

Don't Diet Yourself TO CURE DYSPEPSIA IT ISN'T NECESSARY.

The sufferer from dyspepsia and indigestion who has to pick and choose his food, is the most miserable of all mankind. Even the little he does eat causes such torture, and is digested so imperfectly that it does him little good. What dyspepsia needs is not dieting, or artificial digestants, but something that will put their stomachs right so it will manufacture its own digestive ferments. For forty years now Burdock Blood Bitters has been making weak stomachs strong, and curing severe cases of dyspepsia and indigestion that other remedies were powerless to reach. It restores the stomach to a normal healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated and goes on its way making rich, red blood. Mrs. Henry Shaw, Campbellton, N.B., writes: "I was for five years troubled with a weak stomach, and could not eat any food that would agree with me. I tried different medicines, but could not get cured. A friend advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. I took four bottles, and now I am in perfect health." B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RETURNED MEN'S RECORDS

ISSUED BY THE SPECIAL SERVICE HEADQUARTERS.

The Public Are Given Some Interesting Information With Regard to Men Who Receive Their Discharge.
636214, Private J. Seaman, joined the 155th Battalion at Belleville on January 6th, 1916, and trained later at Barriefield before going overseas on October 10th to Witley Camp. After a time there he went to Bramshott, but returned again to Witley to join the 6th Reserve. He was also stationed at Sandling and Seaford camps. He did not go to France, being turned down in England as medically unfit. He landed in Canada last November, and has since been attached to No. 3 Special Service Company, Fort Henry. His home is in West Hartlepool, Durham, England.

195400, Private G. E. Woodcock, enlisted on December 9th, 1915, in the 93rd Battalion in Peterboro, and trained at Barriefield Camp until the unit went overseas on July 12th. In England the unit was stationed at Otterpool. From there he was drafted to the 20th Battalion on the Somme, later at Boisgrenier, where he was slightly (and unofficially) wounded in the knee in a bayonet charge, and at Vimy Ridge got a slight flesh wound on the first finger of the right hand. He was ten months in France, and belongs to Peterboro.

64283, Private Naylor, enlisted on October 2nd, 1916, in the 153rd Battalion in Vernon, B.C. He went overseas on the 1st November following. In England he was stationed at Storeham, and later transferred to the 1st Canadian Reserve at Digate. He went to France with the 47th Battalion, and was in action at Lens for three months, being then returned under age. He landed in Canada on October 28th last. His home is in Peterboro.

113215, Private J. Irvine, enlisted on May 6th, 1915, in the 8th C.M.R. in Peterboro, and trained at Ottawa and Barriefield. He went overseas on Oct. 6th same year to Bramshott, where he reverted to private (from sergeant) and joined the 5th Machine Gun Company, with which he went to France. He was in action at Kemmel, Ypres, Somme, Boisgrenier and Vimy, being wounded in the latter place on May 3rd and was sent to St. Omer hospital. Later he went to England to Nottingham and Epsom Convalescent Hospitals. He returned to Canada on December 19th last. His home is in Peterboro.

724062, Private A. Young, enlisted on March 4th, 1916, in the 104th Battalion in Haliburton, and trained at Lindsay and Barriefield. He went overseas with the unit in July to Bramshott camp. From there he was drafted to the Army Service Corps at Witley, being in turn with the corps for duty at Hastings, London and West Sandling. He was at Otterpool camp in the sanitary squad before returning to this country last September. His home is in Tweed, Ontario.

195398, Private G. W. Lilly, enlisted in the 93rd at Peterboro on 1st December, 1915. He trained at Barriefield camp for about six weeks before going to Witley on July 12th. In England he was stationed at Otterpool camp, going later to West Sandling, where he was drafted to the 39th Battalion in France. He was in action at Vimy Ridge and Newcastel, St. Yvas, where he was wounded by a bomb accidentally exploding, and sent to No. 26 General Hospital, Etaples, and later at Epsom Convalescent Hospital, England. He returned to Canada on the 17th December last. His home is in Peterboro.

59171, Private J. Clough, enlisted on the 6th May, 1915, in the 21st Battalion in Kingston, and accompanied the unit overseas, where they were stationed at W. Sandling. Later he went to France and was in action on the Kemmel front, also on the Somme, Vimy Ridge and Boisgrenier. Here his health broke down, and he was invalided to Queen Alexandra's Hospital in London. He was nineteen months in France, returning to Canada on the 8th of October last. His home is at Styal, Lancs., England.

724065, Pte. A. E. Dark, joined the 102nd Battalion in England on March 6th, 1916. He trained at Barriefield until the 26th May, when he accompanied the unit overseas. In England he was stationed at Oxney Farm Camp, near Borden. Later he transferred to the 124th Battalion at Witley, and transferred again to Bramshott, where he joined the 3rd Labour Battalion, then in course of formation, and accompanied this unit to France, being first stationed at Audruicq, where they did good service in various engineering work. From there his unit went to St. John's Wood, Hill Blast Corner, St. Sexte. From here he was invalided to England, after eight months in France, returning to Canada on December 21st last.

Pte. Dark, who is fifty-four years of age, is the father of three sons serving with the colors, Sergt. T. L. Dark, with the 21st Battalion; Pte. P. S. Dark, who belonged to the same unit—killed in action—and Pte. C. J. Dark, with the 15th Field Ambulance. Their home is in Lindsay.

195356, Pte. E. J. Dillon, enlisted in the 93rd Battalion in Peterboro, November 10th, 1915. He trained at Barriefield Camp until the 12th of the following July, when he went overseas to Otterpool; later he was drafted to the 38th Battalion at Sandling. Dillon did not, however, accompany the unit to France, being employed at the latter camp, in the officers' mess, and later, in the same capacity, at Seaford. He was in England for fourteen months, returning to Canada last October. His home is in Peterboro.

42520, Gunner H. A. Legros, joined the 24th Field Battery in Peterboro on August 12th, 1914, and soon after was transferred to the 24th Battery, Cobourg, and went for training to Valenciennes. Later this battery broke up and Legros was drafted to the 9th Battery. He accompanied this unit to Salisbury Plain, crossing with the First Contingent. Here he joined the 4th Battery, 1st Brigade, and left for France at the end of January, 1915. From St. Sayer he went to Melme and Sully, then on to Armentiers, and was slightly wounded in the second battle of Ypres. He also was in action at Le Bassée, Givenchy, Ploegstreet, then back to Ypres, the Somme and Vimy Ridge, where he was blown up by a shell and slightly gassed. He was treated at the dressing station in Bernth, France (not Germany), and later at No. 1 Canadian General Hospital, Etaples. On March 26th he went to No. 3 General Hospital, Cardiff, England, and afterwards to Epsom Convalescent. He was twenty-seven months in France, returning to Canada December 19th last. His home is in Peterboro.

17,061, Private W. Sudcliffe, enlisted on the 9th day of August, 1914, in the 7th Battery in Kamloops, B. C. He trained at Valenciennes before going overseas with the 1st Contingent to Salisbury Plain. In February of the following year he accompanied the unit to France and was in action in the second battle of Ypres. He was in hospital in England at Ashford, and on his recovery rejoined his unit on the Messines front, where he was wounded a second time, and sent to hospital in Ramsgate. He was nine months in France, returning to this country on December 3rd, last. His home is in Renfrew.

1,012,240, Private M. Goulet, joined the 230th Forestry Battalion in Ottawa, on June 6th, 1916. He went overseas the following January to the forestry depot at Soudanville. From there he went to France, where he spent eight months in various forestry camps, being returned under age. He landed at New York on December 18th last. His home is in Ottawa.

1,073,155, Bugle-major G. C. Blakeley, enlisted on January 1st, 1917, in the 254th Battalion at Wellington, when he took charge of the recruiting, going later to the battalion headquarters at Belleville as bugle-major. He did not accompany the unit overseas, being transferred to No. 3 Special Service Company. His home is in Wellington.

45,569, Private C. A. Morin, enlisted in the 59th Battalion on October 1915, and trained at Barriefield before going overseas the following April. In England he was stationed at Caesar's Hill camp, from here he was drafted to the 26th Battalion in France. He was two months in Flanders and a month on the Somme, getting wounded on October in the Courcellette trench, he was what one might call, riddled with shrapnel, being hit in both legs, both arms, the left side and chest. He was in hospital at Etaples, and the Royal Southern at Liverpool, England. Returning to this country last November, his home is in Aylmer, Quebec.

1,042,253, Private Rockbourne, enlisted on the 24th October, 1916 in the 240th Battalion in Perth, and trained at Redfrew. He went overseas in May, 1917, to Seaford, where he transferred to the 155th Battalion at Witley camp. He did not accompany the unit to France, being under age. His home is in Perth.

1,036,065, Private A. Bisson, enlisted on the 21st June, 1916 in the 238th Battalion in Ottawa, and transferred soon after to the 242nd in Montreal. He accompanied this unit overseas, going to Bramshott camp and later to Witley, and Cabham, where he worked at forestry. He re-

Men in Cabs All Over the Country Tell How Tanlac Restored Them to Health

When a railroad engineer's health is impaired, the lives of thousands may be endangered daily, for his work requires a clear brain, a steady nerve and a strong constitution. The following statements from some of the best known railroad engineers in the country tell how Tanlac relieved them of suffering and restored their health.

W. L. Nabers, Atlanta, Ga., said: "I had lost appetite—liver and kidneys were deranged—haven't had a pain since taking Tanlac—gained 14 pounds."

L. C. Bowers, 910 First Ave., Nashville, Tenn., said: "Tanlac overcame my stomach trouble and nervousness—gained 8 pounds."

D. A. Middleton, 1717 Chenover street, Houston, Tex., said: "Was in bad shape—couldn't walk. Tanlac built me up like a new man—gained 11 pounds."

S. T. Watkins, Birmingham, Ala., said: "Suffered 27 years with stomach disorders—Tanlac ended my troubles."

D. Riggs, 2020 Pearl street, Vicksburg, Miss., said: "Was nervous and physical wreck—gained 25 pounds."

Other well known railroad engineers who have endorsed Tanlac are: J. B. Watson, Mobile, Ala.; B. F. House, R. D. No. 5, Atlanta, Ga.; T. G. Ayers, 107 Rainey Ave., Nashville, Tenn.; C. J. Weeks, 2139 Lydia Avenue, Jacksonville, Fla.; Lynn Sills, 440 Bellevue Ave., Memphis, Tenn., and others too numerous to mention.

Tanlac is sold in Kingston by A. P. Chown, in Plym by Gilbert Oatler.

NEXT TWO MONTHS WORST FOR FOOD

Lord Rhondda Plans Extension of Compulsory Rationing in Britain.

London, Feb. 8.—Lord Rhondda, the food controller, met more than 100 members of the House of Commons in the committee of the house and gave confidential information on the food situation and the existing stocks in the country, and discussed with them the question of extending compulsory rationing to the spoke for an hour, but the proceedings were private.

An official report, which was issued, says that Lord Rhondda expressed the view that the food situation would be in its most difficult stage during the coming two months, and asked the members to give him all possible help.

Lord Rhondda, in the belief that many persons have rendered themselves liable to prosecution for food hoarding by inadvertence, has provided that during the week ending Feb. 18th such persons may voluntarily surrender their stocks for the benefit of the public and will be indemnified against prosecution. This privilege does not apply to persons against whom prosecution is already pending or whose domiciles have already been searched.

Quits Irish Convention.
London, Feb. 8.—George Russell has resigned as a delegate to the Irish convention. He is a poet and an intimate friend of Sir Horace Plunkett, chairman of the convention. No reason for his resignation is given.

Purchase Power Extended.
Ottawa, Feb. 8.—The powers of the War Purchasing Commission, it is understood, have been so extended as to give the commission power to make purchases for all Government departments.

Government grading of butter is recommended by the Canadian Produce Men's Association, which has been in convention at London.

LIBERALS ARE BUSY.

Have put Various Questions on Legislature Order Paper

Toronto, Feb. 7.—The Liberal members of the Legislature are loosing no time in getting down to business. Notwithstanding that the Provincial Parliament was only formally opened, several interesting questions have already been put on the order paper by the energetic members of the opposition.

Mr. Scott Davidson of North Brant is asking what amount has been expended on the Ontario Military Hospital at Orpington, how many people are employed on the staff, and what positions they hold, how many patients have been treated, and how many of them are Canadians.

G. A. Gillespie of West Peterboro enquire what amount has actually been paid since January 1, 1917, for war purposes out of the proceeds of the Provincial war tax, and how the money has been expended. The leader of the Opposition, William Proudfoot, gives notice that he will introduce bills to amend the statute law amendment act and a mechanics' lien act.

Five Years Imprisonment.
Berlin, Feb. 7.—Wilhelm Dittmann, the radical Socialist deputy, who was tried by an extraordinary court martial on the charge of inciting to high treason, resistance to public authority, and transgression of the prohibition against participating in the direction of the general strike, was to-day sentenced to five years confinement in a fortress. Dittmann was also sentenced to two months' imprisonment for resisting public authority. Mitigating circumstances and the absence of dishonorable circumstances were admitted.

Von Tirpitz's Theory Untenable.
Amsterdam, Feb. 7.—The von Tirpitz's theory of speedily over-throwing England by submarine mightfulness "proved extravagant, in light of the developments of the last twelve months." Vice-Admiral Galster declared in an article published by Die Welt, received here today from Germany.

"There is no doubt but that the voices urgently demanding immediate, sharpened U-boat warfare in 1915-16 were deceived regarding its efficacy," wrote Galster.

"They had no idea of the number of capabilities of our submarines, or the time it takes to build them."

Montreal reports that further big reductions in train services are promised.
