A CIVIC SURPLUS.

According to Kingston's financia statement for 1917, the City Counci loses the year with a surplus of $2. 74.30, the first civic surplus in ten ears. This announcement, made toindeed, and it is an excellent reason for re-electing the mayor and alder men to serve the city in 1918.

THE ATTITUDE OF QUEBEC. The attitude of Quebec-past, present and future-is clearly; rerealed by Le Soleil, of Quebec, the chief Laurierite newspaper in the Quebec district, when it says:

"We have had enough of Canadian Confederation, which is no hing but an Imperial Confederation. If you wish the Confederation to last you will have to change your manners, as we are no longer dis posed to endure your impertinence, your political conspiracies, and much less your persecutions. Now that you know our sentiment, it is for you to decide."

That plainly, is the problem that confronts us to-day. Firmness, wisdom and justice should be the attributes of the statesman-Canada's new government has ship called upon to find a solution.

Instead it evinces determined note to stand firm and immovable until her war caims are accomplished and the military power of Prussia is once and forever deexpressed by three voices of public opinion above mentioned:

MAKING ALL THINGS NEW

The coming of the New Year always brings its suggestion of courage and of hope. We confess that, notwithstanding all the disappointments and failures and disillusionments of life, the New Year has never dawned wet without bringing to us a glorious and heartening sense of the possibility of a new and a better start in life. Even though we know that our divisions of time are somewhat artificial, and the New Year is new only because we call it so:

even though we know that it is not possible for any man to escape from the record and the result of the years that have gone; yet that picture of the boy sitting down to write before the clean, white page always seems a true and un-exaggerated picture of the opportunity God gives very put into every man the strength, courage and determination that will enable him to link himself unto goodness in a new and vital way and make each New Year a fiffer achievement and life itself a steady climbing up to God.

"Once in a while I fed water or kerosene into the cylinders by means of this device, and found it useful in keeping down carbon in this way as well. Prospective purchasers of an dutomobile who buy their car at this time are showing a great deal of foresight. Automobiles probably never again will be as low in price as they are right now-surely not for many years to come. Furthermore, there's every prospect that the great world war will eventually cause a shortage of automobiles. It is certain that the tremendous requirements of our government will so deplete available supplies of materials that practically all makers will be forced to greatly curtail, and in some instances, cease operations.

Those who are waiting for the coming of peace to reduce the cost of motor cars are sure to suffer disappointment. Right now officials of the government are constantly diverting the materials which form the! basis of automobile production to war requirements. After peace has finally been declared and the world is again "safe for democracy." it will fall upon this country to rebuild devastated Europe. Consequently we can hope for no change in the mater-I know a bunch of damsels fair, whose spirit ial and labor market-it may even become more acute than at the brea they're full of patriotic fire. A vacuum ice machine has been invented in Europe that eliminates the use of dangerous acids and can be operated by hand on an electric motor. A cereal cooker has been invented that can be inserted in the top of a tea kettle so that both are heated over the same opening in a gas range. Among the new anotor farming implements is one which turns the soil and at the same time shreds all vegetable matter, thus serving as a plow

A process has been invented in Europe for converting water into hydrogen peroxide with chemicals that afterward are recovered for further use. I A new type of gasoline gauge for automobiles, in which a float causes a hand to register on a dial, can be substituted for the regular tank cap.
