Military News

The G.W.V.A. band is to give a concert at Queen's Military Hospital on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. R. J. Drysdale, Rochester, N.Y., will spend two weeks at Petawawa Camp as special chaplain to the soldiers.

Sergt.-Major Hewson, of the Royal Canadian Engineers, who went overseas early in the war, has been granted a commission as lieutenant. He held seven first class certificates. He formerly worked for the firm of Elliott Bros.

Lieut. Ford Ralph, of the Royal Flying Corps, eldest son of F. E. Ralph, Livingston avenue, Kingston, formerly of Lansdowne, has been appointed an instructor in England. The friends of the gallant young officer will be pleased to hear of the rapid strides he has made and the success to which he has attained.

Brig-General G. S. Maunsell left for Ottawa this afternoon to be present during the visit of H.R.H. Prince Arthur of Connaught. The guard of honor will be composed of returned soldiers in co-operation with the Governor-General's Foot Guards and the 2nd Depot Battalion. His Royal Highness will inspect Rockcliffe camp and the Fleming Home.

Major Harold T. Horsey, chaplain services, was a visitor at headquarters on Thursday.

INDIA'S MEMBER OF IMPERIAL WAR CABINET

Sir Bupindra Singh, Maharajah of Patiala. He is the head of the Sikh Community.

Refused $7,500 to Play Ball. "Davy" Robertson, the former brilliant outfielder for the New York Giants, has refused an offer of $7,500 to play baseball. He is serving with the Mine Sweepers. He is doing this willingly, too.

That is another example of the self-sacrifice of help-ers. All cannot do that sort of thing, but there are many ways of helping in the great cause. A three weeks' holiday on a farm will give you a chance to do some good, and give that old conscience an easy feeling. This is everybody's war. Help some.

GREAT CYCLING WEATHER

There's Plenty of It Coming This Season

One of the most delightful cycling months of the whole year, as a rule, is September. The weather is usually just right, neither too hot nor too cool, and the roads in fine shape after the summer traffic. In many years this applies also to October, and even November will usually be found to have a good many days which can hardly be improved upon for taking a spin.

For a person who rides to work, as most of us do nowadays, the cycling season extends well on toward Christmas. In fact a surprising number of riders never lay aside their wheels all winter, with the exception of an odd day which is extra cold or stormy, but even if we are not prepared to follow such strenuous examples, we would still find pretty fair riding during a good part of the winter. This is especially true in cities, where the snow is no longer allowed to lie on the streets and form banks or slush, but is promptly carried away, leaving the streets clear for cycling.

It is surprising how easy it is to fall into a rut in our buying habits as well as in anything else and stick there regardless of the facts or sense of the case. A striking example of this is the way in which many riders used to think it was no use buying a bicycle after about May 24th. A few years later the date was believed to be July 17th, but during the past few years a number of bicycles have been sold right up to November and December.

This change may have been hastened by the difficulty in obtaining bicycles when they are wanted in the early spring. The wise buyer avoids the chance of delay or disappointment by making sure of his bicycle the previous fall and having it right on hand where he can take it out for a spin the first day in the spring.

This fore-handed argument applies with special force right now. While no definite announcement has been made by the manufacturers, there is every reason to suppose the steadily increasing prices of raw material and the higher cost of labor will force a corresponding increase in the price of bicycles as in everything else. We may therefore expect to pay more money for bicycles next spring and it is just a question if there will be enough to go around, even at the advanced prices.

A hint to the wise is supposed to be sufficient, and bicycle dealers are doing everything in their power to protect their customers by urging them to purchase now and thus enjoy the long balance of the riding season this year and at the same time ensure themselves against a probable advance in price next season.

Manitoba will produce forty-seven million bushels of wheat this year, it is estimated.

At the Theatres

At The Grand.
"The Only Road," the five-reel Metro wonderplay starring Viola Dana, which was shown at the Grand last evening, was truly a romance of the great south-west. The story dealt with a young girl who had been brought up by a poor peon and she was never aware of the fact that she was an heiress. But when a harum-scarum young fellow was sent out to the west by his father to reform, things began to happen. He meets the girl and saves her from marriage with a fortune hunter and through a series of very interesting circumstances he has to marry her much against his will. Then Fate takes a hand and after many very amusing incidents everything is arranged and the girl comes into her rights and the young man is forgiven by his father. The picture was exceptionally good and was one of the kind that only comes once in a great while and none should miss it. Other reels on the bill were the Pathe News, a Lonesome Luke comedy, a two reel Judge Brown story and other films. The vaudeville consisted of the Farrison sisters in a posing act; that was away above the average and received much applause. This programme will be given another showing to-night and also to-morrow both matinee and night.

At Griffin's.
Coming direct from its phenomenal success on Broadway, New York, where it has been proclaimed by press and public alike as the greatest motion picture production of the age, "God's Man," the wonderfully fascinating story of Broadway with its night life and elite underworld, was shown last evening before an unusually large audience at this theatre. H. B. Warner, the idol of America's stage and screen, plays the extremely difficult role of "S. Hommedien," and his acting is very fine. He makes a human and sympathetic figure of a character which in less skillful hands might have been totally incomprehensible to the average screen audience. It is really a masterpiece of work. It holds one spellbound. Don't fail to see "God's Man," the acting is superb, the cast is remarkable, the story intense. It will make a better man of you and give you food for thought even when it's all over.

Wagner's Job on the Force.
Hans Wagner, one of the greatest ball players yet produced, is a policeman, working under the United States Government as his war stunt. Hans made money at the game, but he is not content—he wants to help out as long as the war continues. That's the great idea these times. The Canada Food Board asks all to do something towards production. Being good sportsmen, here's a chance —let's help with the harvest.
The Strand Theatre re-opens Saturday at 2 p.m.
