Prescription Service

At Best's store is second to none. That it is appreciated is amply proven by the number of doctors who send their prescriptions here and by the hundreds of satisfied customers.

Both at the main store and at the Branch a "call" drug-gist is always on the job, waiting to compound medicine which may mean life or death. This service means long, weary hours and careful, trying watchfulness, and it is really up to you to take advantage of it and take all your doctors' orders to "Best's."

The "Best" Drug Stores

Open Sundays, 124 Princess St. Branch: 414 Princess St.

RE-EDUCATION OF SOLDIERS

130 ARE TAKING VOCATIONAL TRAINING IN KINGSTON.

Those Eligible for the Classes, Which Usually Last Six Months—Given Vocational Pay and Allowances.

To-day the work of the Vocational Branch is one of the most important factors of the Department of Soldiers' Re-establishment. Re-education courses for 3,861 soldiers, so disabled by war injury as to be unable to resume their previous civil occupations, have been approved by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. This statement represents the status of the work on April 30th. On that date there were 1,956 re-education courses proceeding. In addition 1,668 men were attending vocational training classes as convalescent soldiers who were not yet discharged, throughout the hospitals and sanatoria of the Dominion.

The following classes are offered: Civil service, commercial, cabinet-making, draughting, electrical engineering, farm tractors, general education, higher accounting, motor mechanics, machine shop, pattern making, stationary engineering, shoe-making, telegraphy and X-ray training.

At present there are 150 returned soldiers taking vocational training at Queen's Military Convalescent Hospital.

During convalescence, every soldier in hospital returned from overseas is eligible to take any of these classes. After discharge any soldier who has been incapacitated so that he cannot resume his former occupation is eligible. This decision having been arrived at, he is then examined by the vocational medical officer, Captain A. J. Randall, who certifies whether he is physically incapacitated so that he is unable to return to his former occupation and also that this incapacity will not prevent him from successfully engaging in the new occupation chosen. The Disabled Soldiers' Training Board, which consists of the district vocational officer, the vocational medical officer, and the member of the local advisory board, Hugh C. Nield, then examine the papers and decide (a) Whether the man is eligible, (b) the course to be followed, the length of this, and where it is to be taken.

This recommendation is then forwarded to the Department at Ottawa for final concurrence. As soon as this concurrence is received by the district office, the man is notified. If his home is out of town a free transportation warrant is forwarded for him to come to Kingston to begin his course.

While taking this course, which usually lasts for six months, the student is in receipt of vocational pay and allowances, which vary in amount according to his pension, and whether he is married. Upon the completion of his course, if his attendance and conduct have been satisfactory, he is granted an extra month's pay and allowance.

A Good Appetite A Great Blessing

The Occasional Use of a Tonic Will Ensure a Good Appetite and Good Health.

Loss of appetite during the summer months is a common trouble, and indicates that the digestive system is out of order. Lacking a healthy appetite many people—especially women—go too long without food, or eat sparingly because food seems to distress them, and it is no wonder they complain of being constantly tired and unable to stand the hot weather. All this simply means that the digestive system is not doing its proper work and that the nutriment that should come from the various organs of the body. In other words the blood is growing thin and watery. In such cases what is needed is a summer tonic, and among all medicines there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Take a short treatment with these pills and notice how promptly your appetite returns and your power to digest food improves. Your food will then do you good, your strength will return and you will no longer complain that the hot weather tires you out. Mrs. M. Kelly, Windsor, Ont., says: "I suffered from indigestion for several years, and although I was constantly being doctor'd, prescriptions they did not cure me, and the result was that I was greatly run down, and always feeling poorly. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as I soon found they were helping me I continued their use until I was fully cured, and am now able to properly digest any food I take. As a tonic and blood-builder I know of no medicine to equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I recommend them to all in need of a medicine."

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old-time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Suffers Serious Burns. Chester, June 29.—Mrs. William MacDonald, wife of the M.P.P. for North Bruce, was badly burned on the right side, right arm and hands when her clothing caught fire while she was cleaning a dress with gasoline. Mrs. MacDonald was alone in the house at the time, and, with great presence of mind, put the flames out by wrapping a rug around her body. Her medical attendants are hopeful of saving Mrs. MacDonald's life.

Persistent rumors are in circulation at Amsterdam that an epidemic of typhoid is raging among the German soldiers in Northern France. This is held responsible for the delay in resuming the offensive.

Owing to the recent outbreaks the Siberian railways are completely tied up, preventing the plan of the Germans to rush their war prisoners homeward.

Letters to the Editor

Wearing Polished Brasses. Bexhill-on-Sea, Eng., June 5.—(To the Editor): I wish to ask what good it does to send men to the front to be killed or wounded by the enemy when any sane man, whether he has been in the front line or not, knows that if the brass on our equipment is polished it is bound to attract the attention of enemy airmen. Yet one sees the battalions going up the line with polished brasses. The officers seem to think that polished brass is more important than the men's lives. Our artillery men, also the airmen, complained to the infantry about our shining brass attracting the enemy's attention, yet no attention was paid to it. It was in the front line last summer and after two weeks my brass was bright in the sun. All brass would and could be darkened easily by exposing it to the effect of chlorine gas a few minutes. I know by experience when getting my gas respirator tested. The buttons came out very dark. Fritz has more sense than to polish any metal. I was at the fourth divisional school, and only a matter of ten miles back of the line, and we polished up every morning. Could not some one with authority take the matter up and stop the silly practice? There are many things that could be mentioned, but privates do not care to report them, as if they were found out swift punishment would be their lot. An order making it a crime to polish any metal within twenty miles of the front line would be a blessing to the men and give better satisfaction all around. Yours respectfully, F.—FRED SCOUTEN.
