MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD THE K.C.I. ROLL OF HONOR

THE LIFE AND VIRTUES OF THE LATE R. MEEK PRESENTED. OVER ONE HUNDRED NAMES ARE INSCRIBED.

Mayor Hughes, Judge Lavell, J. G. Elliott and Rev. J. D. Ellis Spoke at Queen Street Methodist Church. In spite of the inclement weather a large congregation was present at the service to the memory of the late Robert Meek, held in Queen Street Methodist church on Sunday evening. Below the pulpit a portrait of the late Mr. Meek, which was presented to him at the beginning of the year on the occasion of his relinquishing the position of superintendent of the Sunday school, was draped with all Union Jack.

Major Hughes, Judge Lavell, J. G. Elliott and the pastor, Rev. J. D. Ellis, made eulogistic remarks concerning the life of the deceased. Mr. Elliott, who had been associated with the late Mr. Meek during some forty years, outlined his early life and the qualities which he had developed to bring him, in spite of obstacles and handicaps, to the successful and prominent position he occupied in Kingston. His life from the time he started as an apprentice in a printing shop, his advance to the position of reporter and his ceaseless through the chairs of the city editor, managing editor, and finally as editorial writer, his acquisition of an expert knowledge of stenography, and the various positions he occupied in municipal, fraternal, and church life were dilated upon by Mr. Elliott.

Judge Lavell spoke of the late Mr. Meek's activities in Queen Street church. The keynote of his career was a spirit of service which was manifested in everything he undertook. It was for this reason that he joined the church, because he considered that it was a powerful organization for good, and that he could do the most service for his fellow men by taking part in its activities. For over a quarter of a century he was a member of the official board, and the board of trustees. "It was a strength to all," said Judge Lavell, "and our confidence in him helped us to rely on him. He displayed sustained interest throughout. He never sought office for his honor, but accepted it as an opportunity for greater service." In his Sunday school he served unceasingly for twenty-four years, and it was this work that was nearest to his heart. "He has left a priceless legacy," concluded His Honor, "in his good example and his blessed memory. His finished task is our unfinished duty. His Worship Mayor Hughes paid a splendid tribute to the worth of the late Mr. Meek. His long service in civic affairs was commented upon, and, even after he had left the council chamber, his work in the Home for the Aged and Infirmed, for the Sargent's Loan, for the Board of Trade and in other ways, was of inestimable value. "Robert Meek occupied a place in civic life," said Mayor Hughes, "that will be hard to fill. His was a life of high ideals and good citizenship. In his passing a vacant place has been left in the city, the Board of Education, the Board of Trade and Queen Street church."

Rev. J. D. Ellis concluded the service with a personal testimony of the spirit of Mr. Meek. He spoke eloquently of the virtues that were his, and of the great loss that had been sustained in his passing. His influence had been wide and even though he has passed to well earned rest his memory, he declared, would be an inspiration to further endeavors by those who have been left behind. Favorite hymns were sung with spirit; Mrs. Evans, Messrs. J. Hodge and A. Haffner rendered fitting solos in finished style.

BURIED IN VETERANS' PLOT. Funeral of Late Private Richard Hearn in Toronto. The Toronto Star says: The funeral of Pte. Richard Hearn, 75th Battalion, took place Saturday afternoon from the chapel of Bates and under military auspices. The service was conducted by Staff-Captain White, chaplain at the Exhibition Camp, the pall-bearers, firing party, and band were from the 1st C.O.R. unit. A number of members of the Army and Navy Veterans and the Great War Veterans accompanied the remains to Prospect Cemetery, where interment was made in the plot reserved for veterans of the present war.

For Empire Day. "Canada's Part in the Present War" is the title of a booklet issued by the Department of Education with a view to assisting principals and teachers to observe Empire Day. It gives a synopsis of each of the great battles in which the Canadians have taken part, and states that thirty-four Ontario teachers have fallen, fifteen have returned from active service, 470 have enlisted and thirty-three have been rejected because of physical disability.

Up Against Hard Task. Quite a snag has been met with the attempt to remove the piles from the temporary bridge over to Barriefield. The Government dredge Tay was at work on the job all last week, and it is stated that out of the hundreds of piles the dredge was only able to pull out a couple. The dredge cleared on Monday morning for Brewer's Mills.

The Saints Not All Dead. There has been quite a run on a downtown grocery which is selling tobacco at the old prices until its stock is exhausted. The dealer says he does not care to profit by adding the extra war tax which he did not pay. The same place is selling matches at the old price until a new stock is received.

Induction Of Elders. At the Sunday morning service in Chalmers church, Principal R. Bruce Taylor, Ross M. McRae and Alexander G. Fleet were inducted as elders. Rev. Dr. Malcolm Macgillivray was nominated, but absence from the city prevented his induction.

NO NEED OF US SEEKING THROUGH BRANCHES AS TO WHAT LIES BEYOND GRAVE. If We Accept the Proof of the Resurrection of Christ—Sermon by Principal Taylor in Chalmers Church. In Chalmers church on Sunday evening Principal Bruce Taylor, of Queen's University, applied St. Peter's words regarding Jesus, "He was not possible that he should be holden of death"—to the Allied cause in the great war. It was not possible that our soldiers, who had given their lives for what they believed to be the cause of righteousness, had died in vain. And yet, since the 21st of March we had lived years as it were, and there were moments when we really wondered if it were possible that we should be beaten and that might could triumph over right. History had not yet recorded such a triumph, and it was not likely that it ever would. While Germany proclaimed that God was on its side, Dr. Taylor hoped that in contrast with this conviction of our enemies the Allies were like President Lincoln, who, in the dark days of 1863, when asked if he thought God was on the Union side replied that he did not know, but he hoped the Union was on God's side. Principal Taylor remarked that in these days patriotism was synonymous with righteousness. He also referred to the intense desire of so many people to-day to seek the aid of spiritualism to give them some conception of what was really beyond the grave. There should be no need of this if we accepted the proof of the resurrection of Christ.

The Old-time Painter Says:— A painted barn means a well kept farm. There's certain season's a farmer will worry himself grey-headed till he gets his crops under cover. —but he ought to be worrying all year round if his barns are not protected with a good coat of paint. IMPERIAL BARN AND ELEVATOR PAINT preserves the property that protects his crops. It's a paint that's just made for that purpose—the protection and preservation of barns, silos, stock buildings, fences and the like. The better appearance it adds to the farm will get a better price when he comes to sell. As for cost—well IMPERIAL BARN AND ELEVATOR PAINT stands against the weather like lightning rods against lightning, it comes costly to be without either of them some day. IMPERIAL BARN AND ELEVATOR PAINT is a good preservative paint, keeps its color and will look good and be good for years. Stevenson & Hunter Phone 53 85-87 Princess St.
