FRONTENAC WARD ELECTION.

There was a Lively Time in This Ward on Monday.

According to reports which came to the Whig early Monday afternoon all four candidates in the aldermanic election were looked upon as defeated. There were varied opinions as to the weak man and there were a number of influences at work, including a rivalry between "the hollow and the hill." Many workers were at the polls and the voting combinations were varied. It is reported that a worker who took a himnam to a poll was frightened away by a ward worker who declared that the Celestial was a heathen and only Christians had votes. Later it was found that the Chinaman attended Sunday school here.
