

Boys' Clothes

Youth is nimble, full of sport, strength and spirit; boyhood is the May-season of life.

All boys are real boys in the summer time at least.

But don't restrain the boy, rather bring him here and let us fix him out with clothes that will withstand the severe service he is bound to give them.

There's nothing desirable in clothing for the boy, large or small, that cannot be found at this store of good clothes.

Suits $6.50 up to $15.00, and all prices between.

Waldron's

At the Theatres

At the Grand.
If the circumstances made the situation possible, would you sell yourself to the highest bidder? All those who saw "To the Highest Bidder" at the Grand last evening saw what Alice Joyce in the part of Barbara Preston did when she had to decide this question. Don't miss seeing this interesting film when it will be shown for the last time tonight along with the other features on the bill, which are the Pathe News, a good comedy and two other reels, besides Page and Dorita in a classy musical novelty that has been a decided hit during its engagement here. For the last three days of the week Carlyle Blackwell and June Elvidge will be seen in their latest World Picture, entitled, "The Way Out," which is a story that has its climax on a European battlefield. It is a picture that will surely hold the interest because of its highly entertaining value. There will also be the Pathe News, a Lonesome Luke comedy, an O. Henry story and other reels. To round out this programme there will be an act of superior vaudeville that will be of the kind that pleases.

Coming, "Turn to the Right."
"Turn to the Right," a play of mirth and morals which Winchell Smith and John L. Golden will present at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, Sept. 5th, has been well advertised locally by persons who witnessed it during its long runs in New York and Chicago last year. Visitors in both cities were directed to it as "the best play in town," and it is doubtful that any theatrical offering of the past decade has been favored with heavier out-of-town patronage during its metropolitan engagements. For those who witnessed "Turn to the Right!" at the Gaiety Theatre, New York, its forthcoming engagement will afford an opportunity to renew acquaintance with Ruth Chester, Edgar Nelson, Samuel Reed, Dewitt Newing, Harry Humphrey, All Sincoff and other members of the original cast. The complete production is being carried on tour, and the local presentation will lack nothing of the sincerity or attractiveness of the metropolitan performances.

Coming, "Everywoman."
"Everywoman" enjoys in its presentation that skill and effectiveness which appeal most strongly to those persons who are stirred and thrilled by this sort of theatrical production. For everybody is stirred and thrilled at times, so "Everywoman" is the sort of play that gives joy to everybody. Everybody will admire the richness and the completeness of the production and everybody will see and understand its popular appeal. The simplicity of its allegory renders the play quickly impressive, and the rather unusual pictorial values of the production and the orgiastic drift of the story otherwise capture and hold interest. The idea upon which the play is based is thus made articulate; that is, in the parlance of the theatre, it "gets over," and "it gets over" very decisively. Interest in the acting is centred in no one part. Percy Parsons, player of "Nobody," would seem, perhaps, to be the most impressive of the players, and if all women were as beautiful as Miss Paula Shay as "Everywoman" who in statuesque form and beautiful face is fitted to assume the ideal of all her sex, the feminine world would be rid of many of its problems. "Everywoman" should be seen by all who champion the ideal and the beautiful in everyday life. "Everywoman" comes to the Grand on Saturday, Sept. 7th, matinee and night.

At Griffin's.
This evening will positively be the last opportunity afforded patrons in this city to see the celebrated Herbert Brown triumph, "The Lone Wolf." This picture has proven tremendously popular with Kingston audiences during the last two days, and is well worth a visit to this theatre to-night. Handsome Bert Lytell and Hazel Dawn play the principal characters with finished artistry, making "The Lone Wolf" a picture to be remembered long after being seen. In addition to this superb feature picture, the great new serial, "A Fight for Millions," is shown in its second chapter, with William Duncan playing to excellent advantage in a thrilling role.

DRIFTED INTO CAMP.
Did Accident Occur During Squall on Wednesday Morning?
Was there a drowning accident? On Wednesday morning a canoe, which contained a couple of oars, floated in near Cedar Camp, Dead Man's Bay, the summer home of A. W. McMahon, and this led to the belief that some persons or persons might have been caught in the ferocious squall which prevailed on the lake and river all day. There was considerable water in the boat. It may be that the canoe broke away from some of the river landings. Mr. McMahon advertised the finding of the canoe in to-day's Whig.

Suburban Road Work.
The Suburban Area Commission met Wednesday afternoon to consider several matters of importance. The concrete bridge a mile east of Collins Bay has just been finished, and it is considered one of the best pieces of concrete work in the country. Work on the proposed bridge on the middle road in Pittsburg near the Finger-board will be begun at once. A. Rankin, M.P.P., attended the meeting.

British Casualties.
London, Aug. 28.—British casualties reported in the week ended to-day totalled 14,484, compared with an aggregate of 8,411 reported in the previous week. The casualties are divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, 2,581; wounded or missing, 11,903.

Wednesday was the last day this summer for the Kingston letter carriers to enjoy their half holiday. On Wednesday next the mail will be distributed throughout the city.

Officers commanding units are requested to forward a certified nominal roll of men under their command entitled to chevrons for overseas service. This information is for every officer, N.C.O. or man in M.D. No. 3, and individuals should see to it that their names go forward through the proper channel with the least possible delay. The chevron is the official distinctive mark for military service overseas, and as it can be worn on civilian clothing no man will be able to say that he has nothing to show for his service.

Captain A. Stewart, A.M.C., having returned from "on command" with the British recruiting mission, U.S.A., is taken on the strength of No. 3 A.M.C. Training Depot.

Brig.-Gen. T. D. R. Hemming, C.M.G., G.O.C., has ordered that the employed personnel of the garrison shall be given a smartening-up drill and the G.S.O. has issued instructions for the practical working out of the same. Heads of branches and offices will forward to the G.S.O. at once in duplicate a nominal roll of all employed ranks under their command affected, and will arrange for such names as appear thereon to parade in the armouries at 4 p.m. on Sept. 2nd. This drill will be proceeded with daily between the hours of 4 and 5 p.m. It has been found that no work of importance will be interfered with after the hour selected that cannot be performed by the female clerical help. The result of the drill will be a very great improvement in the appearance of the men wearing the uniform not only on the streets but about the offices and in the presence of their official superiors. The casual observer, too, will get a better impression of our soldiers.
