

Here Are Suits
FULL OF DASH AND GO

They're loaded with young men's suit ideas. There's a style to them that speaks of the young man in no uncertain tone.

The fabrics are distinctive—far different from the styles of woollens used in older men's garments. The styles are closer fitting, shorter coats and close trousers. With all this suit swiftness the prices are within easy reach.

$18, $20, $22, $25 to $30.

Most young men have already discovered that this is the store for young men's clothes; the balance are finding it out right along.

The Theatres

At the Strand.

Hunger, the most primitive of all emotions, is the motive that supplies punch to many of the important scenes in Charlie Chaplin's new $1,000,000 comedy, "A Dog's Life," which will be shown at the Strand Theatre on the last three days of this week. At the opening of the story, Charlie is awakened by the tantalizing odor of steaming viands offered for sale by a passing hot-dog vendor. This leads to a number of spirited adventures with the police. Later on, Charlie's faithful dog, famishing for something to test his teeth upon, digs up a well-lined pocket book that some crooks have buried in the ground. And when Charlie attempts to spend the money that has thus been provided in a nearby cafe, he meets the big moment of his career, for it brings him into contact with a beautiful cabaret singer, who is herself starved for love and kindness. Mae Marsh will also be seen in her latest Goldwyn picture "The Face in the Dark." The Strand screen Telegram will also be shown.

At Griffin's.

Marguerite Clark, widely known as "the sweetest girl in motion pictures," will headline a well selected programme at Griffin's for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in her latest Paramount picture, "Rich Man, Poor Man." The story has to do with a young woman who is foisted upon a rich man as his grandchild. The imposture finally is exposed, but the ultimate end is one of supreme happiness for the young woman. In the development of this theme, which proves that a rich man is, after all, a poor man when he neither loves nor is loved, there are many scenes of great dramatic power filled with thrills, and exerting a distinct heart appeal. This is a photo-play of the highest artistic merit, and one of the best in which Miss Clark has appeared.
