ROY M'ILQUHAM MAY HAVE BEEN KILLED

Unidentified Body Found Near Railway Trucks at River Beaudette.

A telegram received in the city on Wednesday afternoon stated that an unidentified body had been found beside the G.T.R. tracks at River Beaudette, near Colton Junction. Papers on his person indicated that he might be Roy M'Ilquham, son of the late Andrew M'Ilquham of this city. The young man's brother, James M'Ilquham, left on the afternoon train for the scene of the accident to identify the body. The cause of death is not known, as the meagre information of the telegram gave no clue.

The Theatres

At the Grand.

To-night for the last time the Grand will offer the five-reel Vitagraph release entitled, "The Petriced Woman," with Alice Joyce in the leading role. The story is taken from a popular novel, "Anne's Bridge" by Robert W. Chambers, and like all other stories by this author it is brimful of romance and adventure. There is also a two-reel Judge Brown story that deals with boyhood pranks and troubles as told by a man. A comedy, the Pathe News and Trussell and Nelson, comical entertainers, complete the bill that pleased the large audience last evening and which will be repeated to-night. For Thursday, Friday and Saturday there will be a complete change of programme. Beautiful Elizabeth Risdon will be shown in the latest six-reel McClure masterpiece, "Mother." This picture shows the effect of a mother's love on a wild young man who tries to do almost everything but what is right. The Pathe News, a Lonesome Luke comedy and a Judge Brown story, along with the Musical Shirleys, will round out a good evening's entertainment.

At the Strand.

No theatre-goer who desires to see the highest class pictures can afford to miss the splendid bill at the Strand tonight. Pretty Edith Storey in "The Claim," has scored a triumph. Her work is eminently pleasing. Viola Dana in "Children of Eve" is another of the successful and pleasing films the management has been able to secure. It, too, is the subject of favorable comment from the theatre patrons. These, with comedy and topical reels make an excellent bill. For the last three days of the week "Babbling Tongues" is coming, heralded as a splendid film.

At Griffin's.

The master photo production, "The Bar Sinister," again attracted many patrons last evening, who viewed with marked approval this greatest of picture dramas. Few productions have won such unstinted praise and admiration from press and public alike as this remarkable story of racial difference. It is a picture you cannot afford to miss and will be given a final presentation this evening. George Behar, the eminent character actor appearing in "One More American," also came in for a generous burst of approval from many of his admirers who appreciate a star of this calibre. The thirteenth episode of "Vengeance and the Woman" being with these two good features, completes a really worth-while programme for this evening.

Big annual celebration and races at Napanee Driving Park, Dominion Day. Full programme later.
