Pieces of Russia, not peace with Russia, has been Germany's object.

If this kind of weather keeps up, we're going to move to Eskimoland and live in an igloo, where it's warm.

Ever think how busy the recording angel must have been ever since August, 1914, writing down all the sins of the Germans?

War weariness is beginning to show its effect upon all the Central Powers. The Anglo Saxon demotivens will once again demonstrate its superiority.

Big things are expected from George Y. Chown, the new Utilities Commission chairman.

British airmen, in twenty-four hours, dropped seven tons of bombs on or around the former German cruiser Goeben, stranded in the Dardanelles.

A note of high serenity, of passionate attachment to England, was expressed in a war poem by Capt. Denny.

The German chancellor demands that Britain must give up Gibraltar, Aden, Hong Kong and other strategic naval points scattered about the seven seas.

Ex-Ald. N. C. Polson was the member of the civic finance committee who moved the resolution with regard to the city's objections to the work done on the Suburban Road Area.

The property committee of the City Council is herewith to deal with the question of city licenses.

total of $1,840 of new revenue. It might be worth while for the aldermen to consider if they could not increase the license fees charged victuallers and second-hand stores, each of which is now $25.

CHEAPER FUEL IS AVAILABLE. A few days ago attention was called to the extensive peat deposits on Wolfe Island and the suggestion advanced that this long unused source of heat and energy should now be utilized.

Dr. E. Haanel, director of the Mines Branch at Ottawa, states that there would be no danger of fuel shortage in Canada if the peat possibilities of this country were properly exploited and developed.

Government scientists affirm that unquestionably this peat can be made available for general domestic use. The cost of production is also an important factor.

if they are not making a good return for their labor, because other manufacturers would not take any returned soldiers at all.

Another phase of the Canadian soldier's discontent might also be presented. Some of the brightest and smartest business young men, receiving appointments in junior ranks or holding the rank of N.C.O.'s in service companies, are utterly at loss to adapt themselves to Government regulations.

These are two outstanding problems which confront us, and which necessitate immediate attention. The man who has returned from the front and the man whom the Government has just required to don khaki are both well worthy of our regard for their present and future welfare.

CANADIAN CHURCHES. Increased Gifts to Missions Despite the War. Toronto, Jan. 29.—The increased givings of Canadian church members to foreign mission funds during last year more than covered the shrinkage in the financial support given by the churches of the United States and swelled the grand total of contributions from the whole of the North American continent to a point showing a small increase in spite of war conditions.
