STREET CARS MAY STOP

SHOULD THERE BE ANOTHER SNOWSTORM.

The Electric Plant Can Supply Only Enough Hydro Power to Run Four Cars.

There is a possibility of the street cars being found to take to the barns and staying there during another snowstorm. It will not be the fault of the railway company however. The Utilities Commission finds that under present conditions it can supply power enough to operate four street cars. The street railway is now receiving hydro power, but by means of a small generator. Efforts are being made by the Hydro-Electric Commission to purchase for the plant a 350 horse-power generator so as to adequately supply the street cars, but it may be some weeks before one could be installed. Owing to the scarcity and high price of coal, it is considered inadvisable to operate the street railway's steam engine any longer, and only a small quantity of hydro power can be supplied through the present generator. Hence in case of a storm the cars would have to remain from service temporarily so as to permit of the tracks being kept open by the sweeper and plough. If things come to this pass the citizens will simply have to put up with the conditions and smile.

Military News

Ten thousand three hundred young men who have been enrolled under the Military Service Act are now in uniform, according to information obtained at the Military Service Council, Ottawa. These figures do not include those who voluntarily reported for service.

Flight-Lieut. C. Elbridge Burden, whose death in an airplane accident in England is reported, was a nephew of Sir John and Lady Eaton. He resigned his captaincy to enter the Royal Naval Air Service, after having gone overseas with the Eaton Machine Gun Battery. Previous to this he took a qualifying course at the Royal Artillery School, Kingston.

Seventeen additional soldiers were sent to Peterboro from Kingston for "E" company. The company now numbers 189 officers and men.

Howard Ryan, R.C.N.V.R., completed seven days' leave on Wednesday, and returned to Halifax for duty. He was through the recent Halifax disaster and was thrown into the drydock when the boat he was on rolled by the tremendous waves created by the explosion. His position in the navy is as a blacksmith, but he is also a very proficient diver, and, just before leaving, brought to the surface a quantity of ammunition thrown overboard to prevent a second explosion.

The artillery draft is taking 100 men from the Depot Batteries. A limited number of these men will be drafted under the Military Service Act. Practically all of the batteries are at present up to strength, but with the sending of this number overseas there will be vacancies for volunteers.

Capt. H. W. Kerfoot, C.A.M.C., formerly of Brockville, in Smith's Falls on leave for a couple of months, was ordered to report for service again and left Friday for England.

Lieut.-Col. E. C. Dean, who was recently appointed assistant director of supplies and transports here, arrived in the city from Halifax on Thursday morning. He takes over the duties from Major F. B. Eaton, who was also in France for a long term, and now goes to Ottawa for headquarters work.

Brig.-Gen. T. D. R. Hemming, G.O.C., returned on Thursday from Peterboro, where he inspected the Depot Battalion Company.

The medical board is taking over the rooms vacated by the Canadian Army Dental Corps at the armouries. The medical board room is being taken over by Lieut.-Col. G. H. Gillespie and his staff.

The Engineer headquarters of the district will take over the rooms in number 10 vacated by the Military Hospitals Commission.

Sergt. A. H. Shelley, instructional cadre, leaves to-day for Ottawa for temporary duty with the C.A.S.C. overseas depot there.

Capt. A. W. Johnson has been taken on the strength of No. 3 Army Medical Corps Depot for service overseas.

Judge H. A. Lavell has heard 329 exemption appeals. There will be several more heard next week.

Leave to appeal to the central appeal office has been granted by Judge Lavell to W. J. McFedridge and H. P. Folger of the city and W. A. Watson of Verona. He has refused permission to appeal to A. L. Blacklock and John Gilbert of the city and to George A. Smith, Parham.

The Great War Veterans' Association will furnish their new club rooms by money raised by a tag day.

The men at the front are objecting to the regulation that the new service bars are to date from sailing from Canada, with the result that those who remain in England for two years and over will wear the same number of bars as the soldier who has been risking his life in France. Men who have been in the battalions should certainly receive more recognition than those who have only got to England.

George Cranor, who went overseas as a bandsman and is now transferred to the 21st Battalion, is now in England to qualify for a commission.

Familiar Quotations

We know how power and responsibility change men in matters of this world. They become more serious, more vigilant, more circumspect, more practical, more decisive; they fear to commit mistakes, yet they dare more, because they have a consciousness of liberty and power. —NEWMAN.

The Theatres

At the Grand.

Superb Ethel Barrymore will be the featured attraction at the Grand to-night in the Metro Wonderplay of sublime devotion, "The Eternal Mother." The famous star of stage and screen is most happily cast as the mother in this production, which is adapted from the novel "Red Horse Hill" by Sidney McCall. The entire equipment of a woolen-knitting factory was transferred to the Metro studios in New York, during the production of "The Eternal Mother." The entire factory atmosphere is genuine and a foreman from a Brooklyn knitting plant supervised the erection of the machinery. The very latest Pathe News and comedy reels will also be exhibited, while Johnson & Crane will round out a delightful programme with a feature vaudeville act. This bill will be repeated on Friday and Saturday, matinee and night.

"Katinka" Coming to Grand.

Fresh from a year's triumph on Broadway where it eclipsed even "The Firefly" and "High Jinks," the two previous successes of its authors, Otto Harbach and Rudolf Friml, "Katinka," which is Arthur Hammerstein's greatest musical offering, comes to the Grand for two nights, next Monday and Tuesday, January 28th and 29th. In the musical score one hit follows another in rapid succession, with the frequently recurring "Rokety Cow!" as the number that lives in the memory as the audience files out of the theatre and down the street humming and whistling. It has a catchy lilt that hangs forever in the memory. Other notable musical numbers are "In a Hurry," "One Who Will Understand," "Katinka," "Your Photo," "I Want to Marry a Male Quartette," "Charms are Fairest When They're Hidden," "I Want All the World to Know," "Skidiskiscatch," "I can Tell by the Way You Dance, Dear," and "The Weekly Wedding."

At the Strand.

Mae Marsh the queen of the screen will appear in her third Goldwyn Picture, "The Cinderella Man," from Oliver Morosco's famous stage success by Edward Charles Carpenter at the Strand for the last three days of this week. It is the story of a young heiress, Marjorie Canner, who is so much touched by the account given by her father's lawyer of a young poet, Anthony Quintard, who is starving in a garret at the other end of the block, that she undertakes to bring him food and comforts over the roof. How she succeeds as a fairy god mother is entertainingly told in seven reels. Comedy reels and the Ford Canadian monthly review will also be shown.

At Griffins.

Equal proportions of drama, melodrama and comedy are found in "The Hungry Heart," the great paramount feature which headlines an interesting bill at Griffins for to-day, Friday and Saturday. Motion picture patrons will find the supreme actress, Pauline Frederick as delightful as ever in this super feature. The story deals with Confeency Vanyew, who is very much in love with her husband, Richard. When he neglected her for his chemical work, however, she turns to Basil Gallatin, her husband's partner, and a housebreaker. When Richard learns that Courtney desires her freedom he divorces her, giving her the custody of their little son. After a separation of some time Richard returns to the home and asks permission to work in the laboratory. He also asks Courtney to help him, which she does. This is the beginning of a new understanding between husband and wife which ends in a complete and wonderful reconciliation.

One of the real screen novelties of the year, "All for a Husband," the new William Fox feature, is another feature of our programme. An interesting chapter of "The Fatal Ring" completes a high-class bill.

James F. Sullivan, advance agent for the new Irish play, "Come Back to Erin," with Walter Lawrence as a star, was in the city on Thursday arranging for this attraction. It will be shown here on January 31st. An immense amount of snow from the city's streets is now being dumped on the ice in the harbor.
