At the Theatres

At The Grand.

A surprising new play with Alice Brady as the star will be shown at the Grand to-night and also Friday and Saturday. The play bears the title of "The Spurs of Sybil" and it tells of the manner in which Sybil Drew wins her spurs in a little with the world. She has been brought up by a wealthy aunt who feels that the life she is leading is making her unhappy and discontented, so the aunt gives her some money with instructions to win her spurs by earning her own living for a year. Starting and unusual are the adventures that befall her in this quest and the story is filled to the brim with exciting incidents. Miss Brady appears in this picture in a different role, in which her charm, beauty and ability are seen to the best possible advantage. Besides this feature there will be a Lonesome Luke comedy, an O. Henry story, the Pathe News and other reels. The vaudeville will consist of Hogue and Hardy in a comedy act that will be a decided change to Kingston audiences.

At Griffin's.

In the wide range of screen portrayals with which the name of Mary Pickford is indelibly associated that of Jean Mackaye in "How Could You, Jean?" doubtless will rank as one of her most artistic and enjoyable characterizations, while the genius and engaging personality of "America's Sweetheart" is evidenced in every picture in which she has appeared thus far, her charming work in this splendid picture will prove a new source of delight to her multitude of admirers and add another character delineation to her gallery of screen portrayals. The genius of Mary Pickford manifests itself more forcibly with each new portrayal and in her latest vehicle her exquisite artistry is seen at its best. The above photograph, together with that wonderfully interesting serial, "The Eagle's Eye" and other features will be shown this evening and also Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening.

Military News

Lieut.-Col. Gillespie is actively engaged in the cause of greater production, spending his week-ends and late afternoons in the hay fields at Pittsburg.

Capt. Airey Jackson, Gananoque, led a mule train over almost impassable ground under heavy barges, maintaining a supply of water and rations. For this he has been awarded a Military Cross.

A.P. and B.T. school is now under way at Ottawa. The present course will end on August 2nd and General Maunsell, G.S.O., announces that an exhibition will be held at the Rockcliffe ranges on that date and all officers who can make it convenient to do so are invited to attend. The general, who is a returned officer, has been able to put into practice many practical ideas in the various courses of training, and he takes a keen personal interest in every phase of the work which is invaluable in an administrative head.

Rev. J. M. G. Hatch and Rev. W. J. Taylor have been appointed chaplains with the hon. rank of captain.

Major Wm. S. Wood, late 38th Battalion, has been employed as musketry instructor at Valcartier camp.

Capt. Wm. L. Maloney has been appointed camp paymaster at Petawawa.

Lieut.-Col. A. E. Bywater, 2nd Battalion, E.O.R., is confirmed in the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Brig.-Gen. Maunsell, G.S.O., and acting G.O.C., in district orders issued today direct the attention of commanding officers of the depot battalions to the great importance of strict attention to the syllabus for the training of recruits.

Lieut.-Col. R. D. Street, public representative under the M.S.A., is in the city.

CONCEALS BOTTLES IN POST. Peter Dynes, Mimico, Fined $400 For B.O.T.A.

Toronto, July 25.—The newest and most complete device for concealing liquor from the gaze of the public was exhibited in the county police court when Peter Dynes, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, Mimico, was charged with a breach of the Ontario Temperance Act.

A. E. Sarvis, Inspector Ayeazst and License Inspector Mackenzie displayed the latest invention of man's ingenuity. The invention consisted of a galvanized iron tube about six feet long, containing four shelves wide enough to accommodate a whiskey bottle. This tube was inserted in a hollow newell post attached to the bannister of the main staircase in the hotel.

When the discovery was made by Mr. Sarvis there were three empties and one full bottle of whiskey found in the improvised dumb waiter. The inspectors found several glasses on top of the table near the post. "The table is used for regaling guests. I never knew there was a drop of liquor in the place," said Dynes. In giving further evidence, he stated that he bought the hotel in April and paid $500 as the purchase price. The former owner lives in the hotel.

"You stand in a different position to the unfortunate who buys a bottle of whiskey and sells it for a trifle more than he pays. You keep a standard hotel and are responsible for what takes place," remarked Magistrate Brunton in imposing a fine of $400 and costs.

Evolution of a Hero. Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph. A Battle Creek woman danced three times with a good looking lieutenant and then said: "Pardon me, sir, but your face is somewhat familiar. Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" "Yes, madam, you have," the officer responded. "I was your milkman more than three years."

Her Mouthful. London Sketch. "My dear Miss Lane, do let me help you to some more pudding." "Well, thanks," said the young woman; "I will take some more, but only just a mouthful please." "Hilda," said the hostess to the maid, "fill Miss Lane's plate."

Experience vs. Theory. "Why don't you get out and hustle? Hard work never killed anybody," remarked the philosophical gentleman to whom Rastus applied for a little charity. "You're mistaken dar boss," replied Rastus. "I've lost four wives dat way."
