Sporting Notes

It's often been said that umpires have unhealthy jobs. It's a cinch compared to being a German ambassador to a Bolshevik court.

Fleider Jones is inspecting timber in a west coast shipyard. Having spent several years with the St. Louis Browns, Jones knows timber when he sees it.

Prohibition of baseball will be effected on September 15th. Authorities pick on that date as the anniversary of baseball's downfall as well as John Barleycorn's.

With baseball and whiskey gone, there is nothing left to it but to enlist. They say France boasts of both these advantages.

The Cubs and the Red Sox will clash in the world's series, which fact prompted a reader to ask which team will win. Although it is customary here never to give tips, the reader is advised that the Cubs will win if the Sox don't, and that the Sox will win if the Cubs don't.

An ardent swimmer explained the other day how to do a diving flip. Summarized, his advice was to come down heads.

Franky Bull was almost beaten by "Gab" Lisner in a wrestling match the other day. In other words, Gab almost threw the bull.

FITZSIMMONS HIT HARDEST

Jeffries Declares Cornishman Gave Him Severe Punishment.

"No one ever hit me half as hard as Bob Fitzsimmons," said Jim Jeffries one day when Jeffries was in his prime.

They rattled when Fitzsimmons hit them. Not alone did they rattle, but they curled up and called it a day's work.

Many of Fitzsimmons' fights ended sensationally as well as peculiarly. Fitz made several of them turn somersaults and do other freak falls when he was winning, but when Fitz himself took the count he hit the floor in an ordinary manner.

Fitzsimmons' knockout of Jim Corbett still lives fresh in the minds of all who say it. Corbett was the first victim of the solar plexus punch. Corbett was on one knee when counted out, blindly groping for the ropes, which were several feet from his reach.

Fitzsimmons met Abe Coogle, a big Chicago bruiser, in 1891. Abe had size, weight and everything to commend him as a contender. Fitz took a dislike to him.

Abe made a good flash in the opening round. In the second Fitzsimmons swung his right on Abe's jaw, and Abe fell flat on his back. He did not move a muscle after hitting the floor until a minute or so later. He never entered a ring again.

And Peter Maher also furnished a sensational knockout for Fitzsimmons. They fought at Langtry, Tex., a long way from home but before a big crowd. The fight lasted a few seconds and Peter went completely out.

A flashy knockout was that handed Jeff Throne by Fitz. Robert had a grudge against Jeff and promised to hand him a thorough beating. This he did.

Belleville Hockeyist Killed. Pte. G. V. Whitty, of Stirling, Ont., and well known in the east as a hockey player of considerable repute, is reported as killed in action. Pte. Whitty played in the O.H.A. junior series for Belleville in 1914, and was selected for the all star junior team. He played for the Belleville intermediates in 1915. He was wounded at Paschendale Ridge in November, 1917. He went back into the trenches in March of this year and was killed in the present offensive.

Can't Keep Ernest Out. Sergt. Ernest Barry, the sculling champion of the world, who was badly wounded on the western front, has been discharged from hospital, where he spent six months, and will rejoin his regiment for six months' light duty.

"Neway" Lalonde, the Canadian player, who has returned from the coast, where he played lacrosse this summer, says that the Patricks are already preparing for the coming season. "Neway" sees no reason for abandoning the game in the east next winter.

It is said that Nationals will try again this winter to break into professional hockey.

LIEUT. JOHNNY OVERTON

Great Yale athlete, who has been killed in action, in France.

Lieut. Overton established collegiate records in the mile and two mile runs. Soon after the United States entered the war, he sailed in the marine corps and was promoted to Lieutenant.

A letter received by Overton's father from one of his associates said: "On the morning of July 19 we went over the top. Johnny Overton was killed. I helped to bury him in the field."

SUES FOR SALARY.

Hal Chase Has Taken Action Against Cincinnati Club.

Hal Chase, suspended first baseman of the Cincinnati National League team, late to-day sued the Cincinnati Exhibition Company, owners of the Cincinnati Baseball Club, for $1,800, which he claims is salary due him and unpaid. He appends a copy of the contract which, he says, was entered into by him and the company January 31st, 1917, and which stipulates a salary of $7,800, payable $650 each two weeks during the playing season. The contract, he sets forth, was for a period of two years.

Sunday Baseball Booms Overseas.

Baseball not only has "caught on" in England, but also is being played there on Sundays. The Anglo-American Baseball Club, which is operating at Chelsea football grounds, Stamford Bridge, a suburb of London, has obtained permission to play games, with the result that huge crowds are turning out. A recent game on the first day of the week attracted 40,000 spectators. The week-day games at a rule draw all the way from 10,000 to 20,000 persons.

The Montreal "Fixers."

The Ottawa lacrosse team were expelled from the National Lacrosse Union on Saturday for failing to play their scheduled fixture against Nationals on the Maisonneuve grounds at Montreal. Their failure to put in an appearance was in fulfillment of their threat that they would do so if the N.L.U. championship was not awarded to them.

THE CUBS APPEAR TO HAVE THE ADVANTAGE

Toss of the Coin Results in "the Break" For Mitchell's Team.

Plans for the world's series apparently favor the Chicago club, winners of the National League pennant. The series will begin on Wednesday, September 4th, in Chicago, where three games in succession must be played before the Cubs and Red Sox, who seem to be sure winners of the American League flag, go to Boston. Unless rain interferes with the games the Chicago Cubs will not appear in the Hub until Monday, September 9th, where, however, they must remain until the question of supremacy has been finally settled.

The Red Sox, therefore, must play the first three games in the presence of hostile fans. If they receive the kind of treatment to which the Giants were subjected at White Sox Park last year they may find it a difficult task to maintain their equilibrium.

The Cubs during the engagements at home should have a pronounced advantage, and if they should win two of the games in Chicago they would stand at least an even chance to win two more in Boston. Whether the games in the Windy City will be played at White Sox Park or not depends entirely on the demand for reserved seats, but in view of the fact that the prices have been reduced one-half by the commission it seems probable that the American League grounds will be selected.

NEW SPORT INTRODUCED.

The Chariot Race Popular Among Naval Stations.

The chariot or drag race is the latest sport to make its appearance in the United States naval training stations.

The race was originated and introduced in the stations of the first naval district by George V. Brown, district athletic director of the Navy Commission on Training Camp Activities, and it has been recommended for adoption in other stations by Walter Camp, head of the athletic division of the Training Camp Commission.

One distinct advantage of the chariot race is that any number of men can participate. Then, too, the apparatus required is simple, and consists merely of two round poles about two inches in diameter and a chariot, all of which are connected by ropes. Six men grasp the first pole and four men the second several feet behind, these men composing a team. Attached to the second pole is a sled or chariot, which contains one man, and the game consists of dragging the chariot and its rider over a given course.

When the race starts every team runs a stated distance, which covers the first lap. At this point another set of teams take up the race and covers the second lap, and the race continues as long as there are sets of relays. The winner is determined the same as in an ordinary relay race.

THE REO MOTOR CARS

"The Gold Standard of Values."

The Reo Roadster A Popular Car

No Reo model has gained greater popularity in the same length of time. Designers have striven for years to devise a seating arrangement for four passengers that would permit all passengers to ride between the axles.

In a word, since everybody likes to ride in the front seat, the aim was to place all occupants as near that point as possible. This leaves the driver's movements unimpeded by other occupants and his vision clear on all sides.

It is essentially an owner-driver's car—this big, handsome roadster—so in the case the driver is usually the buyer.

The wide seat accommodates two comfortably—luxuriously. Then, when there is a fourth, the extra seat is opened up—and it is as comfortable as any in the car.

Come down to our showrooms and look it over. You'll like it.

Ten Per Cent. to Charities. Safety First, Jess. The suggestion of the National Commission that players donate ten per cent. of their share of the series receipts to war charities met with prompt action by members of the Chicago club, champions of the National League, who unanimously voted to comply with the suggestion.

Safety First, Jess. Jess Willard, heavyweight boxing champion, will not box to defend his title until the war is ended, he announced at Denver, Col., Saturday. Instead of going over to fight in France, Jess will confine himself to exhibitions, the proceeds of which will go to war charities.
