The Theatres

To-night, "Seven Days' Leave."
Undoubtedly the most important event of the theatre of the present season will be the presentation of "Seven Days' Leave" at the Grand Opera House to-night and Saturday, matinee and night. This big London success, now in its fourteenth month at the Yvonne Theatre here, with seats at a premium since its advent in December, 1916, and with a record of box-office receipts, transcending all records in the history of the modern playhouse in London, not even excepting the great box-office record of "Ben Hur," has for its author Walter Howard, a successful master playwright. Robert Campbell, whose name stands for the best things in the theatre is the manager, and has seized upon the production for the United States and Canadian representation. The company to interpret it is composed for the most part of the distinguished players left available by the "big things" over there. Among the names in the list are Lillian Lee Anderson, W. F. Meahan, Daniel Hamilton, Jack Morton, M. J. Harriman, Frank Holland and Leona Courtney. "Seven Days' Leave" is a war comedy; yet attacks the great world drama from what might be termed the inside. Its scenes lie about London. The distant roar of the guns across the channel may be imagined if not actually heard, but the action passes in an environment with which every British is familiar.

"Boston English Opera Company."
If the musical tastes of this city do not differ greatly from those of Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco, the Grand Opera House will be the most popular place in Kingston on Wednesday, May 22nd., when the Boston English Opera Company comes here for a performance of "Martha" in the afternoon and "The Bohemian Girl" at night, in the language you can understand at prices you can afford to pay. This organization, which comes to Kingston after a four months' run in Chicago, as well as runs in Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco, has acknowledged by press and public the finest English singing organization before the public to-day. The cast of principals includes the foremost English singing artists on the American stage, which together with a chorus of unusual excellence comprises an ensemble such as one seldom hears nowadays. With such artists as Joseph F. Sheehan, John W. Warren, Elaine De Sellem, Alice May Carley, Hazel Eden, Florentine St. Clair, Arthur Deane, Francis J. Tyler and a half dozen others of like prominence, it is no wonder that the success of this organization has been the one unique outstanding feature of the theatrical season.

At Griffin's.
Displayed before an audience that tested the capacity of this playhouse, Elsie Ferguson's latest Artcraft picture, "The Lie," was presented at Griffin's last evening. The picture proved itself to be one of the best in which this popular cinema star ever has been seen in this city, and manifested its power and heart appeal instantly, so that it was cordially received. The story of "The Lie" is one that finds a ready echo in the hearts of most audiences because it is filled with those human touches that appeal invincibly to the finer emotions. Another most attractive feature entitled "The Beautiful Mrs. Reynolds," proved tremendously entertaining last night. In this great picture four of the foremost stars in filmdom appear, namely, Caryle Backwell, June Elvidge, Evelyn Greecley and Arthur Ashley. The production deals with the most dramatic and romantic incident in American history—the famous feud between Aaron Burr, senator from New York, and presidential candidate, and Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the U.S. Treasury, and one of the most brilliant statesmen of early American life. It is not only true but is human, romantic, intensely dramatic and also entertaining and vitally interesting. These two splendid attractions, along with the second episode of "The Eagle Eye," complete our programme, which will appeal to all lovers of high-class motion pictures.

BROKE RIGHT LEG.

J. H. Gordon Injured When Load of Hay Overturned.
While driving a load of hay along Alfred street near the fair grounds on Thursday afternoon J. H. Gordon, Catarqui, was thrown to the ground when the wagon was overturned in a drain by catching on a trestle. He suffered the fracture of his right leg below the knee, and was taken to the general hospital in James Reid's ambulance, where the fracture was set.

Taken Back Home.

The woman belonging to Camden East, who was brought to the city to enter an institution, and who gave the authorities the slip shortly after her arrival, was located at the G.T.R. out-station on Thursday afternoon, and has been taken back to Camden East.

Familiar Quotations

Afterwhile we have in view
The old home to journey to;
Where the Mother is, and where
Her sweet welcome waits us there,
How we'll click the latch that locks
In the pinks and hollyhocks,
And leap up the path once more
Where she waits us at the door,
How we'll greet the dear old smile
And the warm tears, afterwhile.
