Face Nothing But Running Sores FROM ECZEMA

No rest day or night for those afflicted with that terrible skin disease, eczema, or, as it is often called, salt rheum.

With its unbearable burning, itching, torturing day and night, relief is gladly welcomed.

There is no remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters for giving relief to such sufferers; no other remedy has done, or can do so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Take it internally and it gets at the source of the disease in the blood, and completely and permanently drives it out of the system.

Miss Mary V. Chambers, Anagnone Ridge, N.B., writes: "I used Burdock Blood Bitters for eczema. I had it when an infant, but it left me. Two years ago it came back. I used doctors' medicine, but it did good only while I used it. At last my face was nothing but a running sore. I saw in the paper what B.B.B. did for people. I took it, and today I am free from that terrible disease."

Feeling of Confidence in Ability of Allied Army to Defend Paris.

ATTEMPT ON IT UNLIKELY

GERMANS WOULD EXHAUST THEMSELVES IN EFFORTS

Paris Well Defended by Forests—A Most Powerful Plain Against An Army From the North and North-east.

Paris, June 12.—Day by day the feeling of confidence in the possibility of the allied army being able to defend Paris against any effort the Germans may make is growing in volume. It is curious to those of us who were here all through the critical period of 1914, when the boche army got to within fifteen miles of the city walls, and troops poured in from four and six miles out, to note that at present, in spite of the recent repeated important progress made by the enemy, there is an entire absence of those signs of panic which characterized the week or ten days immediately before

CASTORIA For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years Always Bears the Signature of the battle of the Marne. It is fully realized now that any question of the surrender of the city is not to be thought of.

No Fear of Result. Under the vigorous hand of Clemenceau all the necessary preparations are being made to make Paris a kernel of resistance of the allied armies, and there are no signs whatever of any fear as to what the result will be.

"Paris is defended," says one writer; "it would be for the German army a gigantic Verdun. Before the Paris front a German army, were it to consist of a million men, could exhaust itself even more quickly than before Verdun. This city can be defended by a minimum loss for us, while the enemy would pay dearly for every foot gained. Paris, if directly attacked, might in a few weeks prove the tomb of the German army, while the allied armies will do all that possibly can be done to save her from humiliation. They will not dare to attempt the effort."

Defended by Forests. The Petit Parisien point out the importance of the fact that Paris is so well defended by forests, and recall that this is the only kind of ground which still preserves its defensive importance. The German offensive in April, it notes, died out when it reached the Nieppe Forest and Carlepoint Wood. The forest-covered heights of Monte de Choisy and Villers-Cotterets Forest have so far proved insurmountable obstacles in the latest German advance. "A forest," says the same paper, "now constitutes the only sufficiently extensive and impenetrable camouflage, especially at this season, for the movement and assembling of troops which cannot be rendered nugatory by aerial reconnaissance. This wide stretch of forest country, which lies between the present front and the capital, constitutes a most powerful plain against an enemy coming from the north and north-east."

25 LAGE STEAMERS WITH AMERICAN TROOPS

A Glad Sight in the Mersey, Writes a Merchant of Liverpool.

Since, June 12.—Senator McCall has very courteously permitted the publication of the following extract from a letter received recently from a Liverpool merchant, and dated May 16th, while the first German drive was along the coast: "It would have gladdened your heart to have seen the Mersey this morning. I counted 25 large steamers (there must have been more, as they extended far out to sea, and it was busy) all swarming with troops from your side. The town is gay with the Stars and Stripes flying from every masthead on public and private buildings, and the populace are heartily acclaiming the new arrivals as they march through the town to their temporary quarters."

JAPANESE TROOPS NOT YET ON THEIR WAY

But Harbin Expects Early Intervention by Them in Manchuria.

Harbin, Manchuria, June 12.—Although it has been reported that Gen. Semenov, commander of the forces operating against the Bolsheviks in Siberia, is hourly in expectation of Japanese troops to support him, there is no confirmation that these troops actually are on the way. It has been learned, however, that strong recommendations have been made by the diplomatic corps for the immediate intervention of the Japanese in the face of the growing German menace. These recommendations have been forwarded to the Governments of the respective diplomats, including the Washington government.

BOTHA IS CONFIDENT.

God Never Deserted Righteous Cause, He Asserts.

Estcourt, Natal, South Africa, June 12.—In an address here Gen. Botha said that South Africa would be unworthy of its free constitution if it did not recognize the call in behalf of the Allied cause. "To-day the Allies are fighting against odds," he said, "but I believe in God and He never allows a righteous cause to fail. Even if Paris fall we will not cease, because we cannot surrender our faith, our freedom." (Cheers.) Gen. Botha urged all fit to immediately enlist. He also dwelt on the success of the scheme of obtaining recruits by substitutes.

DROUGHT IN NORWAY.

Not a Drop of Rain in Two Months—Famine Feared.

Copenhagen, June 12.—According to a special to the Bellingke Tidende from Christiania, not a drop of rain has fallen in the last two months in Norway. The crops have already suffered terribly from the drought, and if there is not plenty of rain in the next few days, a famine is unavoidable. Denmark and Sweden are almost in the same condition, making the situation more serious and rendering help from these countries for Norway impossible.

A New Brunswick Probe. St. John's, N.B., June 12.—The Provincial Government has appointed James S. Priel, barrister, of Moncton, to conduct the investigation into charges preferred by Hon. J. P. N. Baxter at the last session of the New Brunswick Legislature against Hon. William Currie, Speaker of the House.

THE LATE DR. KENNEDY.

He Was a Man of High Attainments.

It is with the sincerest regret record the death of Dr. Alexander Kennedy, on May 17th, at Amherst Island, in his sixty-fourth year. He was the eldest son of the late Dr. Roderick Kennedy, who practiced medicine for many years in Bath. His mother was a daughter of Governor McTavish, of the Hudson's Bay Company. He was born at Bath on June 28th, 1854, and received his early education in the Academy there under the care of that well known educationalist, the late Dr. McGregor, Almonte. Later he attended lectures at the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Kingston, and in due time graduated from Queen's University. After spending a term at St. Thomas' Hospital, London, he returned to Canada and went to Ana Arbor, Mich., where he was associated for a time with the late Dr. McLean, a surgeon of continental fame, who had studied under Syms and Lister, and who was a pioneer on this continent in introducing their methods of antiseptic surgery.

On Jan. 1st, 1878, Dr. Kennedy married Miss Ida, daughter of the late Edward Howard, of Bath. Their family consists of two sons, the Rev. Howard Kennedy, B.D., of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Sergt. Roderick, now in France with the U. S. army. Mrs. Kennedy died several years ago.

Dr. Kennedy had the instincts of a soldier from his earliest years, and held a certificate from the old Military School at Kingston. He was a member of the 47th Battalion, and could tell many anecdotes of old camping days with his comrades. At the outbreak of the Northwest Rebellion he at once offered his services. He hurried to the front and was placed in charge of the Field Hospital at the battle of Cuicuilco.

After the battle was over, when he had first attended to his own wounded men, he did all he could for those of the enemy's wounded who were brought in. He often spoke of the courage and endurance of those misguided men. One Indian brave, who had a large splinter of shrapnel lodged in his body, was informed that it must be removed. The surgeon was about to administer the anaesthetic when the wounded man, although suffering much, scornfully refused, saying "No Squaw." So the doctor applied his forceps, and although a strong pull was required yet the Indian proved to be indeed "brave" and stood the ordeal without a groan.

Dr. Kennedy offered his services during the Boer war, and again at the beginning of the present world war was very anxious to go to the front, but age was against him, and younger men had the preference. It was for him, however, a source of proud satisfaction in his last days that he had a son there standing for freedom and justice.

Dr. Kennedy was a man of more than ordinary ability. Thanks to the solid groundwork laid at Queen's, he was a good anatomist and had a clear and accurate knowledge of the properties of medicine. He was considered an expert in diagnosis. Forty years ago, during an outbreak of smallpox of a very malignant type on Amherst Island, when but a young practitioner, he rendered efficient service which is still remembered by the older inhabitants.

He was kind, sympathetic and attentive to his patients, and would sit up a whole night watching and nursing a critical case. Though not what he called a sportsman, yet he loved to go with his dog and gun off to the woods for a ramble or take his boat and go for a morning's fishing in the bay. There were few who could excel him sailing or rowing a boat. His funeral took place on Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. His pastor, the Rev. C. Dixon, conducted his service and spoke appropriate words. It was his wish to be buried in Glenwood cemetery, and there his body rests under the spreading branches of a maple tree near to where the writer has often heard him naming the constellations and speaking of the magnitudes and wonders of those heavenly bodies, for the doctor took a deep interest in that oldest of sciences—Astronomy.

COMBAT SIN FEINERS.

Seventy-five Thousand, New York Men Combine.

New York, June 12.—Seventy-five thousand New York Irishmen have joined in a nation-wide movement to combat the tactics of the Sinn Feiners, who, led by such men as Jeremiah A. O'Leary and John Devoy, have attempted to identify the agitation for the freedom of Ireland with anti-British propaganda in this country. The movement is being carried on by the United Irish League of New York, 624 Madison avenue, which has 106 branches in New York, and is affiliated with leagues located in America, Ireland, Canada and Australia.

Death of Noted Composer.

Milan, June 12.—Senator Arrigo Boito, the musical composer and poet, died suddenly here. His most noted work was the opera Mefistofele.

Frank Cochrane, minister without portfolio in the Union Government, and ex-Minister of Railways and Canals, who was in Toronto yesterday.
