HOW TO END CORNS

Which Way for You?

Above are pictured three ways to treat corns. Blue-jay is the most certain. It is safe and gentle. Yet the unknown ones experiment with harsh, mussy liquids or the dangerous razor. These two ways are temporary. But Blue-jay is scientific. The spot of medicated wax, discovered by a great chemist, soothes while it works. Place a Blue-jay Plaster on your throbbing corn tonight. Relief is instant. The soft felt pad stops the pain by relieving the pressure. In 48 hours the medicated wax has saturated the corn—and it comes off painlessly, completely. Nature responds quickly to such a gentle, corrective treatment.

Hardly a corn can resist. Of course once in a while there is an old stubborn corn which requires a second or third application. But such are rare. Blue-jay Plasters are made by Bauer & Black, the great surgical dressing house. Try a Blue-jay Plaster now. Join the pain-free thousands who rely on Blue-jay. Once you know Blue-jay, you'll never consent to have a corn again, nor to coddle it with temporary ways. The cost is slight, the application simple. Remember, we promise immediate relief and a defenseless corn. Blue-jay Plasters are sold by all druggists—25c per package. Also Blue-jay Anion Plasters.

DOCTOR SAYS VINOL IS THE BEST TONIC

Honest Opinion Doctor Gave His Patient
Bedford, Ohio.—"I was in a pitiful condition, weak, nervous and run down so I could not do my housework. I had doctored for years and tried everything under the sun. A friend told me about Vinol. I asked my doctor about it, and he replied, 'It certainly is the best medicine that can be had today. I couldn't give you any better.' I took it, and today I am as well and strong as any woman could wish to be, and it was Vinol that saved me."—Mrs. Frank A. Hokey, Ash St., Bedford, Ohio.

COT FORTY-FOUR PRISONERS

CORP. BARBOCK, OF AMELIASBURG, HAD AN EXCITING TIME
Comrade Met Death While They Were on Their Way to the Enemy's Trench—Budget of News Around Wellington.
Wellington, April 23.—This county can boast of a man who had the nerve to visit one of the enemy's trenches in the person of Corporal Barbock, of Ameliasburg. After bombarding the trench he and a companion proceeded on their way to the trench. His companion was shot, but Barbock kept on his way, and ordered any person who might be there to get out. Forty-four Hunns came out, and were ordered by Barbock to throw up their hands. They did so and he marched the prisoners back into camp.

April 25.—Both branches of the local banks will observe the usual custom of closing at twelve o'clock (noon) on Thursday, from May until October inclusive. During the change of time, owing to the daylight saving plan, the services in the Methodist church will be held on Sundays at these hours: Sunday school at 10:15 and public worship at 11:30 and 8:00 a.m. All week services will be held on new time. George Bell, of Piton, was in town on Saturday, calling on friends. B. A. Manning was in Toronto on a business trip last week. A. Thomas was a Toronto visitor last week. Henry Greer celebrated his 87th birthday on Sunday. Mrs. and Mrs. Greer entertained at the dinner hour. Mr. and Mrs. James C. Vanhorn, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bowerman, who recently celebrated their diamond jubilee in California, were in their younger days residents of Wellington. Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Nexon have removed their household goods to Oshawa, where they will in future reside. Will Luffman is manager of the Graham Muck firm this year. Arthur McDonald is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Naxon, Concession. Miss Grace McDonald has taken a position in Toronto.

Mrs. James Osborne Byers spent a recent Sunday at Walton the guest of Mrs. G. J. Chadd. Miss Kathleen Dwyer is recovering from injuries sustained by a fall. Mr. and Mrs. William Inay have moved on a farm. Mrs. Alice Hill, who accompanied her mother to Wellington, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clark, returned to her home on Monday last. Mrs. Greer, who spent the winter in Boston, has returned to her summer cottage here for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. E. McDonald were at Anthony Goodmurphy's.

Col. A. A. Ferguson was in town on Saturday. Mr. Hunt, of British Columbia, spent a short time here this week. Lieut. D. T. Ainsworth has returned from overseas. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McDonald and daughter, Vera E., of Toronto, spent the week-end at their old home. Mrs. David Thorn has returned from Trenton, where she has been visiting. G. J. Naxon, of Oshawa, spent Sunday here with his family. Mrs. A. L. Wilson has returned from Detroit, where she spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. J. S. Hill. Mrs. James Squire, of Lindsay, has returned to Wellington to spend the summer.

The British League has rented the long room over the furniture rooms in which meetings are held every Thursday night. Mrs. Carver and Mrs. Gilly spent a few days with friends at Piton. Wilbur Peters, of the Transport Corps, Toronto, was home on a few days' furlough. A number of our citizens attended the funeral of the late Charles Purcell at Piton, last week. Charles Smith, of the Aviation Corps, Toronto, is visiting his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Horlop have moved into the Rankin residence. Richard Meson and Truance Fenwick have moved to Trenton for the summer. Mrs. Hammond, of Kingston, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wannamaker. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Morrison secured a wire from the Red Cross Hospital, saying that Pte. Hugh Tern was wounded in the wrist and shoulder with shrapnel. Sergeant Harry Winters died in the military hospital at Newmarket on Tuesday last. The remains were brought to this place and the funeral service was held at St. Andrew's church. "Joe" Thompson, of the Forestry Battalion, secured the package of socks sent by the Red Cross workers of this place, and sends his thanks for their kind remembrance. He has kindly distributed them among his comrades. Mr. and Mrs. Corman, of Hillman's Crossing, spent the week-end at D. Sandevor's. Anthony Goodmurphy is catering to the public very satisfactorily, and everybody who has partaken of his hospitality give him and his good wife the highest praise.

News From Stella.
Stella, April 23.—The farmers throughout this district have commenced heading operations, and the land is reported to be working very good. Quite a number took in the special trip of the steamer Wolfe Islander to the city on Monday, April 22nd. A large quantity of cheese, etc., was handled. F. Briceland, Wolfe Island, and McGuire Bros., Portsmouth, and J. A. Tugwell, took a large number of veal calves, pigs, etc., down on the return trip in the evening. Joseph Bray is fitting out his gasoline boat for the season. Mrs. R. P. Sanders has returned home after undergoing an operation in the Kingston General Hospital. J. E. McPera has been repairing the wharf at the village. W. Filson is building the wall under R. Richards' house. R. Neilson is having their house re-shingled. J. Hogan is having his house painted and also shingled. Robert McCormick lost a valuable milk cow last week. Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Dixon are spending a few days with Dr. and Mrs. Hudson, Roslin.

WOLFE ISLAND NEWS.

Robert Kyle Presented With Gift Before Going Overseas.

Wolfe Island, April 30.—Edward Smythe, who was engaged as cheesemaker for the front cheese factory, has signed up for overseas. A Montreal horse buyer purchased a few good horses here. The interior of the Catholic church is getting the finishing touches this week. The news and altar are in position, ready for use.

Grant Grimshaw, one of the island's most prominent farmers, has sold his farm and will sell by auction on Thursday his entire stock and farm implements. C. Cummings, Kingston, spent Sunday on the island. The cheese factories are all open for the season, except one, which is undergoing extensive repairs. The farmers have commenced heading. Owing to the lateness of the season and the shortness of farm help, the situation is not very bright for a large crop. E. Briceland has purchased an up-to-date auto, George Friend and George Keys have also purchased autos.

The scarlet fever is quite prevalent on the island. Some whole families are affected with it. Mrs. John McGlynn lies dangerously ill at her home.

A group of the young folks held a dance in the massive hall on Tuesday evening in honor of Robert Kyle, who will shortly leave for overseas. At midnight they gathered and presented him with a Gillette safety razor. Although taken by surprise, he thanked them for their useful gift and made a neat reply in a few well-chosen words. Orval McDermott and Mack Kenny are to be congratulated on the success of the evening.

The Y.M.C.A. in France.

We walk down to the central square; gaunt ruins are all that is left of what were once magnificent old public buildings. A machine-gun emplacement commands the square, and barbed wire entanglements are in evidence for use in case the Germans should attack. We walk past the cathedral; it is now a ruin, with tremendous walls and naked arches standing out stark against the sky, what was once its nave now a huge pile of fallen masonry. We pass on and turn a corner; on the wall of what was formerly a French home of the well-to-do class, we are met by a large red triangle. As we reach the door, several Y.M.C.A. secretaries welcome us and take us inside. Here they have lived through all the furious shelling of the preceding months, serving hot coffee and caring for the needs of thousands of soldiers, and, strangely enough, this house, the ground floor rooms of which have been crowded with troops night after night, is the only one in the vicinity which has not been partially wrecked by German shells. The upper stories, however, with shrapnel, and flying shell fragments, are not in use; the secretaries are sleeping under ground in what was once a wine-cellar, with the floor above them sandbagged and bomb-proofed. They tell us, to our surprise, that the secretaries, who are all in the city, are a vast network of labyrinth cellars and connecting passages, and in these underground masses, with the rate and vermin the soldiers are living. No wonder that that little friendly Y.M.C.A. building is thronged with troops night after night. We hear that in some way, I know not how, the secretaries managed to secure last week 15,000 fresh eggs which they applied to the troops going up to the trenches; they are giving out ninety gallons of hot coffee every night. We ask what chance for rest they have, and are told that a few days before one of them spent his time unloading boxes of supplies from five in the afternoon until three the next morning, and turned in at last, only to be called out a few moments later by the arrival of fresh troops, whom he spent the rest of the morning serving. As we watch them at their work we begin to understand that a cup of hot coffee and a bit of cheery atmosphere may sometimes preach the most eloquent of sermons.—Francis B. Sayre in Harper's Magazine.

Misfit.
Several Canadian prairie cities are involved in serious financial problems as a result of the war. These municipalities are really the victims of that wholesale speculation in real estate which is never content to keep itself within rational bounds. Each citizen becomes a self-constituted "booster" of his town. A stranger entering it one year may find it a comparatively insignificant place with a small and unpretentious town hall doing duty, in addition, as fire station and dance hall, and providing office accommodation for professional citizens. A year later all may be changed. The "boom" has struck the town, and the effect is much like that of a tornado. The streets are torn up, and the old flimsy houses torn down. But out of the gigantic dump rise the concrete and steel walls of the new city hall and a partial block of stores which would do credit to a Toronto or a Montreal. The whole effect is that of a misfit.

Poverty is the grindstone upon which wits are sharpened. Character is iron in name on a man's face in indole ink. Wise prophets let others do the betting. Experience worries more men than it teaches.
