corpl. Bowyer, instructional cadre, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant.

Infantry N.C.O. instructors will be allowed now to wear the "instructional cadre badge."

Major S. M. Gray has been struck off the C.E.F.

Lieut. T. D. Caldwell, Canadian Forestry Corps, has been transferred to the C.E.F. reserve of officers.

Nursing Sister A. A. Wright has been taken on the strength of Queen's Military Hospital.

Lieut. T. S. O'Connor, adjutant depot batteries, has been granted sick leave until December 11th.

To all ranks in receipt of rations or allowance in lieu an extra twenty-five cents has been authorized for Christmas Day.

Lt. Col. Emmett Clarke, assistant director of transport and supplies, has been appointed director of transport and supplies, to succeed Brig. General Biggar, recently appointed acting quartermaster-general, due to the resignation of Major-General Macdonald.

FORTY RECRUITS SECURED BY POLICE

They Have Been Handed Over to the Military Authorities.

Upwards of forty men have already given themselves up to the local police as deserters under the Military Service Act. All have been handed over to the military authorities.

Three men came in together to the police station on Tuesday and stated that they had neglected to report for military service. Evidently the men, who have been brought before the Magistrate, caused the men to report to the police.

DROWNED IN MUD LAKE.

One Young Man Lost His Life; Another Saved.

Dr. G. W. Bell, who returned Wednesday morning from Crow Lake, reported a drowning accident at Mud Lake near there on Tuesday. Two young fellows, Daniel McEwen and the other named Knapp, were crossing the lake after foxes and broke through the thin ice. McEwen was got out alive, but the body of Knapp had not been recovered at night. The former was in a very precarious condition, as he was well-nigh frozen, and it was not known if he would live.

The Theatres

At the Grand.

The popular favorites, Harold Lockwood and May Allison will be seen at the Grand to-night in their success "The River of Romance." This charming photoplay has its location on the St. Lawrence in the vicinity of Clayton, and its numerous familiar scenes add greatly to the interest. When shown previously at the Grand, it made a very decided hit, and requests have been so numerous for its revival that a return engagement of to-day and to-morrow, matinee and night has been arranged. The usual Pathe News and comedy reels will also be exhibited. As an added feature the management has secured Sam Harris, one of our local soldier boys, a comedian of the first water, and by no means an amateur, to render his laughable impersonation of a Jewish politician.

At Griffin's

"Mary Fuller and Lou. Tellegen, two of the best known screen favorites, were immensely pleasing last evening in their great success, "The Long Trail." It is a story brimfull of action from start to finish, placed in the romantic setting of the snow-covered big woods. It has punch and thrills together with a unique and powerful love story. "Salambo," the great spectacular feature was also shown last evening, and proved exceptionally interesting. This is a picture which for colossal and magnificent scenes, cannot be surpassed. Don't miss the last opportunity this evening to see these two features, and a first class comedy picture.

At the Strand.

"The Lust of the Ages," with Lillian Walker in the stellar role played to capacity business at the Strand last evening. This excellent production will be shown for the last time to-night. "The Spreading Dawn," fourth of the highly acclaimed Goldwyn picture productions, comes to the Strand for the last three days of this week. Jane Cowl, who is one of the most distinguished dramatic actresses on the American stage is presented in the stellar role. This is the first screen appearance as a Goldwyn star. "The Spreading Dawn" is a picturization of the remarkable Saturday Evening Post serial by Basil King, which created a sensation throughout the country at the time of its publication. There are also shown "columns of soldiers marching away to France, and their stirring aeroplane flight."

"The Voice on the Wire."

The great Universal surprise serial featuring Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber, directed by Stuart Paton the director of "Twenty Thousand Leagues under the Sea." The first episode entitled "The Oriental Death Punch" will be shown at the King Edward Theatre to-night and Thursday. In order to encourage the ladies to attend in the afternoon for the first episode, they will be admitted free at the matinees.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Ernest S. Hutton, who died November 29th, 1916:

We cannot say, and we will not say, That he is dead—he is just away. With cheery smile, and wave of the hand, He journeyed hence to an unknown land. And left us dreaming, how wondrous fair It needs must be to linger there.

And we, O we, who the wildest yearn For the old time step and the glad return, Think of him still as the same—we say, He is not dead—he is just away. —Inserted by Wife and Children.
