Children Write Pathetic Appeals To Be Remembered - Their Daddies Are in France.

"At the request of the Kingston Branch, Great War Veterans' Association, I am enclosing cheque for $5. Please put it down as their donation to your fund for presents for soldiers' children.

"May I take the opportunity of thanking you for your deep interest in and efforts on behalf of the returned men, assuring you that if our bank balance had been as great as our good will our contribution would have been a larger one.

This was the very encouraging letter which the Whig received on Monday, and shows what the returned soldiers think of the work of treating soldiers' children to a Christmas tree entertainment.

event last year. They appreciate what is being done this year by the citizens responding so nobly to the Whig's appeal.

Perhaps the most touching letter which the Whig has received from children who want their names put on the list to be invited to this event was received Monday from two Pine street youngsters.

"Dear old Santa: We wish you a merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. My daddy is over in France. He is helping to fight for his country. I was wondering what he would bring me this year. I am only two years old. My name is... I have no daddy to make me happy. As he is overseas, my daddy is wounded, and they did not send him home. I was wondering, dear old Santa, if you would think of me. My name is...

The Christmas Tree Fund is gradually crawling up to the $1,000 mark. It can still stand some substantial boosts by patriotic citizens. There are donations that should come from a great number—well able to afford making the Christmas a merry one for the scores of soldiers' children in the city.

The Late Donald B. Smith. The sad news reached the city on Saturday that Donald B. Smith, Napanea, was killed in action. Donald was only nineteen years of age, had a very cheery and happy disposition. He left here last April with a draft of the 72nd Queen's Battery. He was a son of Harry E. Smith, Napanea, and nephew of F. W. Coates, and great nephew of Messrs. Charles and George of this city.

CHILL STARTS COLD WAS SICK FOUR WEEKS

Just able to Crawl About

Mr. Weldon T. Hawkes, Curryville, N.B., writes: "Last spring I was taken very ill with a severe cold. I got wet and it started with a chill. I was sick four weeks and was just able to crawl about. People all said I had inflammation of the lungs, and I think I did. I told a friend to get me two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before the first one was taken my cold and cough were broken up, and the second did its work completely. I am raising a family and I find that it is a good medicine for the children. There is no remedy that will cure stubborn colds or coughs, the kind that won't let go, like Dr. Wood's Norway Pine-Syrup. It allays the inflammation, soothes the irritation, heals the diseased mucous lining of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and rids the system completely of all the bad effects of lingering coughs and colds. There are so many spurious "Pine" preparations on the market that you should see you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c; manufactured only by T. M. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Lemons Beautify! Make Quarter Pint of Lotion, Cheap

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quarter pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin. Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons.

Our Men Are Not Over-rated, Says Correspondent.

Why do soldiers from the overseas dominions get so much publicity?

Both by word of mouth and by letters in the newspapers Old Country people have been asking this question very persistently of late. Indeed, no small amount of resentment has been expressed in certain quarters that Canadian and Anzac deeds on the battlefield have been figuring much more conspicuously in the English public prints than those of their English, Scotch, Irish, and Welsh brother-in-arms.

As a matter of fact Canadians are not in any way responsible for the flattering and frequent despatches from the front which relate Canadian prowess. These messages which constantly appear in large lines on the front pages of the great London journals, telling how the Canadians took a village or smashed a counter-attack, are written by distinguished English war correspondents. And these men are trained writers, unprejudiced, experienced journalists who know to a nicety the news value of a story, and the relative importance of any operation on that terrible western front.

From personal knowledge of the front the correspondent of The Toronto Telegram assures people at home that everything related of the Canadians is well deserved. Without an iota of exaggeration it can be said that there are no better troops in the world than the Canadian troops, both in the homeland and in Canada, too, are very wrong in blaming the Canadian army administration or the Canadian correspondents—Stewart Lyon, the resident, or the Canadian correspondents in London, who occasionally visit the front. Their business is with the Canadians. Really the whole matter of who shall receive publicity in British papers rests with the English war correspondents at the front, with the military censor who passes their "copy," above all, with the heads of the British army.

From the very beginning it has been the policy of the War Office, from sound military motives, to strictly disallow all mention of individual units. In fact, even the names of the various regiments, as Suffolk, Dorsets, East Kents, etc., of which there are innumerable battalions, were rigidly barred until lately.

The terms "British" or even "Scotch" or "Irish" in an army of millions conveyed little to the reader at home, and robbed a story of half its interest. The Canadians and Australians being a mere handful in comparison lent themselves to a more individual description. Then, again, the interest of their arrival from overseas occasioned three years ago has by no means died out, and the public like to read about them and see their pictures. Else how is it that the London daily papers keep playing them up?

The profusion of Canadian War Records official films depicting, of course, Canadians at the front, in all the British newspaper and illustrated periodicals has doubtless, too, caused some feeling that invidious distinctions were being made. Why so many pictures of Canadians?

The enterprise of Lord Beaverbrook has been entirely responsible for these photographs. Wonderful pictures of the front, they rival anything that the War Office has yet done in this line. So the Canadian photos are gladly snatched up by the British papers and prominently displayed, a continuous succession of the finest advertising that Canada could possibly have.

Lately, in deference to repeated British protests, the War Office has permitted more mention of British units, and brave lads will have the satisfaction of seeing the names of their regiments at least held up to honor. Canadian boys don't want to benefit at the expense of their gallant kithmen in these Isles. No one who is more pleased than they to see the Devons or the Lancs or the Gordons or the Guards, or whoever it may be, decked with the laurels they have so nobly won. But let the people at home remember that Canada's sons, both British-born and native-born, merit to the full that generous praise the British press has showered upon them.

Making a New Army. One of the candidates who went up for examination for the Officers' Reserve Training Corps recently was poring over a manual of instruction for officers. He was trying to memorize the proper units and equipments called for in a division until his head ached. He then laid aside the volume in disgust. "I don't see what the Canadian Army needs with this division business, anyhow," he grumbled. "What it needs is multiplication and addition."

Corrupting Judges. In the olden days judges were forbidden to wear gloves on the Bench for fear of bribes being dropped into them. Hence the custom of presenting a judge with a pair of white gloves when he has no case to try.

Evidence is fast accumulating that the Germans are preparing to launch on the French front an offensive on a scale far more vast than any attempted since the inception of trench warfare.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluff, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.
