

Scenes of Timely Interest Pertaining to the Great War

Pte. Claude Bert of Egan enlisted in Winnipeg fourteen months ago with the 107th Battalion; has been in the trenches for 12 months and is yet uninjured.

Pte. F. B. Switzer in France with the 21st Kingston Battalion. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Switzer, Marlbank Ont.

MILK QUEUE IN PETROGRAD. Women in line to secure bare necessities of life.

LEON TROTSKY LEAVING A COUNCIL MEETING. Trotsky, the Russian Foreign Minister, seated in the rear seat of the automobile, is receiving a report from several officers. It is reported that Nikolai Lenine, the Bolsheviki Premier, is jealous of Trotsky, who is said to be "the brains" of the Bolsheviki.

Captain C. W. Dickson, M.C., son of Mrs. C. T. Dickson, Allee Street, Kingston.

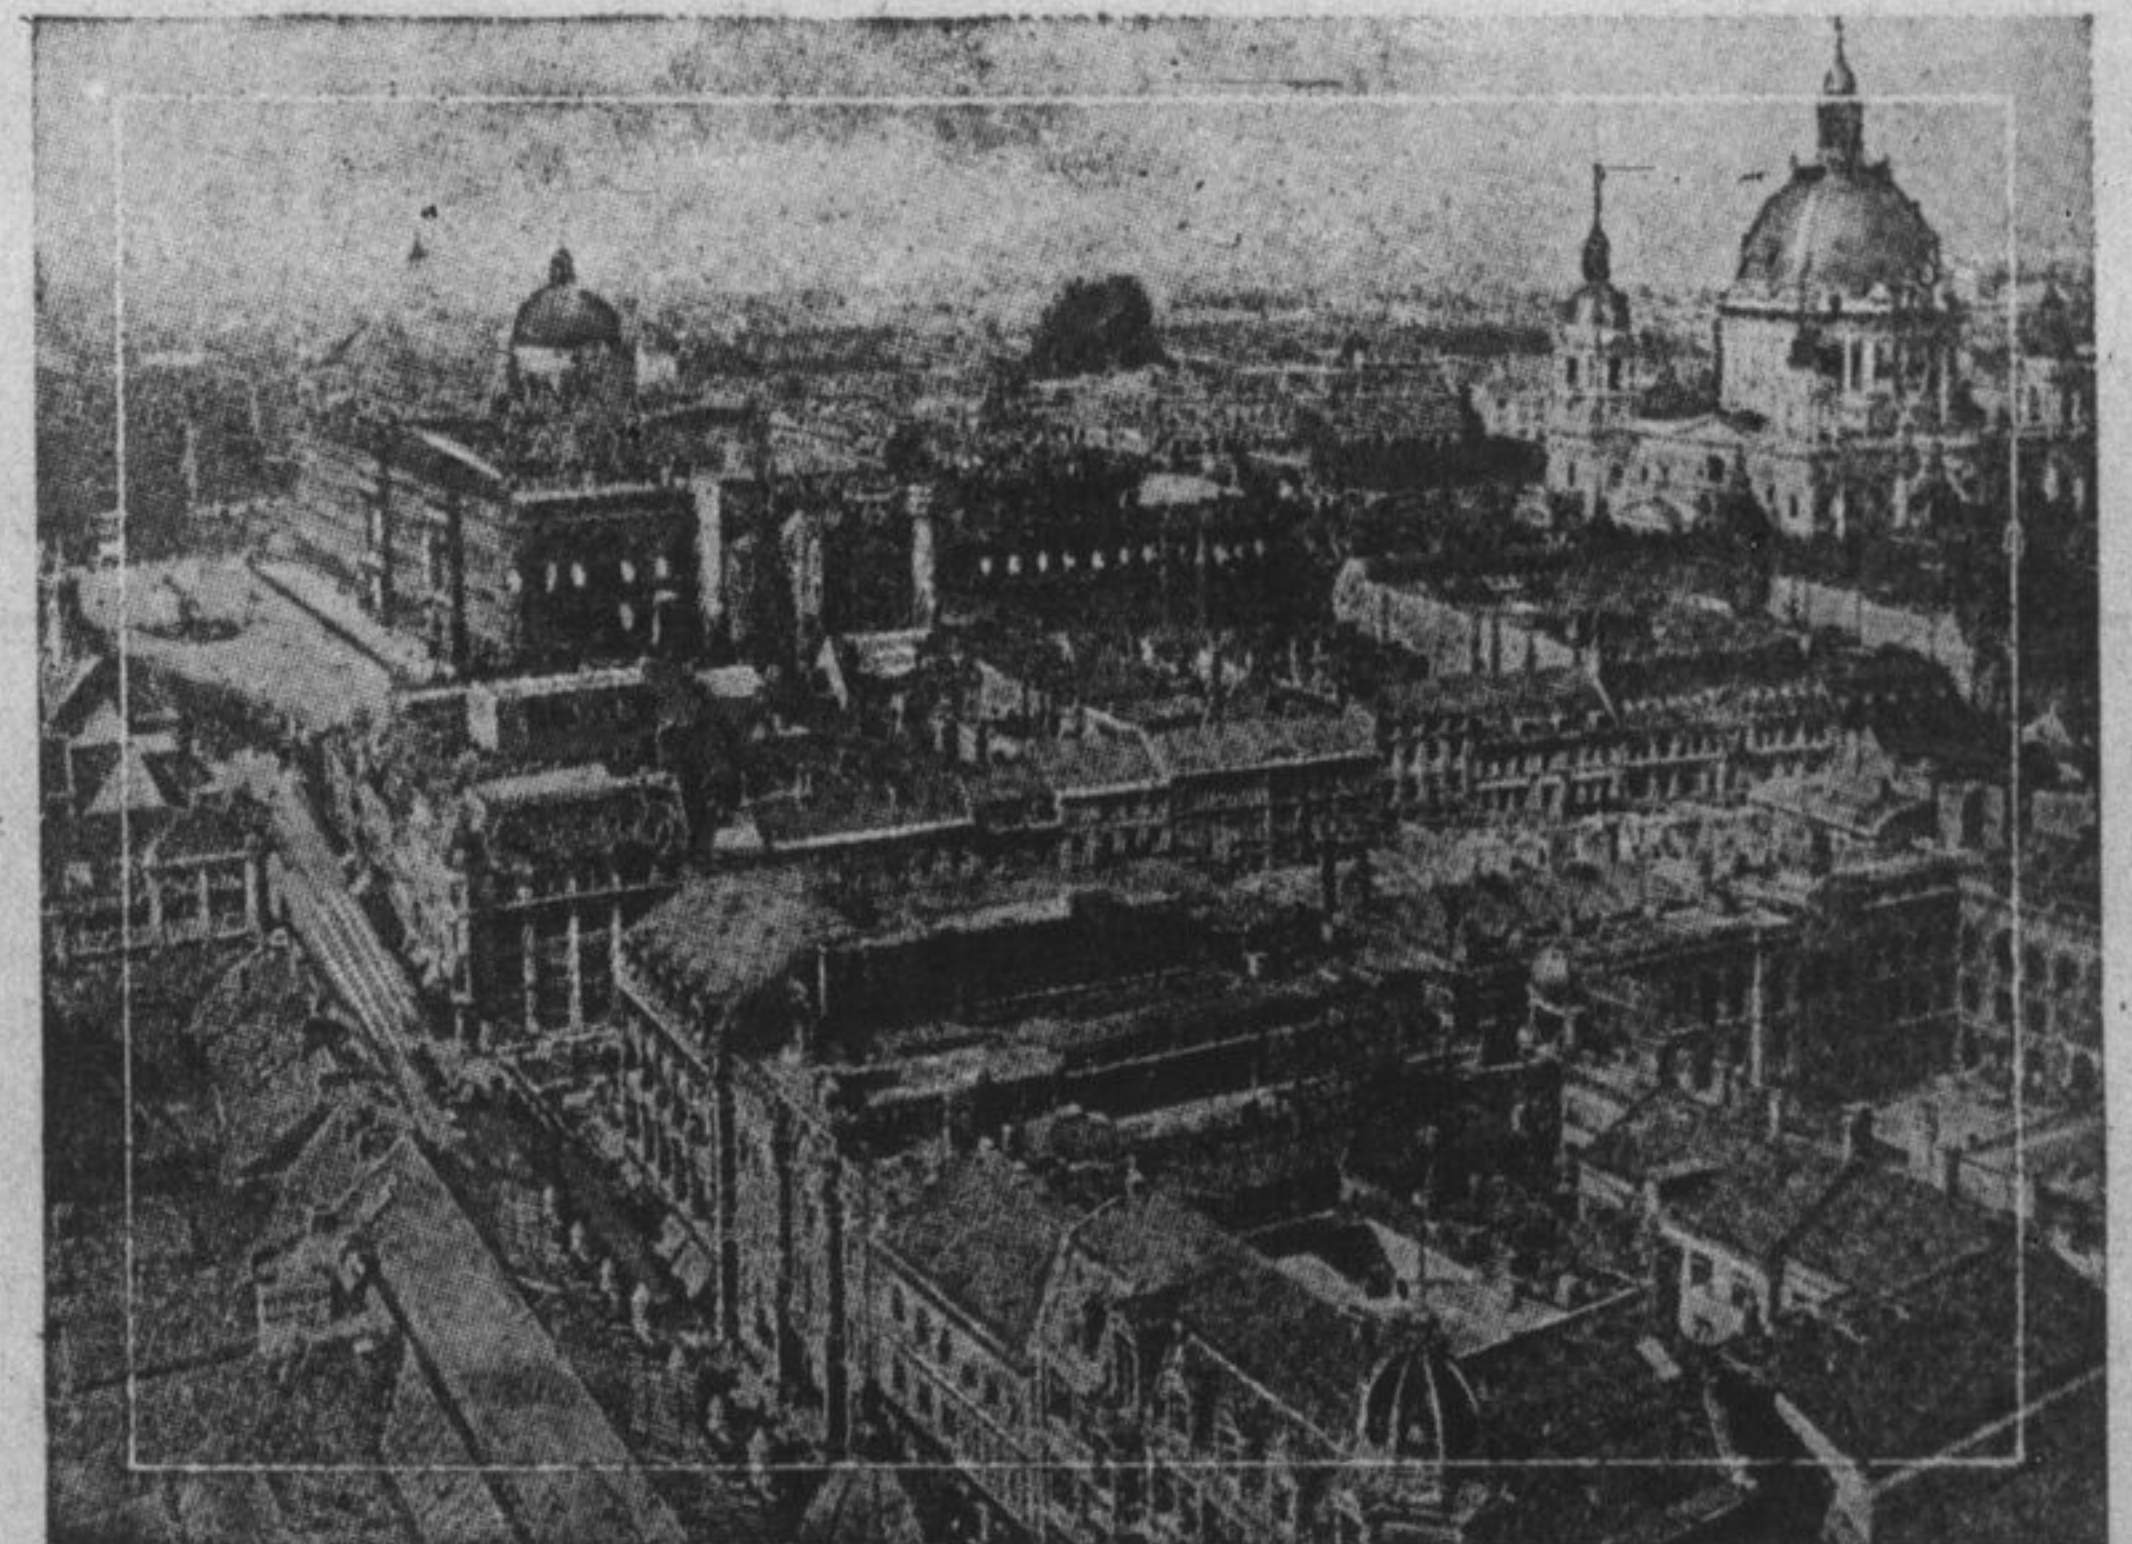

Sgt. Major H. E. J. Groom, W.O., son of Mr. and Mrs. Groom, 436 Division Street, Kingston.

TO FIGHT AIRPLANES.

This picture, from a British official photo shows a novel adaptation of the light machine gun to anti-aircraft work. A wheel is fixed to a pole driven into the ground. The gun is then attached to the rim of the wheel so that it points almost straight up, and can be speedily swung around to any position to keep the speeding enemy plane in range.

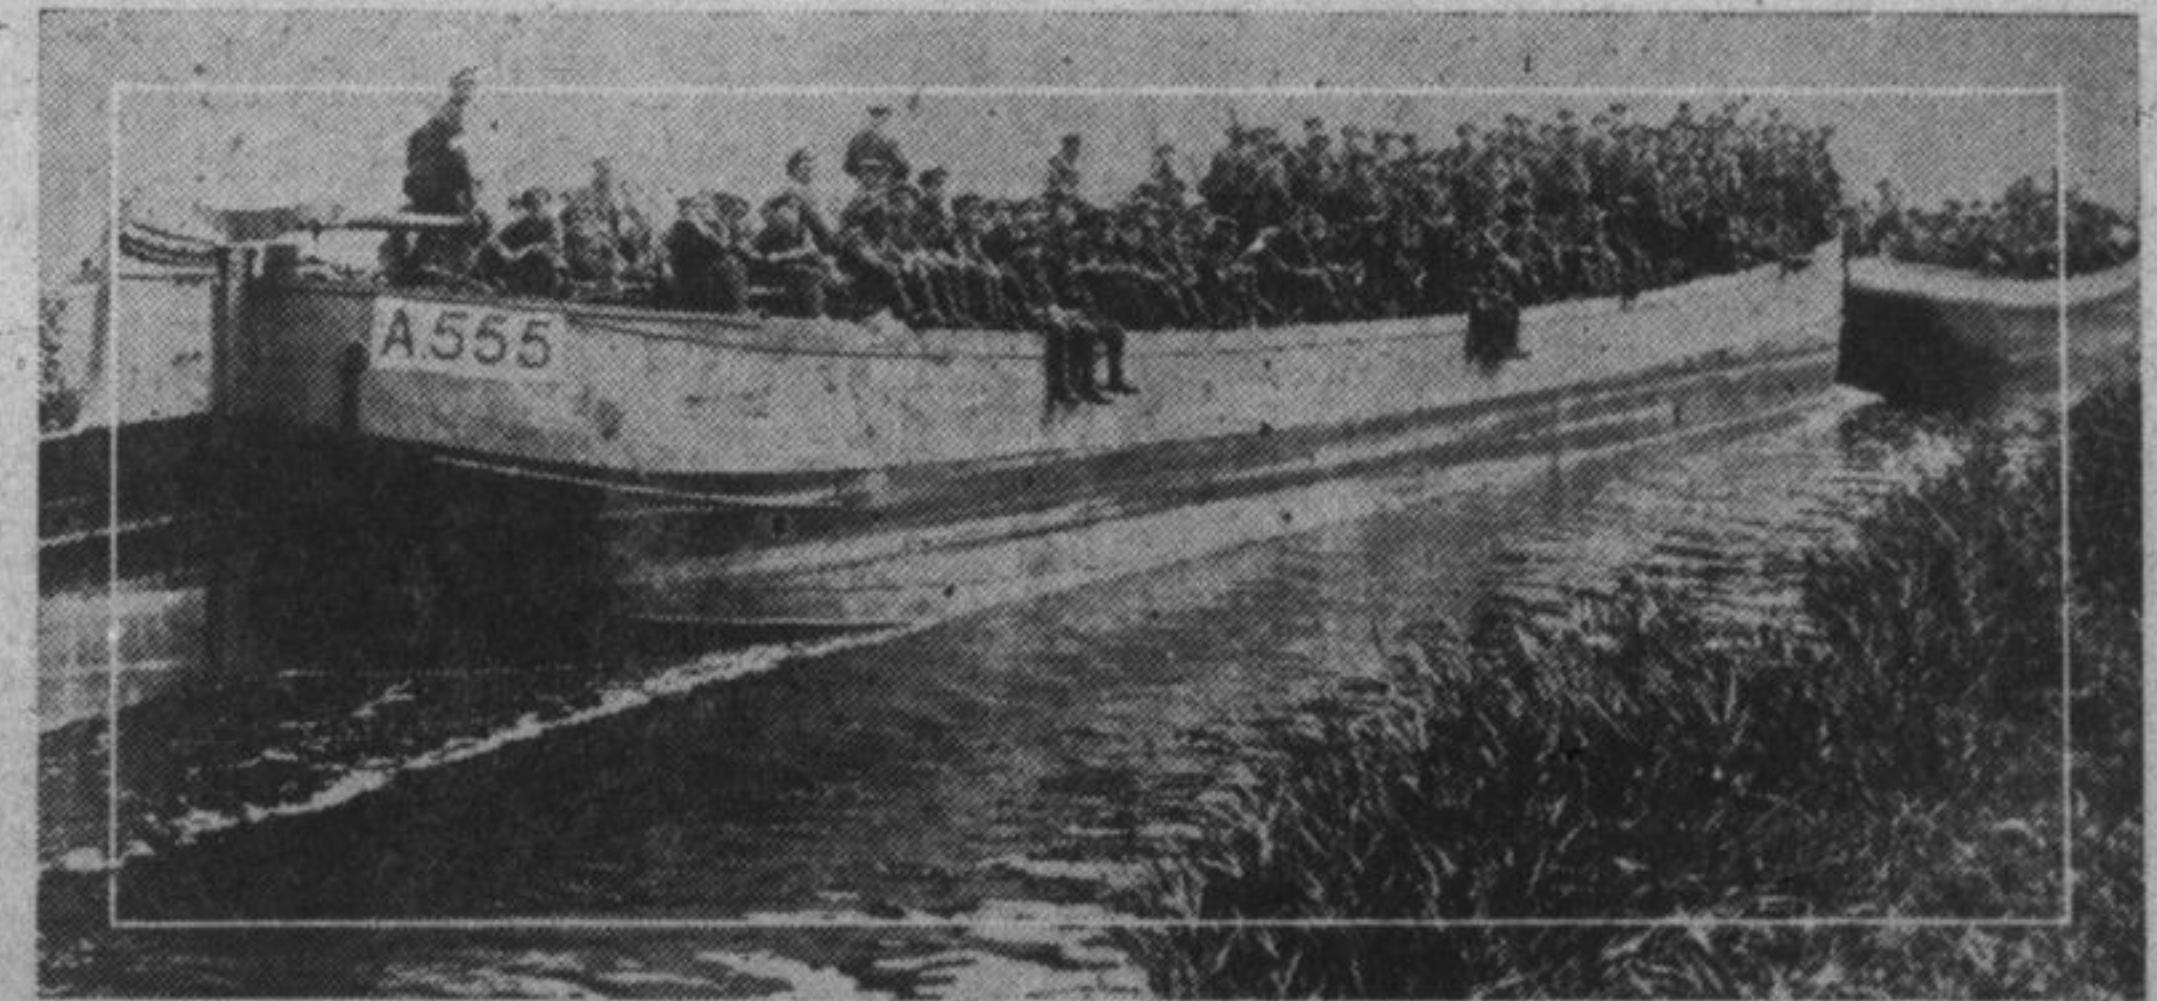

IN TROUBLED HUN CAPITAL. View over a portion of the City of Berlin.

THE SPOILS OF WAR.

British motor machine gunners wearing helmets captured during engagements with the Huns.

BRITISH TROOPS GOING TO THE FRONT.

A British official picture from France, showing soldiers being conveyed by canal barges toward the fighting front.

PANTOMIME ON WEST FRONT. Soldiers rehearsing "Cinderella" in the snow.

WORLD SHRINE ENDANGERED.

The Bridge of Sighs, a historic spot in ancient Venice, celebrated in song and story. Hun aviators during the last few days have dropped many bombs on Venice.

NATIVE TROOPS PASSING THROUGH BAGDAD.