Lieuts. Mullin and McEachern, conducting officers with a recent draft to England, have returned to Canada and reported at headquarters Saturday.

Col. Clyde Caldwell, who is on the headquarters staff at Ottawa, will be escorting officer of Prince Arthur of Connaught during his stay in the province.

The following particulars are available concerning the award of the Military Cross to Lieut. Vernon Bland Crothers, of this city.

"During an attack he led forward supports through heavy barrage and continued at duty though badly wounded."

Four young men, dwelling in the outskirts of Rentrew, have virtually been living an outlaw life in their endeavor to escape the Military Service Act. Three of them are known to be of German descent, and the other Irish. Two of them have been at Kingston, but deserted. Endeavors will be made to arrest them.

Pte. Palmer is high man in the "Y" checker tournament.

In a game sizzling with excitement and solid hitting, E.O.R. came out on the long end of the score at Barrieffield last night against the A.M.C. It was a battle royal from start to finish. Cronk for A.M.C. hit the longest home drive seen at camp this season.

P. J. Lee, area supervisor of Military Y.M.C.A. work, was here yesterday. He gave a short address to the men in camp.

After the League ball game last night a hot game of volleyball was staged between men from the training school representing Brockville and Ottawa. Brockville won.

A RETURNED SOLDIER IS REPORTED MISSING

Mystery Surrounds the Disappearance of Pte. William H. Smith, Ottawa.

Pte. William H. Smith, a returned soldier, whose home is in Ottawa, has disappeared under the most extraordinary circumstances. He has been missing since April 15th last, and although a constant search has been made for him by the police, no trace whatever can be found of his whereabouts. He has a wife and four little children in Ottawa.

Pte. Smith returned from the front in March last, and on April 9th came to Kingston to get his final discharge after two years' service. He remained in Kingston till April 15th, when the necessary papers were handed to him, and then he disappeared as if swept off the face of the earth. It is believed that he may have suffered mentally as a result of his service at the front, and wandered away.

IS LIKELY DROWNED.

Clothing of Major Sharp Found on Cataragui Bay Bank.

It is believed that Major W. J. Sharp, casualty officer for Military District No. 3, with offices in the local Armouries, was drowned at an early hour on Saturday morning at the disused intake pipe about half a mile beyond the outer station. His clothes, watch, boots, cane, cap and other apparel were found neatly folded on the bank, with a towel lying nearby by George Coxworthy, 27 1/2 Hickson avenue, who keeps several bathhouses in the vicinity. At first Mr. Coxworthy thought that someone was in bathing, but no one could be found in the vicinity, and he concluded that the owner of the clothes was drowned. He informed the police at ten o'clock and summoned Corbett's ambulance to the scene.

Policeman Lesslie Clark and several of the Dominion police were on the scene and attempted to locate the body. Sergt. Gordon Murray, of the C.A.G.S., made several dives to find the body, but he was unsuccessful, and up to a late hour this afternoon the remains had not been located in the weeds. The major was in his office late on Friday afternoon talking with the sergeant-major regarding appointments and promotions, and outlined several details that he would have to attend to on Saturday morning. He left in good spirits and was not seen by his staff again.

Major Sharp was one of the most popular staff officers in the armouries, and his sudden demise will be a source of great sorrow with all ranks. He was a captain in the 21st Battalion when it left Kingston, and on his return he was bombing instructor at Barrieffield Camp in 1916. In January last he was taken into the records office, and when promoted to the rank of major he assumed control of the casualty office, where his services were eminently satisfactory. His wife and two small children reside in the city.

T. Sak Chian and S. Y. Chen, the two Vancouver journalists who were visiting their fellow-countrymen in the city, left on Saturday morning for the west.

At the Theatres

At The Grand.

For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the Grand will offer a programme of vaudeville and pictures that will be a treat to see. For the feature, Corrine Griffith will be seen in her latest and most talked-of vehicle, "Love Watches." The story deals with a young girl who refuses to marry a preoccupied book-worm and chooses a dashing Parisian count of many affairs, who promises to never again look at another woman. But a young widow pursues him and Jacqueline, in a fit of jealousy, flies to the apartment of the harmless book-worm. Both the families are in a state of confusion, all but the father of Jacqueline, who firmly believes that love watches over its own and is a talisman that protects either man or woman. This wonderful photo-play is one that you don't want to miss, and besides it there will be the Pathe News, a good single reel of comedy and two other films. The vaudeville, an act that comes to the Grand highly recommended, will be sure to catch everyone's fancy.

At Griffin's.

That ever-popular screen star, Douglas Fairbanks, scored another triumph with his new photo-play, "Say! Young Fellow," which was again presented before a capacity audience last evening. The picture is an excellent one, as all of Mr. Fairbanks' pictures are, and it demonstrated its popularity in a most emphatic manner. See this picture this evening, and also the balance of our most entertaining programme.

FORECAST OF DAMAGE.

Dr. Shutt Says Letter On Oats Is Sign of Ruin.

In the opinion of Dr. Frank T. Shutt, assistant director at the Experimental Farm, the letter which observers of natural phenomena have found on oat leaves, and whose presence they have interpreted as forecasting the end of the war, is not a "B" nor the figure "9" either, but possibly the letter "R" instead.

But Dr. Shutt does not consider the mark as a good omen. Instead, he says that its real portent is that another war must be waged—not against the Hun, but against rust, which destroys thousands of dollars' worth of grain every year.

It is not an unusual occurrence for rust to form in the shape of the letter "R" on oat leaves, but every year since the war started credulous persons, seeing the letters for the first time, have jumped at the conclusion that it is a mystic sign foretelling the end of the war or the end of the world in the immediate future.

Air Force Plans For Sports Day.

Deseronto will have its civic holiday on August 7th. The R.A.F. will have their annual sports meet on that day and it promises to be a fine gathering. The place will be at the Rathbun air-drome. There will be flying exhibitions "staged," when all "stunts" will be shown. The committee here is to arrange an aerial duel, a replica, as far as possible, of the air fighting on the front.

Men famous in college and club athletics; men who have won laurels in universities as Toronto, McGill, Queen's, Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania are in the corps at Deseronto and many fast races will be run. In the evening the "fly guys" will entertain their guests at a concert and dance.

How French Women Work.

Pte. Lewis Innes, of the 146th Battalion, in writing his article, said: "If the women of Canada had to work like the French women they would have something to think about. He says the crops in France are looking fine, and they would need to, for the women put it in with only old men to help them, and they have the implements to work with like we have in Canada."
