Minister of Education Makes Announcement for 1919 Exams. Hon. Dr. Cody, Minister of Education, has made the following announcements in reference to next year's examinations: The reinstatement of British and Canadian history as one of the subjects in the junior high school entrance examination for 1919 is a matter of importance to the teachers and the schools. The department has made arrangements which, it is believed, will stimulate and direct the study of history in the schools. The value of the subject in promoting patriotism, in providing material for a clear grasp of Canadian civics, and in expounding Canada's imperial relations and her place in the Empire, is generally recognized. A circular will shortly be issued which will contain a definite outline of the course both in British and Canadian history, with selected periods and topics, a minimum of chronology and a statement of the particular sections in the text-books dealing with the topics and sub-topics to be examined upon. The circular also contains a special list of books suitable for school libraries and for the teachers' use in preparing the lessons. In the introduction to the circular will be found a brief and instructive exposition of the method of teaching history. The course, as laid down, should prove to be easily within the compass of any teacher and fascinating to the pupils. As an illustration that the modified course is not too heavy, it may be noted that while the present text-books contain 587 pages of reading matter, a total of only 237 pages is assigned for study in form IV. The course in grammar for form IV, of the public and separate schools has been lightened and amended by omitting easy parsing and the paper set in the subject for the high school entrance examination will emphasize the application to composition of the principles of correct speech. "Turn to the Right" is at the Princess Theatre, Toronto, at this week, and is regarded by the critics as one of the best plays of its kind ever produced. It is playing to a crowded house every night, and tells a story of romance and "the single life" and it is one that appeals to
