J. O. Whitlow, the Kentucky blacksmith who sold Liberty Loan to A. K. Macomber and Westy Hogan to W. Viau, broke into the limelight again when his two-year-old filly, Cover Up, by Disguise—Costume, won the third race at Latonia. This was Cover Up's initial start, but evidently she must have worked well, as she was a short piece. The Cardinals are 50 per cent. stronger with Hornsby in the line-up than they are with the Texan on the bench.

OTTAWA AND CANADIAN CLUBS WILL HAVE SAY

Won't Allow Juggling Of Quebec Franchise in National Hockey League.

Though it is a long call from June 19, to the professional hockey season, it is a well known fact that the clubs now in the National League have made up their minds that there shall not be any further juggling of franchises. The reported sale of the Quebec club and the refusal of Percy Quinn to state his object in acquiring the stock and players from the Ancient Capital syndicate has naturally caused a commotion, and already speculation is rife as to whether Quebec will return or whether the franchise will be operated at Toronto. One story is that the Quebec franchise will be used to supplant that of the Wanderers at Montreal, but so far no authentic information could be secured.

"We will not have a repetition of last year's troubles," said an officer of the Ottawa Hockey Club. "If Quinn has really bought the Quebec playing rights, he will not be allowed to shift from place to place to suit himself. If it is not feasible to exercise the franchise in Quebec, it could be suspended until after the war."

The Ottawa and Canadian clubs would appear to hold the whip hand in the National Hockey League for the coming season, as the Toronto Arena's fights lapsed with the close of last winter, and Quebec did not operate at all, while Wanderers withdrew. Local belief is that the operation of two teams in Toronto would not be advisable.

They're Not Normal.

Rube Marquard is sore all through. He is married and therefore doesn't expect to be called to war. Nevertheless, just to be patriotic Rube went to a surgeon and was rejected before he had more than told his identity. "What for?" protested Rube. "Because," explained the surgeon, "we don't count left-handed pitchers as normal."

Some hours later Rube discovered that some of the other Brooklyn players had framed it with the surgeon.

Heinie Zimmerman has tumbled into another batting slump, but his fielding is still of a high order.

AGITATION A MISTAKE.

Prominent Men Declare Curtailment of Sport Harmful.

Prominent members of the New York Jockey Club and others interested in the welfare of the thoroughbred, interviewed regarding Gen. W. B. Haldeman's endorsement of the proposition to suspend racing in Kentucky next autumn, were unanimous in the opinion that such a move would be a great mistake. Major August Belmont said: "Those opposed to racing and the improvement of the horse are attacking a great institution and one that is of much more importance than is generally conceded by the layman. The improvement in the breed of horse is necessary to the welfare, not only of this country, but of the world. All European countries are conducting racing, and in most cases it is encouraged by the government, even providing funds."

"Here we do not ask for Government funds. We give and provide everything. France has a large fund to improve the breed of horses. There is no such fund here. This agitation in Kentucky is most untimely, and I think it is time members of the Remount Department should step in and show the necessity of the continuance of racing to preserve itself."

Richard T. Wilson corroborated Major Belmont's statement, adding that if racing ceased in this country it would be taking a backward step which could not be corrected in some years. "It would be difficult to start over again on the same basis as we are on now," said Mr. Wilson. "I hope the question in Kentucky will be well and intelligently thought out."

Connecticut Debars Boxing.

Joseph R. Mulvihill, promoter of the 20-round bout between Fred Fulton of Minnesota and Jack Dempsey of Utah, which had been arranged for Danbury, Conn., on July 4th, announced this afternoon that the contest had been transferred to Baltimore.

The transfer was due, Mulvihill said, to the action of Chief Egan of the State Police Department, who announced that he intended to prevent the contest from taking place here. It was said here this afternoon that steps will be taken to prevent other boxing matches in the State, on the ground that if the Fulton-Dempsey contest would have been a violation of the law, others are equally illegal.

SPORT OR RIFLE SHOOTING.

A New Development Has Been Caused By the War.

There is something about rifle shooting that attracts all. Young and old rest with zest the story of Old Leather Stocking and his marvellous achievements with his rifle the pride of his life—Kildeer. Shooting has undefinable attractions because it affects so much of the physical and mental make-up—true eye; steady hand, quick action; ready perception; also a sixth sense.

The feel of the rifle butt against the shoulder; the glimpse along the sights; the noise of the report, and the perfect target—all have their part in the attraction of the sport. It is simple, but attractive; and has much of training that goes farther than mere shooting. Will, temper and nerve control must be studied, and in a way that adds a keen personal interest to one's self-analysis, or personal study. Shooting in one form or another was an essential part of the training of many of the world's greatest men.

The real sport does not demand the exclusive use of hunting preserves and large rifles, but in most cases is toned down to the equally exciting, but no less exacting, shooting of the small calibre rifles at short ranges in established shooting galleries; in temporary shooting stands in the basement or barr, or better still, in the open with natural or artificial targets, ammunition and guns. No personal control needed for correct firing. Even at the gallery the enthusiastic or careful rifleman prefer to use his own gun so that he may be sure of sights, trigger pull and accuracy. In the temporary home or neighborhood gallery, the keenest interest, and when several are shooting, the greatest rivalry develops and the sport is at its best.

A rifle shoot immediately organizes itself around a box of cartridges and a little rifle. It draws in the entire party, regardless of sex or age. Experience in shooting develops self-reliance and personal confidence. Accuracy with the rifle is a necessity with the good soldier, and a pride to the civilian.

Novice Needs Advice.

The novice with the rifle, before understanding shooting, should first have personal advice and instruction from one experienced in the use of firearms so that he may know fully the principles of handling a gun; pointing at the target and when, as well as where, to shoot. "Safety First and Perfect Score" should be the motto of every rifle shooter, young or old.

Arrive To Help Giants.

Two new players have arrived from Texas to help the Giants, climb out of second place. They are Sickling, a shortstop, and Ross, a left-handed pitcher, both from San Antonio. Sickling will get a chance to try his hand at second base.

Another pitcher who is slated to arrive is Bill Ryan of Torrington, Conn., who was the star twirler of the Holy Cross nine this spring. Ryan is a left-hander, and attracted the attention of the major league scouts when he pitched a no-hit game against Dartmouth.

He Can Sure Hit 'Em.

Cactus Cravath made his 100th home run last week against the Cardinals. This equalled the record for circuit clouts held by Hans Wagner. The batting of the Philly star, however, is more noteworthy than that of Wagner. Cravath's record was made during nine playing seasons, while Hans Wagner played twenty-one years before making his 100th homer. Cravath's best year was in 1915, when he banged out twenty-four base hits.

Power Boat Cruises.

The Ottawa Power Boat Association has made arrangements for two long-distance cruises. It was arranged to hold the first cruise down the Ottawa River as far as St. Andrew's, Que., which is about 60 miles away at the foot of the Lake of Two Mountains. This will take place on Saturday, June 29th, and the boats will be away over the week-end and Dominion Day. The second cruise will take place in August and will be to the Bay of Quinte. The motorboat enthusiasts will go up the Rideau to Kingston and the down to the Bay. Some may go via the Trent Canal.

Is Now Robbie's Mainstay.

Rube Marquard, the elongated Brooklyn southpaw, is Manager Robbie's mainstay in the box. The Rube got off to a bad start at the beginning of the race and lost his first four games. Now he has got the hop to his fast one and is turning in victories with great regularity.

BONES AS FOOD IN ENGLAND

The British Official Press Bureau sends the above photograph to America as evidence of the food shortage there. Bones are being sold for food, and the price is high, as indicated by the sign, "Five pounds, one shilling." From the United States government comes the statement that a country in such straits not only needs help herself but cannot possibly be expected to contribute to the support of the hundreds of thousands of United States troops now on the other side. The food shortage is real. Save food and "carry on."
