The Fatted Bride. Throughout the empire of Morocco and in Tunis there are villages where the elder members of the adult population follow professionally the ursuit of fattening young ladies for the matrimonial market of Barbary. The Moors, like the Turks, and most other Orientals, give a decided preference to "moon-faced" wives over lean ones, and are more solicitous as to the number of pounds which their brides weigh than about the stock of accomplishments they

A girl is put under the process of fattening when she is about 12 years of age. Her hands are tied behind her and she is seated on a carpet during so many hours every day, while her "papa" stands over her with a stick, and her mother, at times, pops into her mouth a ball of stiff maize porridge, kneaded up with grease and just large enough to be wallowed without a patient choking.

If the unfortunate girl declines to be stuffed she is compelled by torture, and gulps down the boluses, lest she should be beaten. In Brazil corpulence is also considered the essential point of female beauty; and the greatest compliment that can be paid to a Brazilian lady is to tell her that she grows fatter and fairer every day,-Tit-Bits.
