

Just the Suit You Want is Here

Don't know where you'll find the suit you want if you can't find it here.

We hate to hand ourselves bouquets, but we're going to say that we've the best spread of suits you can find in a day's journey — a long day, too.

The smart young fellow or the older head can both find their suits here.

More smartness or better tailoring and fabrics never went into suits.

If you conclude to invest in one of our handsome suits we would tax you only such reasonable prices as $20, $22, $25, $28, $30 or $35.

HAD SOME CURIOUS TRAITS

DAVID KENNEY HAD THIRTY YEARS' SERVICE TO HIS CREDIT

With the Rennie Warehouse in Toronto, and Took Great Pride in His Work—Was a Privileged Character With the Firm.

The Toronto Telegram has the following story regarding David Kenney, the aged man who died in the Kingston General Hospital on Friday last:

"Dave Kenney's 'corner' will know him no more. His fellow employees in the Rennie warehouse on Jarvis street, some with almost as long a record of service as Dave's thirty years, looked towards the 'corner' where the old man used to work so carefully and methodically and faithfully as they pass today, almost expecting to see the well known figure there, then suddenly remember that he had passed on.

Dave Kenney was seventy-eight and a privileged servant of the firm in many ways. The 'corner' was made comfortable for him by the addition of a radiator, and they tell in the 'store' how he would come in of a cold winter morning after his walk to work—he always walked, and scorned street cars—and there would sit down leisurely and take off his boots and place them at the heater, and prepare for his task by a thorough warming.

"He was the most extremely methodical parceller we had," said one of the firm, "and took great pride in putting up his shipments in compact and neat packages, the label must be in the centre exactly or he was not satisfied. Helpers could never satisfy him, his pride in the quality of his parcels was too great to have it suffer by amateur assistants. 'Take a lesson from Dave Kenney,' was the reproof that careless ones got in the parcel rooms."

"The old worker was a privileged character. For many years it was his habit to leave his work for a couple of months in the summer and usually he took a trip to his beloved Ireland yearly before the war. He lived alone and talked little about his own personal affairs. He was a well-known figure at the public libraries, was well read and interested in world events. He was a warm friend of Dr. Patterson, of Cooke's church.

He left his work on July 5th last and at a tea he gave his old friend and fellow-worker, Joe Lewis at his room at 101 Maitland street, said he was taking a trip to the sea shore. He left the city shortly after and then the news came of his death in a Kingston hospital on July 26th, and the bundle of bills amounting to $1,300 that he had with him. He had made his trip to the sea and was returning from Montreal when he took ill on the train and had to be removed to the hospital.

POLICE COURT BREVITIES.

William Collins Will Undergo Treatment in a Hospital.

The case of William Collins, arrested a week ago on a charge of vagrancy, was to have been tried up in the police court Wednesday morning, but it was announced that Collins was removed to Rockwood hospital to undergo special treatment. He was examined by doctors after his removal to the jail, and it was decided best to have him undergo treatment. He went suddenly insane ten days ago as a result of the intense heat. He imagined that he was an advance agent for Tom Marks' show and after painting his face black he paraded the down-town street boosting the shows. The case is a most pitiable one, as Collins for years has been a hard working and industrious man.

An adjourned case in which liquor was found left in one of the local express offices was finally disposed of. License Inspector McCammon securing the necessary order to confiscate it.

Military News

Major A. H. Bick, Artillery, is gazetted attached to Headquarters. He is a Queen's graduate.

Lieut. Edward Crossley Plant, Ottawa, reported as having been wounded in action, was severely wounded in the left leg by gunshot on July 23rd, is a nephew of Mrs. Stewart, wife of Kingston's postmaster.

Major S. E. L. Thompson and Capt. G. B. Reed, A.M.C., have gone to Deseronto on duty.

Q.M.S. T. W. Bucklee went to Deseronto on Tuesday and will return on completion of duty.

Lieut.-Col. W. T. Connell, A. M. C., has been granted leave of absence from Aug. 11th till Aug. 24th.

Sunday, August 4th, is to be observed in all military camps in Canada by special military services and a garrison church parade will be held in Kingston on that day to St. George's Cathedral at 11 a.m.

Dr. J. J. Ross, who gave a series of illustrated lectures at Barrfield Camp under the auspices of the Military "Y," has left for Valcartier Camp. His lectures made a great hit with the men. Last night was movie night in the big "Y" tent. The pictures were thoroughly enjoyed. To-night is guessing contest night and a checker tournament for the camp championship. Good prizes are offered. The men of the N.C.O.'s class will clash in a volley-ball contest. It is one of the most popular twilight sports played by the men at camp.

The boys in camp welcome reading matter such as magazines, books, etc. Those wishing to donate books or magazines might phone No. 1933 and a call will be made for the contribution.

Next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock the men of the N.C.O. class will put on a treat-night. The men of this class have shown a great variety of talent and a good evening is assured. Movies will also be a feature.

The C.A.M.C. and the E.O.R. will play a baseball match on Tuesday and a regular athletic meet will be staged, provided there are sufficient troops in camp. Prizes will be offered. Three hundred men have arrived in camp this week and more are reporting each day.

At the Theatres

To-night, "Lest We Forget."

It's here at last, that great war picture that you have all been waiting for. It will be shown at the Grand to-night and also Friday and Saturday at both matinee and night. The name of this wonderful picture is "Lest We Forget," and it has for its star beautiful Rita Jolivet the world renowned actress and survivor of the Lusitania. It was the actual presence of this talented star on board the ill-fated steamer when it was torpedoed that made her the logical person for the titular role and her vivid recollections of the details of the tragedy enabled her to give a great deal of material help towards the making of this tremendous production. "Lest We Forget" is a picture that would not have existed otherwise. Not only has this feature many such scenes of similar type, but it has also other and more enjoyable scenes showing more pleasant things that will give the watcher many a quiet smile. Besides this eight reel photoplay there will be the Pathe News and two reels of the very best comedy obtainable to complete a high class evening's entertainment.

At Griffin's.

When one wishes for a health-giving tonic, one yearns for something to laugh at-as well as admire. Inasmuch as pictures in which Douglas Fairbanks, the athletic, smiling Art-craft star, appears, provide both of these desirable elements, it follows that their health-giving qualities are indispensable and of that nature, which a physician's prescription, however carefully compounded, can provide. "In 'Say, Young Fellow,' the newest Fairbanks' photoplay, which headlines a bright bill at Griffin's for the last half of the week, the genial "Doug," appears in a new and novel characterization, quite different from many of his portrayals in recent pictures. In this sterling production he is a daring, impulsive, resourceful, optimistic newspaper reporter, whose peculiar methods, emphasized as they are by most vigorous action, make this one of the strongest characterizations of the brilliant Fairbanks' repertoire.

Ben Morrison was slightly injured when he fell at the home plate in the baseball game between the Y.I.C.B. 'A' and the Red Sox on Wednesday evening. His injuries were attended to in the General Hospital.

A shed owned by John Nelson, Rideau street, was slightly damaged by fire, which broke out from some unknown cause at 2:45 p.m. on Thursday.

The City Park is a real glory land these days. Everything looks fresh and beautiful.

Familiar Quotations

God's plans, like lilies pure and white, unfold; We must not tear the close shut leaves apart. Time but reveals their calyxes of gold. And it through patient toil we reach the land Where tired feet, with sandals loose, may rest. Where we shall know and understand. Perhaps then we shall say, God knew the best.
