

The Wellington THE UNIVERSAL PIPE

YOU'LL soon learn to bless the well in your Wellington Pipe. It catches the moisture. All you draw through the stem is dry, sweet smoke.

Baseball Briefs

Bill Clymer, manager of Louisville Club, says conditions are such in the minor leagues that no manager has the remotest idea of how his club will finish this year.

Bob Berman, the catcher, was recommended to the Senators by Derrill Pratt's father.

Tim Hendryx, Joe Gedeon, Les Nunamaker, and Fritz Matsel, former Yankees, are working hard to retain their jobs with the Browns.

George Baumgardner, former Brown pitcher, is now wearing khaki. He is at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, being attached to the 150th West Virginia Infantry.

Everett Bankston, one tried out by the Yankees, and for a time with Richmond, has decided to retire from baseball and devote his entire attention to farming.

Arthur Kbres, once with the Giants, will play with Louisville this year, covering third base for the Colonels.

Casey Sengel, former Robin and now with the Pirates, is as rocky as ever, according to reports from the Pittsburgh camp.

Clark Griffith will carry a small team this year. He took only twenty-three south and he is not yet through with the pruning knife.

Bob Harmon is at Jacksonville, Fla., with the Pirates. The veteran is trying to "come back."

The Detroiters in their practice

games are playing Dressen at first base, Ellison in right and Walker in centre.

The Cleveland Indians lost heavily through the draft and enlistments, but only two regulars were lost, First Baseman Harris and Third Baseman Evans.

The St. Louis Cards have a promising left handed pitcher in Bill Sherdell, who has been developed by Paddy Livingston.

John Hummel, once with the Brooklyn, and later with Buffalo, is trying to win an outfield position on the Saratogo team.

Boeckel, Evans, Milligan, Warner, Webb, Ray Miller and Blackwell, all Pirates, have gone into the army.

Jack Onslow, released by the Giants several days ago, was regarded by John McGraw as the best backstop in the minors.

The Columbus Club has decided to engage women to sell tickets and handle the turnstiles this year.

When the Red Sox play their first series with the world's champions at Chicago an "Evers Day" will be celebrated. Johnny has always been a favorite of the fans there.

The infielders of the Boston Braves are Konetchy, Herzog, Rawlings, J. C. Smith, Jimmy Smith, Fitzpatrick, Conway, O'Neill and Covington.

George Kelly, nephew of Bill Lange and formerly with the Giants, is now finishing up his course as an airman at Kelly Field, near San Antonio, Tex. He is playing first base for the aviators ball club.

Long Tom Hughes has tired of pitching in the Pacific Coast League and is anxious to try his arm in the American Association. He may sign with the St. Paul club.

Another Hipp is to get a trial in fast company. One Clarence Hipp, an outfielder, has been directed to proceed to Marlin, Texas, and there display his wares before Pilot John McGraw.

In infielder Boeckel, the hard hitting youngster from the coast, does not sign the contract offered by the Pirates, Bill Stumpf, the former Yankee, will be given a chance at third base.

WILL GET FAIR DEAL.

Lajoie to be Given Consideration by Ebbets.

Although under baseball law Napoleon Lajoie now is the legal property of the Brooklyn club, having been purchased for $3,000 from the Toronto club prior to the disbandment of the International League, Col. Ebbets said at New York that he did not intend to coerce the famous player, who prefers to manage the Indianapolis American Association club. Ebbets said that he had wired Lajoie to come here for a talk and that J. J. McCaffery, of the Toronto club, would be on hand too. If Lajoie refuses point blank to accept the Brooklyn club's terms, Ebbets probably will declare that he is a free agent, in the sense that he can sign with the Indianapolis club. "Lajoie belongs to the Brooklyn club," said Ebbets.

"Our claim to his services is legal and it would be sustained by the National Commission beyond a question of doubt. We need Lajoie on the Brooklyn team, and we have made a liberal offer to him. But in view of Lajoie's splendid record as a major league player and his loyalty to organized baseball during the trouble with the Federal League, it would be extremely unfair on our part to force him to come to Brooklyn against his will. Lajoie has played baseball for more than twenty-two years. He always has behaved himself and is a credit to the sport. For those reasons he is entitled to a fair deal."

NATIONALS MAP PLAY.

Possibility That Caron May See Shamrock's New President.

Notwithstanding the announcement some time ago that the Montreal Nationals might not go in for lacrosse again, prospects for another senior league seem to be brightening.

It should not be at all surprising if President A. L. Caron, of the Nationals, or Raoul Dumouchel, for years the lacrosse member of the executive, had a talk one of these days with Harry Hyland, the new president of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club, and come to some understanding.

Death Of Charlie Mitchell.

The announcement of the death of the old-time pugilist, Charlie Mitchell, at his home in England, adds another to the exceptionally long list of celebrities in boxing circles passing away in recent months. The world was startled on October 22nd last, by the death of Bob Fitzsimmons, known as the Iron Man of the ring and one of the greatest fighters that ever drew on a glove. On February 2nd of this year, the death was recorded of John L. Sullivan, the only and original champion of the modern prize ring. Terry McGovern, the lightweight marvel, was the next to go, his death taking place on February 22nd. Our own John F. Scholes, great boxer and follower of the game though an amateur himself, but as good as most professionals in the ring, passed away on March 4th. Mike Donovan, who was the boxing teacher of Mr. Roosevelt, died on March 24th, and Mitchell's name is added to the list. Mitchell was famous in Sullivan's time and although very light in weight, always fought with the heavyweights, his battle with John L. Sullivan, in Chantilly, France, being the most famous battle of his career.

Age Didn't Stop Him.

W. S. Chapman, 72 years old, is in Chicago, having completed a 15,000 mile walk. Chapman started from Baltimore, Md., March 19th, 1916, on his long hike to win a wager of $25,500 put up by a club in New York. From the time he started Chapman says, he has not ridden in a vehicle of any sort. He walked west over the Lincoln Highway to San Diego, Calif., making the return journey by way of Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and to Miami, Fla. From there he followed the Dixie Highway to Chicago.

Opposed to Sunday Ball.

President McCaffery, of the Leafs, announces that every town in the new league but Toronto will have Sunday baseball this summer. The "pres." also went further and stated that as long as he is connected with the Toronto Baseball Club there will never be Sunday baseball played in Toronto.

STARS ARE RETIRING FROM BIG LEAGUES

Not Holding Out or Quitting Temporarily, But Out For Good.

Voluntary retirements from baseball are unusually numerous this year. In this connection no reference is made to those players who give up baseball for war work, or to pronounced holdouts, but simply to those who have announced that they are through with the game. Frank Allen and Eddie Fitzpatrick of the Boston Braves have notified George Stallings that they intend to devote their time to farm work in the future. Dave Robertson of the Giants is another to give up the game, while Plank and Marsans of the Highlanders both are showing signs of sticking to their determination to retire. George Foster and "Chet" Thomas of the Boston Red Sox are others who have announced that they have had enough of the diamond pastime, and, of course, Hans Wagner is positively retired this time.

While so many are giving up the game, Rube Oldring, one of the most celebrated "retirers" of recent years, is planning to stage a comeback in the big show.

A MILLION FOOTBALLS FOR TROOPS IN FRANCE

The British Government's Mammoth Order—Covers of Heavy Canvas.

The British Government has ordered one million footballs for its troops in France, delivery to be made within the next six months. Some of them have already reached France. A new experiment in footballs has been made. Owing to the scarcity of leather, the covers are made of heavy canvas which has been given chemical treatment. The new footballs give satisfaction, the ball often being in a better condition at the conclusion of the game than a leather-covered ball would have been if it was subjected to the same usage.

Connie Mack's refusal to pay Jake Mutch the salary he demands may leave that young man to his coal business this season. Atlanta, which traded Mutch to Mack, is said to have made other plans for its first base job and doesn't care to take Jake back, and it's certain Connie Mack won't take on any man who doesn't agree with Connie as to salary.

Jockey Jimmy Butwell has finally received his formal call to arms. The former Toronto boy must report for duty next week with Uncle Sam's army.
