In The World Of Sport

TO HAVE BALL TEAMS.

Heroes of Big Engagements "Over There" Prepare.

Dozens of returned soldiers who have played baseball in England and France are now in Toronto and are evincing very active interest in the organization of baseball teams, one of which will be strictly amateur and the other along the lines of the semi-professional nines. Many of the players played semi-professionally in Toronto and other parts of the country before the war. Most of them are first contingent men and wear the gold stripes of the wounded. Some have earned other decorations also.

It is proposed to organize one team composed entirely of men who have been wounded in some of the big engagements "over there," but who are now capable of engaging in athletics again. Some of the uniforms are promised. Among the organizers of the teams are players who helped to introduce the game in England and France. It is proposed to play for the benefit of the patients at the military hospitals at Whitby, Guelph, St. Catharines and elsewhere.

Managers Take to Southpaws.

If the value of a southpaw is doubled the official averages of the National League recently issued show conclusively that the managers in the older circuit have no doubt about their use.

The records show that no less than 31 port-siders worked in the National League last season, a number ever gathered together under one tent during a season.

Only a trifle over half of this number were pitchers, seventeen in all, the rest worked in the outfield or on first base.

One manager, Fred Mitchell, could have put an entire southpaw outfield into the field had he wished to do so. Williams, Wolter and Flack all throwing from the left side.

The advantage of left-handed pitchers has long been well known. In the old days when they were scarce they could usually be counted on to fool the batters with curves which broke just opposite to those of the right-handers. As the game progressed some smart batters learned to bat left-handed so they would be especially effective against left-handed pitching. This also added speed in the cases of fast base-runners, as they gained a couple of steps in getting away from the plate on a hit.

Bids For Big Fight.

Bids out of all proportion are being made for the heavyweight championship bout between Jess Willard and Fred Fulton, which will be staged somewhere on July 4th next, says the Toronto Star. The tangle will be one of the greatest ever seen. A huge crowd will witness it. It's a fine sporting gamble for a promoter to take in arranging the scrap and bidding a huge sum. But the Willard-Fulton bout isn't worth $150,000 of any man's money, and it's very probable that just this much will be offered. For a Fort Wayne, Ind., promoter ready says he has put up $140,000 as the mark for rival bidders to attempt. There are reasons to believe that a twenty round bout between these two huskies would draw as well as the Jeffries-Johnson match in Reno. In that event a huge offer would not be out of place. But, with war taxes to pay, increased cost of building materials for erection of an arena, increased cost of training, printing, and every other thing that goes to make a championship fight, it's much more of a gamble than was the affair between Jeffries and Johnson.

Holmes In Special Class.

When it comes to splitting the lemons in world's series hockey, Harry Holmes, goalkeeper of the Torontos, is in a class by himself. Holmes helped the Torontos win the Stanley Cup in 1912. He was with Seattle Metts when they won the championship last winter. Now he is fighting in his third world's series, and chances are that he will be on the winning team. Holmes is not a sensational custodian, but he is very reliable and steady. This is the second time that Harry Cameron, of the Torontos, has secured in the world's series, as he was with the Blue Shirts when they won in 1912. Harry Mummery was a member of the Canadians who lost to Seattle last winter, and now he is with Torontos.

"Wheeler" Dell, the Brooklyn pitcher, may go to the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast League if waivers can be secured.

Hal Logan, 2.05 1-4, the greatest race winner along the Pacific coast, was foaled in 1911.

BARRIE TO INVESTIGATE

But O.H.A. Sub-committee Finds Protest Falls.

At a meeting of the sub-committee of the O.H.A., the protest of the Barrie Hockey Club against De La Salle, junior champions of the O.H.A. in reference to the age of John Cain, one of their players, was considered. The evidence showed that the boy John Cain was born in March, 23rd, 1899, was baptized under that name, but registered at the Parliament buildings under the name of "Dennis Francis Cane," the original intention of the parents being to call the boy that name. This fact was confirmed by the parents, who were present, and also by documentary evidence. The committee were of the opinion that the protest failed, but that, owing to the fact that the defence papers did not reach the Barrie club within the proper time, absolutely nothing except a vain fancy on the part of certain owners. This number is against twenty-five heats trotted at that clip in 1916, but of this total eleven heats were over the tin cup route so that the odds are 14 to 32 in favor of 1917. Of the total forty-three heats in actual races trotted in 2.05 or faster in 1916 and 1917. Mabel Trask has won twelve heats, St. Prisco eleven, and Early Dreen seven, their respective win races being 2.02 1-4, 2.01 3-4, and 2.04 1-4.

Trotted 2.05 or Faster.

Thirty-two heats were trotted during the 1917 racing season in actual races or regular speed contests, in 2.05 or faster. While thirty-five heats that fast were trotted, yet three were tin cups or against time, which in this day of extreme trotting and pacing means absolutely nothing except a vain fancy on the part of certain owners. This number is against twenty-five heats trotted at that clip in 1916, but of this total eleven heats were over the tin cup route so that the odds are 14 to 32 in favor of 1917. Of the total forty-three heats in actual races trotted in 2.05 or faster in 1916 and 1917. BIDS FOR THE BIG FIGHT.

Willard Does Not Want To Fight In September.

George Blomer, fight promoter, returned to Fort Wayne, Ind., from Chicago, where he met Jess Willard and Fred Fulton, who are to fight for the world's championship. Blomer announced that in all probability the bout would be staged in Fort Wayne, as he had offered $140,000 to bring it there. New Orleans is a bidder for the fight and has offered $150,000. Willard says he does not care to fight in September and for that reason will no doubt turn down the New Orleans offer. "I am confident Willard and Fulton will fight in Fort Wayne," Blomer said.

British Athletes.

In the beautiful and historic Villa Borghese in Italy the eagerly-expected intertrotted sports were held Monday. American, French, British and Italian champion runners and bicyclists vied with each other, watched breathlessly by a crowd of 200,000 persons.

Eight American young men from the aviation camp in southern Italy participated, and were enthusiastically cheered. The English won the first Royal prize and the Americans second in the 1,000-yard race.

Ambassador Page, Mrs. Page, the personnel of the American Embassy, Colonel Robert Perkins and his staff, and Major Ryan, Commander of the American aviators, were warmly congratulated upon the showing of the Americans.

Harry "Tex" Tate, who won on a leg from Fred Fulton recently, is being confused with Bill Tate, the negro heavyweight. "Tex" is a white heavy and former sparring partner of Carl Morris.

Johnny Dundee and Willie Jackson, aspirants for the lightweight title, fought at New Haven.

We Do As We Advertise

"Delivering The Goods"

In a Way That is Making Us Grow by Leaps and Bounds

"Delivering the Goods" is what counts these days; men are n't interested in whys and wherefores. A store that delivers the goods eventually earns their patronage.

The first thing that will strike you when you come here is value. If you are a judge of merchandise you'll note a real saving in our prices. That's why we go to the trouble of advertising. The next thing that will strike you is style; we aren't confined to the models of any designers. The wide world of styles is ours to choose from. We show all the styles of any season. You'll like the spirit of genuine service that pervades the store—a "customer first" idea in every way. Our salesmen are as glad to show as to sell, in fact, our customers do the buying, instead of salesmen doing the selling; it's a treat to trade here.

Will that boy of yours want a new suit for Easter? Of course he will, that he may "spruce up" for the occasion, like the rest of the folks. We have provided for the "young man" with suits that will satisfy all his boyish demands, and have also considered the mother and father with prices which we think will be to their liking. Prices $3.69 to $14.00. Sizes 24 to 36, big boys'.

See our classy range of men's suits, in all the newest models for Easter, at those same low prices.

See our classy range of suits, spring overcoats, at those same low prices.

A message to men from HAT HEAD-QUARTERS — When it comes to correctness in style, and when quality and value are also taken into consideration, it is as natural for men to come here for their hats as it is for them to go to the Postoffice for their stamps.
