Military News

Lieut.-Col. J. M. Wilson, A.D.D.S., is leaving on Thursday for Deseronto and Cobourg on military inspection duty of the dental clinics at those places.

Several inquiries have been received by Col. Gillespie, asking if the female relatives of the soldiers now training in Canada to go overseas will have a vote. The Act states that the soldier on whom the vote depends must have left Canada for service overseas.

A little incident of touching interest happened at the reception to Harry Lauder in the Army and Navy Veterans rooms on Tuesday evening. Pte. Sawyers, 21st Battalion, accidentally met one of the pipers travelling with the famous singer and found that the stage artist had worked for Sawyer's father in Glasgow at one time. Sawyer is recovering from severe wounds received in France.

The provisions of the Military Service Act require that all Militia officers must report for service under their respective classes, or claim exemption, as laid down for ordinary civilians.

Officers, non-commissioned officers and men authorized by the Militia Council to proceed on duty to the United States are permitted to wear uniform, without arms.

Lieut. Gibson, county registrar, who has been for some months on the military guard at the Kapuskasing Internment Camp in New Ontario, has arrived back in the city. He has been replaced on the guard by Lieut. Clifford, a returned officer.

Lieut. M. J. O'Brien, Ottawa, who spoke so bitterly against certain Government administrative matters, will likely be appointed to the Railway Construction and Forestry Depot for overseas service.

Lieut. D. A. Currie, 21st Battalion, was a visitor at headquarters on Thursday.

Sergt.-Major C. V. Patterson, W. O., has been transferred from Halifax to the instructional cadre of this district.

Sergts. Reading and Johnston, signalling depot, Ottawa, were in the city this week with defaulters under the Military Service Act. Sergt. Reading was signalling instructor here for some time, and is now expected to go overseas.

Lieut. M. J. Kennedy, C.A.M.C., has been made a captain in the service. He is attached to the Spadina Street Hospital in Toronto. Capt. Kennedy is son of M. J. Kennedy, Portsmouth.

The batteries drafts from Kingston are in Halifax.

Captains Cook and Doyle, who have been on the medical board at the British American, have been transferred to duty at the armouries.

The medical board at the British American is now examining "exceptional cases" such as cases of men who claim that the former verdict was wrong or when no examination has yet been made.

Defaulters under the Military Service Act are arriving daily in the city. These men failed to report for either exemption or service, and under the stimulus of some others in their class being punished, have reported to civil police voluntarily. The civil police turn them over to the military authorities, and they are escorted to Kingston, examined by a medical board and then placed in the depot battalion. In such cases the Military Service Commission is allowing the men the privilege of asking for exemption, but while the case is being heard they must remain as soldiers.

The Theatres

At the Grand.
"One of the most delightful pictures of the season" was the unanimous verdict from the capacity audience last evening as it filed slowly from the Grand. All who have not already seen this delightful photoplay have a pleasant treat in store for them, and those who saw it before, will find that it loses none of its attraction from a second seeing. It is without doubt the finest picture that Harold Lockwood and May Allison ever produced, and with its locale place among the Thousand Islands in the vicinity of Clayton, its many familiar scenes lend added interest. The rest of the programme is excellent and includes the Selig Library, an O. Henry story in two reels, "A Service of Love," and the Pathe News. Sam Harris, one of our local soldier boys and a first-class comedian, presented his laughable version of a Jewish politician. This programme will be repeated for the last time to-night.

"Green Stockings."
The first public performance of Queen's University dramatic club production, "Green Stockings," was given at Rockwood Hospital on Wednesday evening. A number of the professors and students were present, and they echoed the enthusiastic opinion of the hospital staff that it was without exception the best production they had ever seen or put on. The unusual story with its ludicrous situations kept the audience in good humour and jovial mood, and everyone enjoyed the performance which is to be repeated on Friday, November 30th, Students' Night, at the Grand Opera House.
The staff and students and friends of Queen's University have obtained their tickets and the election candidates have secured boxes for the play. A successful performance is anticipated.

At the Strand.
Jane Cow, the heroine of "Within the Law," and "Common Clay," and one of the foremost of American dramatic actresses, comes to the Strand to-night and Thursday and Friday of this week as the star of the Goldwyn production of "The Spreading Dawn." This is the first screen appearance as a Goldwyn star of this noted beauty, actress and dramatist who created the famous roles of Mary Turner and Ellen Neal. "The Spreading Dawn" details the story of a romantic girl who meets with a heartbreaking disappointment in her love only to have her faith restored in a remarkable manner. The action begins with a prologue. Georgina Vanderpyl is prevented from marrying her lover by an aged aunt, who threatens her with disinheritance. In explaining her attitude the aunt reveals an experience of her own and this experience is the real story of the play. A Keystone comedy and George Ade's Fables in Slang will also be exhibited for the last three days of this week.

At Griffin's.
Madame Petrova, famous for her beauty and her wonderful gowns, and one of the greatest of motion picture favorites in this country, will be seen at Griffin's to-day, Friday and Saturday in her most recent Paramount picture, "Exile." Sealing with a little band of expatriated Americans in an Asiatic colony, and including besides its thrilling and very dramatic love theme an up-to-date romance of politics, "Exile" has furnished Madame Petrova with one of the cleverest vehicles of her entire career. Alice Joyce and Harry Morey are seen in a Blue Ribbon production entitled, "Richard the Brazen," also Charley Chaplin in a "Jitney Elopment," and the closing chapters of that very unusual and highly interesting serial, "The Neglected Wife." A truly remarkable array of screen features.
