The Theatres

At the Grand.
To-night will be the last chance to see Viola Dana at the Grand in that pleasing Metro Wonderplay "God's Law and Man's" which delighted a capacity audience at this popular playhouse last Wednesday. It is a picture that would win favor alone for its wonderful scenic effects, for it pictures faithfully the colorful life of the tropics. If anyone has any doubts about Miss Dana's ability as an actress of exceptional ability, they need only to see this picture to be convinced that she will soon be one of the foremost stars of the screen firmament. A brand new pageant, a two-reel George Ade fable entitled "The Fable of the Girl Who Took Notes and Got Wise and Then Fell Down," and a one-reel "The Seventh Son," will also be shown to-night. Miss Deleerene Craig, who received so much well-earned applause before, will again render several popular selections.

"Bringing Up Father Abroad."
A howling success is "Bringing Up Father Abroad," the latest edition of the famous George McManus musical comedy cartoon. Fashioned from the world renowned comic cartoons. Every theatre-goer in the land has roared over the original productions with side-splitting "Jiggs Mahoney," as the father of the Mahoney family; just as every reader of the comic cartoons of the newspapers of the country have laughed uproariously at the newspaper fun of the family as shown in the caricatures.

Interspersed with incidental music, songs that lit, dances that keep the feet tapping and comedians and girls that never permit a dull moment, "Bringing Up Father Abroad" is pronounced the funniest of all the screaming series. The new production comes to the Grand on Saturday, February 2nd, matinee and night. John E. Cain and Blanche Newcomb, one of the most popular team entertainers in America, are included in the cast.

At Griffin's.
The big seven reel feature "The Co-Respondent," with the beautiful and talented stage star Elaine Hammerstein in the title role, was thoroughly enjoyed by patrons of Griffin's last evening, and proved well worthy of the high praise accorded during a successful run in the Broadway theatre, New York, where it received the unanimous verdict of approval from the entire press and was termed one of the genuine picture hits of the season.

Don't miss this supreme star, Elaine Hammerstein in the greatest of all pictures, "The Co-Respondent."

Vivian Martin, "sweetest of all sweet stars," is another pretty portion of our programme appearing in her latest success, "Molly Entangled." Here is an Irish production breathing the spirit of "Ould Ireland." There is something about the ready wit and good humor of the Irish that wins them friends among all peoples, and with the added attraction of dainty Vivian Martin as the star, "Molly Entangled," should prove doubly entertaining. The ninth episode of the "Fraternal Ring" was another interesting attraction last evening, and provided much excitement. Taken on the whole the programme is an ideally selected one and should prove most popular for to-night and to-morrow.

At the Strand.
Dorothy Dalton in "Love Letters" and Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "The Voice of Conscience" were warmly greeted by a large audience at the Strand last night, and the presentation of both pictures won instant approval. Dorothy Dalton is given a wonderful vehicle for her talent in the picture of "Love Letters," and her heart-breaking struggle to retain her husband's affections against overwhelming odds touches a sympathetic chord. "The Voice of Conscience" is a charming picturization of southern scenes and of the charms and superstitions of the colored folks, and takes the audience from the prison cell to the rapture of love with an idealism and a charm unsurpassed. The comedy reels were also good. This bill is on again to-night and to-morrow.

The Red Ace.
Universal's latest serial with Marie Walcamp, Sixty of "Liberty," in the stellar role, was written and produced by Jacques Jaccard. It is a story of the Canadian Northwest, in sixteen chapters of two reels each, revolving around the efforts of foreign spies to intercept a huge supply of platinum mined in British Columbia and intended for the United States Government. Involves the honor of Virginia Dixon, her father and her brother and the life of her sweetheart, a private in the North West Mounted Police. First episode will begin Monday and Tuesday at the King Edward Theatre. "The Voice on the Wire," will be shown to-night and Saturday.

For One Cent.
For 75c you can secure the Designer for one year and the Standard Spring Quarterly, which contains a coupon good for 15c in the purchase of any Standard pattern. This brings the cost of the Quarterly to one cent when combined with Special Designer price. The College Book Store.

Exercise for Fireman.
The firemen were given a call at 3:15 o'clock on Thursday night to the Cohen building on Cataragui street, where members of the Ordnance Corps are stationed. Some person noticed a reflection of a fire in one of the windows and sent in an alarm and gave the firemen a long run for nothing.

Special for Saturday.
Many extra good suits in all the newest checks to go at $15. See these suits before buying. The Lion Clothing House, 347 King street, Kingston.

Military News

Lieut. T. St. G. Maunsell, R.C.E.F. has been transferred from the C.E.F. overseas to Canada, and is now on leave until March.

Lieut. W. G. Stewart, 1st Battery, Ottawa, was a visitor at headquarters on Thursday.

No man who comes under the Military Service Act can now enter any unit except the Depot Battalion without special authority from Ottawa.

Men now coming within a class called out by proclamation may be allowed voluntarily to enlist in any unit he selects.

To keep track of the men who have been called out under the Military Service Act, but who have not reported, or have been granted leave of absence without pay, will in future be carried on a "paper" company which will be called "N" Company of the Depot Battalion.

Capt. J. F. Backwell, 42nd Regiment (Harrow), was at headquarters on Thursday on military duty.

Lieut.-Col. J. A. McCammon, who for over a year has been doing valuable work as sanitary officer for the district, is returning to his home. The colonel is widely known and built up a great many friends while on the local staff.

The machinery of the District Registrar's office is still grinding out orders for men to report for duty. No totals are being announced, so the public will have to remain in ignorance of the number taken.

The Depot Battalion band is in splendid shape and in its daily parades furnishes entertaining music for the garrison.

Difficulty is being encountered by military headquarters in securing enough returned officers and N.C.O.s. to train the men called to the colors under the Military Service Act.

When troops depart for overseas there must be one officer for every 100 men. While it was generally understood that these officers would be returned to Canada for further service on completing their conducting duty, it has not always worked out that way. In many instances - the Imperial authorities have utilized these men in England or else sent them to the front as subalterns. In fact, so acute is the shortage of returned officers become that it has been suggested that it may be necessary to take men of better education, who have been called to the army under the Military Service Act, and train them for officers. If this is decided on it is not likely the appointments will be permanent.

It is estimated that a third of the men called to military service have not reported.

Authority has been granted for the enlistment in the C.E.F. of non-coms. and men who are in a category lower than "A" for employment on administrative and instructional duties with Depot Battalions, and all other combatant depot units of the C.E.F. in Canada. Whoever possible non-coms. and men so employed are to be selected for those that are not fit for overseas service. In cases of necessity, rather than delay the carrying on of the work "A" men may be used to be replaced later by men in a lower category.

Exemption cases disposed of by Judge Lovell on Thursday were:
F. J. Markland, 450 Division, tanner, disallowed.
G. Campbell, Perth Road, farmer, allowed.
H. G. Fleming, 219 Princess, dairyman, Class 2.
K. R. Crawford, 368 Albert, disallowed.
C. R. Shepherd, Godfrey, farmer, allowed.
V. L. Fallon, 139 Clergy, marble worker, until May 1st.
E. S. Greaves, 16 Division, student, allowed (not a Canadian).
A. S. Chance, 38 Division, student, allowed (not a Canadian).
J. C. Hood, Cataragui, farmer, allowed.
