LECT.-COL. R. M. SMART
Who commands the Depot Battalion at Barrfield Camp.

About a hundred of the soldiers quarantined in the old Collegiate Institute marched to the Cricket Field on Monday evening and two of the companies engaged in a baseball game. Enthusiasm reigned supreme and for over an hour the contest was at a high pitch. It was the first game of the season and was thoroughly enjoyed by the soldiers.

With so many officers, N.C.O.'s and men of Kingston units such as the 21st, 146th and others, returning to the city, reunions of these soldiers and ex-soldiers are being planned. An informal meeting of some 146th Battalion officers was held on Monday afternoon and an event to bring together all those of that command, who are now in Canada, was talked of. It may take place in July, the second anniversary of the battalion leaving Kingston for Valcartier camp on its way overseas.

"C" Battery, R.C.H.A., and the Depot Batteries are rapidly filling up with a splendid type of men, entering throughout this district. The training now going on is preparatory to the more advanced work which will be possible at Petawawa camp.

Militia units are to be encouraged to keep up to strength and it is published for the information of all concerned that the rifle ranges at Barrfield will be available for the use of city corps in Kingston, respectively, on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. In the event of the ranges being required at any other time, application should be made to the G.S.O., M.D., No. 2.

It is published for the information and guidance of all concerned that when bodies of troops are crossing the Barrfield bridge they will "break step" when passing over the span. This is particularly desirable in the case of the centre span.

Lt.-Col. R. J. Gardiner, A.D.M.S., went to Ottawa to-day.

The cortege proceeded to St. Mary's cathedral and thence to St. Mary's cemetery, where interment took place. The gun carriage was supplied by the Depot Batteries, the pall bearers by the District Depot, and a firing party consisting of thirteen men under a sergeant was detailed from the 3rd Battalion, C.G.R.

Rail transportation will be issued to and from hospital to the next of kin of members of the overseas military forces of Canada during the serious illness or death of a warrant officer, N.C.O. or man. In this connection it is pointed out that no other expenses incurred by the next of kin on such journey will be paid by the military authorities.

At the conclusion of the meeting of the G.W.V.A. last evening a committee was formed to call a meeting of all who had served in the 21st Battalion with a view to forming an organization to retain the identity of the 21st Battalion veterans. It is likely that a reception will be given to Brig.-Gen. W. S. Hughes on the occasion of his visit to Kingston.

Sergeant Major Clifford arrived in the R.C.H.A. for many years and was gassed before the war, and went to England. When war was declared he joined his old unit in England and went to France with the first contingent.

The Theatres

At the Grand.

The manner in which a little girl brought about the reconciliation of two brothers who had been estranged is told in "Gates of Gladness," in which Madge Evans and George McQuarrie are starred. In this five reel feature which will be shown at the Grand to-night and Wednesday, matinee and night, there were two brothers who both loved the same girl. The younger brother wins out and marries the girl despite the fact that he was disowned by his father because of the marriage. A daughter was born to the young couple and when the daughter at the age of eight years was by a strange set of circumstances, brought to the home of the older brother, she immediately brought sunshine and gladness to replace the shadows and gloom which had formerly been the portion of the house. Madge Evans plays the role of the little daughter and George McQuarrie, a big favorite with World audiences, plays the part of the older brother. The novelty vaudeville act by Keough and Nelson, entitled "A Vaudeville Luncheon," consists of singing, dancing and talking, and for which three special scenes and electrical effects are carried in one of the best seen here this season.

At Griffin's.

Surpassing in interest any picture heretofore displayed at this popular playhouse, "The Whispering Choruses," a special Cecil B. De Mille production, was presented last evening for the first time before a large number of spectators. Unusual interest is attached to this play because of the brilliant array of screen players with whom it presents. Among these are Kathlyn Williams, Raymond Hutton, Elliott Dexter, Tully Marshall and others, all of whom are familiar to lovers of high-class Art-craft pictures. The story is of unusual strength of conception and its development masterly throughout. The central idea is one of self-sacrifice on the part of an erring husband who prefers death to sacrificing the happiness of the woman who once was his wife. The action is rapid, the interest of that quality which grows as each succeeding scene is unfolded, and its heart appeal is irresistible.

At the Strand.

Dainty Viola Dana has been creating much favorable comment in her production, "The Weaver of Dreams," at the Strand, and which attracted large audiences yesterday and last night. This actress is seen at her best as a simple, lovable country girl, and is similar in its appeal and heart interest to "June" in "Blue Jeans." A drama of the human heart is played and reaches a dynamic denouement. The whole story is so deliciously simple and so charming that it should be seen. The other feature is "The Suspect," a powerful story of Russian bureaucracy, in which Anita Stewart, the best loved actress in the world, stars. In addition comedy and topical reels are shown which round out a splendid bill, which will be seen to-night and to-morrow afternoon and night.

A Treat Promised.

Friday evening at the nurses' graduation exercises in Sydenham St. Methodist church promises to be a real treat. Principal Bruce Taylor of Queen's will address the nurses and a good programme of interesting events and music will fill the evening. The public is invited.
