Record Price for Cotton. New York, Nov. 30.—December cotton crossed the 30-cent mark on the floor of the New York Cotton Exchange on Monday, and later sold for 30.20, the highest price ever recorded on the exchange. Wonderful, Beautiful, Interesting. "If one has drained his land, and plowed it, and fertilized it, and planted it, and harvested it—even though it be only a few acres—how he comes to know and to love every rod of it. He knows the wet spots and the dry spots, the warmest and most fertile spots, until his acres have all the qualities of a personality, whose every characteristic he knows. Of all the places in the world where life can be lived to its fullest and freest where it can be met in its greatest variety and beauty, I am convinced that there is none to equal the open country, or the country town. For all country people in these days may have the city some city or town not too far away; but there are millions of men and women in America who have no country and no sense of the country. What do they get out of life?—David Grayson in American Magazine.

HOBBYIST FARMERS It is often in connection with his hobby that a man becomes the best known. Noah was an ordinary farmer and stock raiser on Lamech's plains, until he took up carpentry and navigation as a hobby, and became renowned for the rest of time. Emerson was a very good Unitarian preacher, but his essays, written as a side line, were so successful that high school students have had to study them ever since.

So it is with W. S. Corsa, of White Hall, Illinois. Gregory Farm, comprising a thousand acres of fertile northern Illinois land, was devoted to diversified farming, and produced great yields of corn, alfalfa, wheat and other crops. But it was in connection with Mr. Corsa's hobby, stock breeding, that Gregory Farm became renowned the country over. The first time that $10,000 was ever paid for a stallion, W. S. Corsa paid it for Carnot 66666 in 1910. That was a big sum, and the world held its breath, but in 1916 Mr. Corsa sold a half interest in Carnot for $20,000. Forty thousand silver dollars stacked up on the scales will weigh 2,357 pounds, and Carnot would require one of his foals beside him to equal the weight of silver he is worth.

Cholera, the frightful enemy of the hog raiser took such a heavy toll from Gregory Farm that it resulted in the establishment of Gregory Farm serum and virus laboratory. This laboratory is under federal inspection, and its experiments, investigations, and serum manufacture are as important for every farmer as they are for W. S. Corsa.—Harvester World. Reducing Dairy Herds. A report made public by Clyde L. King, of the University of Pennsylvania, sets forth that milk has not risen in any degree proportionate to the rise in other foods; that it would be a cheap form of nourishment at fifteen cents a quart and over; and that the low rates, coupled with high prices of feed and help, are driving farmers to dispose of their herds. Many herds have been sold entire. Ten per cent. of the cows have been sold in North Jersey and South Jersey, while the sales in thirteen Pennsylvania counties have ranged from ten to twenty per cent. It is evident that farmers who sell their cows and quit the business can only with great difficulty be drawn into it again.—New York Post. Life is one continuous round of unfinished business.
