GAVE HER DELICATE CHILD VINOL

It Built Him Up and Made Him Strong

Newaygo, Mich.—"My little boy was in a delicate, weak, emaciated condition and had a cough so we had to keep him out of school for a year. Nothing seemed to help him until Vinol was recommended, and the change it made in him was remarkable. It has built him up and made him strong so his cough is almost entirely gone. We can not recommend Vinol too highly."—Mrs. E. N. Hanson.

Sure! High Heels Cause Corns But Who Cares Now

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heel footwear they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which merely makes the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of a drug called Freezone applied directly upon a sore corn gives quick relief and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without pain. Ask the drug store man for a quarter of an ounce of Freezone, which costs very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This drug is an ether compound and dries up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. Clip this out and pin on your wife's dresser.

Japanese Electrical Enterprises.

The latest report of the Electrical Bureau of Japan shows a steady advance in electrical enterprises. At the end of November last there were 674 electrical enterprises in the empire in which were invested 680,886,899 yen (1 yen equals approximately 50 cents). The average daily combined power supply is 922,940 kilowatts, of which 700,870 kilowatts are generated by water power and the remainder by steam power plants. During the past year there was a greater increase in the steam power plants.

The Woman Who Changed

THE DAY OF THE PARTY.

CHAPTER XXIV.

The day of the party I woke early. I was as excited as if I were giving the birthday dinner instead of Evelyn. Mrs. Sexton was due at ten o'clock which rather disgusted me, but even she couldn't quite quench my high spirits.

"Have patience, my dear Mrs. Howard. O woman without patience is never a popular woman," she told me that morning, and a lot I didn't even hear, although I pretended to. I was sure she reported to George, and I was not anxious for a scolding.

After she left I few upstairs and laid out everything I should wear. I should have to dress early as George would come home to see that I wouldn't disgrace him by not being properly gowned. I suppose I should have felt flattered, but I didn't.

"I know he was going back to the club to dinner, and it seemed so silly for him to come way home just to criticize me."

After luncheon I went shopping and bought some fresh gloves and slippers. So that he could have no possible cause to tell me I was not fit.

Then I lay down for an hour before I bathed and dressed. I was all ready however when George came in about six o'clock. The dinner was at seven. George said it was outrageous early, but I thought it just the right hour. I got so hungry when I waited until eight o'clock for dinner, as we had at Mrs. Loring's.

George Approves.

"Yes, you'll do very well," he said, as I ran down the stairs. "I think you look better in it than you did when you wore it before. Your hair is dressed more becomingly perhaps."

"No, just the same," I answered.

Weevil Loss in Store.

In order to avoid loss from weevils, grocers should keep flour, meal, rice, peas, beans, and package cereals in a cool, dry place, as without heat and moisture the weevil will not propagate. Proximity to a heated stove will often cause weevils to appear in winter. Scrupulous cleanliness and kalsomining are preventatives. Care should be taken to inspect incoming goods, as a few weevils in a single package of goods may infect the whole store in a short space of time during warm weather.

A man who sees the keyhole double every time he comes home late has no business with the key to success.

A melancholy sight this winter is a bill for a ton of anthracite.

and thought I could tell him if I would why I looked better. It was because I was happier. Then I had been frightened, awed because of the kind of people I was to meet. Now I knew they were all young happy things like myself, and then Merton Gray was to be there too.

"I'll wait and drive down with you," George said.

"Oh, that will be lovely!" I exclaimed. "It will seem almost as if you were going," and I smiled happily at him.

He bent down and kissed my lips. It was such little things he did when least expected that kept my love alive. Had he not occasionally shown some feeling I am sure it would have died out almost as soon as I was alone with him.

But I had learned not to be demonstrative when he gave me any sort of a caress, so now I just patted his arm contentedly and sat quietly reading until it was time to go.

George wrapped me in the same lovely blue cloak I had worn to Mrs. Loring's, and after we were in the car and I laid my hand on his knee he took it in his and held it all the way to Evelyn's.

"I am so sorry you aren't coming," I said as he helped me out, and I meant it. I was sorry then; later I knew he wouldn't have enjoyed the evening, and probably would have spoiled it for me. We were altogether too hilarious to please him, too natural.

The Guests Arrive.

I was a little early. I had promised Evelyn I would be, but early as I was, Merton Gray was but a few minutes later.

"This is indeed a pleasure," he said as we shook hands. "I hope

I may be able to console you for your husband's absence."

"Oh yes you will!" I exclaimed, then blushed crimson to think how it sounded.

"Never mind. I know what you meant. He couldn't come, so you have made up your mind to be pleased with his substitute."

"Wasn't it wonderful, I thought, how easily he understood me, how he knew just what to say to make me comfortable?"

But the other guests came directly and I was carried away by Evelyn to be introduced.

There was a Mr. and Mrs. Rivers, a charming young couple; her name was Olive, Olive Rivers; his was Peter. I thought it so queer—"Peter Rivers"—it didn't sound nice at all, but afterward it seemed as if no other name would have been half so distinctive. Then a Miss Mabel Pratt, and Hugh Emery, then Dick Carter and his cute little wife Lilly, and the two Lawson sisters, Jennie and June, with their fiancés. They were twins and were soon to be married on the same day, to Frank Arden and Charlton Mott—Jennie to Frank, and June to Charlton. I hoped they would invite me to the wedding. Then there was Merton Gray, Evelyn and Kurts, and myself.

Everyone was so gay over the introductions. They all expressed their sorrow at George's absence very prettily, but all of them were delighted that Merton Gray had taken his place. He knew most of them and soon made friends with the others. Oh, how good it seemed to be in that laughing, chatting crowd, all talking at once, just as we used to do at home. I could shut my eyes and almost think I was back with the boys and girls.

FORD Cars

We aimed to give good advice in urging prospective Ford buyers to place their orders for cars before an advance, and will now venture to advise those who did not order to do so at once, as there is likely to be a scarcity of Ford cars, and another advance is quite possible. The Ford factory at Detroit has been forced to reduce its production from 3,200 cars daily to 1,700, and the Canadian factory at Ford, Ont., is from 4,000 to 5,000 behind in their orders at the present time, and with no prospect in sight of catching up on account of the scarcity of materials.

A FAIR TAX.

Everyone Bears An Equal Share of the Burden.

If you were to investigate the claims of those of you acquaintance who object to paying taxes, you would find that in nine cases out of every ten the grievances rested on allegations of unfair assessment. The great majority of people do not object to being taxed, so long as they are convinced that everyone else in their class and circumstances is made to bear an equal burden.

This passion for justice, is one of the chief characteristics of the Anglo-Saxon genius. It has been the determining factor in the up-building of Britain's world empire. It has flamed forth as a torch to light the true way at every critical period in the history of the United States. And it is the solvent which has enabled the free peoples of the earth to present a common front to a common enemy, at this epoch-marking period in the World's history.

The income war tax of the Dominion Government is a logical outcome of this passion for fair play. It is based on the broad principle of ability to pay. Every unmarried person and every widow and widower without dependent children, in receipt of an income of $1,500 and over, and every other person, as well as every money making organization in receipt of an income of $3,000 and over is liable to the tax. Moreover, the tax is graduated in such a way that as the income increases above the limits set, the percentage to be paid the Government increases in due proportion.

IF Feverish, Bilious, Constipated, Give Fruit Laxative At Once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes, out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "Fruit Laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company," and stand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Boys—Here's a Real Job for You

Starvation faces millions of the women and children of our Allies. The cry reaches Canada for food, more food and yet more food.

Canadian farmers are willing to raise every pound of food the soil will yield. But it takes plenty of work to plant, cultivate and harvest the grain and roots.

S.O.S. Soldiers of the Soil

15,000 boys, from 15 to 19, must be obtained in Ontario to help in this emergency. Boys, it's a real job—one requiring work and self-sacrifice. Think of your grave responsibility and the awful result if you don't rise to the occasion and "do your bit."

Thousands of Canadian boys made good on the farm last year. They were paid from $12.00 to $30.00 a month and board. This year there's an additional incentive for boys to distinguish themselves—A National Bronze Badge of Honour.
