TRAVERS' DREAM HAS COME TRUE

The Keeley Mine Has At Last Proven to Be a Valuable Asset.

YIELDS SUM OF $100,000

BUT IT IS TOO LATE TO MAKE AMENDS.

W. R. Travers, General Manager of the Defunct Farmers' Bank, Served a Term in the Penitentiary.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—The faith of W. R. Travers in the Keeley mine has been justified, although no development that can now occur could make amends to Mr. Travers for spending from January, 1911 to September, 1915, in the penitentiary at Portsmouth, and nothing further can be done with regard to the mine that would help the shareholders of the defunct Farmers' Bank.

W. R. Travers was sentenced on January 16th, 1911, to six years in the penitentiary on charges connected with the wrecking of the aforesaid bank. It was shown among other things that he had invested a portion of the bank's funds in the Keeley mine, and experts expressed the opinion during the case that the proposition was extremely speculative.

Now, by the payment of $100,000 the company known as the Associated Gold Fields of West Australia, has secured possession of the mine. When the bank assets were being disposed of by G. T. Clarkson, the liquidator, only a nominal sum was bid for the Keeley mine, and it was held by the liquidator until three years ago when an option was given to the company which has now exercised its right of purchase.

The $100,000 obtained will not benefit the unfortunate depositors, as the bank's failure was so disastrous that the assets were not sufficient to meet even the outstanding circulation, and the sum newly secured will merely recoup the other banks which stood surety for the payment of the notes.

A recent Cobalt despatch said that unofficial estimates placed the value of ore in sight at the Keeley mine at upwards of $250,000, the ore being for the most part low-grade, and another despatch received last night says that operations on the property, which is located in South Lorrain, are being enlarged, additional men being added to the force early this week. Mr. Glack, formerly mill superintendent at the Porcupine V. N. T., is in charge of the work.

Following the breaking of the Farmers Bank in the year 1910 and the suspension of operations at the Keeley mine as a result, the property remained in idleness for a time. Finally it was optioned to English interests, and was being operated at the time of the outbreak of the present war. An extension of time, good until one year after the close of the war, was requested and was given, presumably nobody at that time anticipating such a prolonged struggle. As a consequence the property has remained in idleness ever since.

Decided to Resume.

Following a visit in the early summer by Dr. J. McIntosh Bell, however, it is understood, upon the recommendation of Dr. Bell, the English interests decided to resume work. Already several tons of ore have been shipped, said to contain something like 1,000 ounces to the ton. As to whether the operation of the Keeley will be on an aggressive and extensive scale it has not yet been officially stated.

A number of strong veins carrying smallite, nicolite and low silver values are in evidence on the property, and with the price of silver at around $1 an ounce, the chances of operating the old mine with commercial success appear to be good. Also due to considerable high-grade ore having been encountered from time to time in its early operation, together with the fact that the Waterloo mine, adjoining, mined something like two million ounces from high-grade ore bodies, the chances of the Keeley being found to contain rich shoots of ore would also appear to be good.

The price obtained for the Keeley mine would have reimbursed all the Toronto depositors of the Farmers Bank had it been obtainable eight years ago, since these deposits amounted to only $30,000, or it would have retired the legitimate capital of the bank, which William Laidlaw, K.C., calculated at that time was about $100,000. It was shown during Travers' trial that when the bank was organized the liabilities exceeded the assets by about $41,000, which amount would have been easily covered if the mine in question could have been disposed of for anything like its present value.

Sparks Caused Fire.

At 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon sparks from the waterworks pump house chimney set fire to the roof of a dwelling close by, and did damage to the roof to the extent of $25. The dwelling is part of the McLellan estate. The firemen were called.

About a hundred members of the local Red Cross Society and their friends had a picnic to Lake Ontario Park on Thursday afternoon. The Methodist church from Cataragui also had its annual outing.

(Canadian Press Despatch) Washington, Aug. 2.—Joint action between Japan, the Entente Powers and America in Siberia is assured. ## At the Theatres

At The Grand.

Hundreds of patrons of the Grand Opera House were keenly disappointed last evening when Manager Branigan was forced to cancel the first production of "Last We Forget," owing to the distributing office at Toronto sending the famous film to the Grand Opera House, London, in mistake. Manager Branigan immediately got busy and announced to the disappointed patrons that the film would be re-forwarded to Kingston via express and will be here in time for the afternoon performance to-day. The master film will be shown to-night, and, judging by the interest shown last night, should be greeted by a capacity house. Matinee and evening performances should also draw a large Saturday patronage. "Last We Forget" features Rita Jolivet, one of the survivors of the Lusitania disaster and one of the screen's most popular characters, and the story is said to portray some thrilling episodes in a most artistic manner.

At Griffin's.

That ever popular screen star, Douglas Fairbanks, scored another triumph with his new photoplay, "Say, Young Fellow," which was presented to a large audience at Griffin's last evening. The picture was an excellent feature. Mr. Fairbanks' are, and it demonstrated its popularity in a most emphatic manner. In this picture Mr. Fairbanks is a newspaper reporter who does stunts which the average cub reporter might well envy. He is interviewed before, and the unearths a fraudulent scheme in a small factory town which is run by a big man, a sort of boss. In accomplishing these journalistic triumphs the Fairbankian athletic stunts are continuously in evidence, including vaulting, scaling the front of a building, putting the band of infatuated factory hands and the like. This photoplay, together with the thirteenth episode of that timely serial, "The Eagle's Eye," and also Rose Coughlan in "Her Surrender," will be shown this evening and to-morrow afternoon and evening.

MAY CALL HER "HONEY"; PUTS BAN ON "HUN"

War Has Bearing On Case Of Non-support Before Magistrate.

The name "Hun" may be a "love-dovey" name in times of peace, but not so in times of war. You may call the girls "honey" but don't call them "Hun."

The war had a direct bearing on a case, which came before Magistrate Farrell, in the Police Court, on Friday morning. A well-dressed young man stood accused of the non-support of his wife. Husband and wife stood side by side and Magistrate Farrell, after getting the particulars of the case, enlarged it for a week, in order that the two might reach a satisfactory settlement.

From what can be learned it appears the entire trouble between the two, who were married some time ago in Buffalo, N.Y., is the fact that the wife is a German, while the husband is British. This has made things very disagreeable. The wife does not care to be referred to as "Hun" and one thing led to another till the charge of non-support came as the climax. However, the wife has a snug bank account, and it is said would not suffer if her hubby did fail to look after her wants.
