CHIC SPORT FROCK

Sleeveless Jacket May Be Separate Coat or Part of Dress.

For Summer Wear, Wool Jersey Cloth, Velveteen or Light Weight Velours Is Suitable.

The sleeveless jacket shown in the sketch may either be a separate coat, as so many of them are, or it may be made to form part of the dress with which it is worn.

With the addition of the sleeveless jacket, however, the garment becomes a very chic sport frock. The little coat is cut quite plain in front, and the back is centered by a wide plain panel. The belt is set under this back panel, brought around to the front, crossed and then drawn to the back again, where it is looped to form a sort of sash.

A review of fall fabrics divulges the fact that plaids are to be very much in evidence next season, and the frock here shown might be very well developed in plaid worsted and plain color self fabric or velveteen, as a school frock for a girl of high school or college age.

However, fall is some months distant as yet, and for present wear the materials previously suggested, voile or gingham and plain color linen or crash, would be very smart and serviceable.

Nothing Out of Fashion Now.

Can anyone tell exactly what, if anything, is out of fashion at the present moment? In times gone by materials, trappings and one thing and another were laid away as out of fashion, and from time to time various articles were brought forth from old chests that had hardly seen daylight for almost a score of years.

Head bags, although in use for some time, are quite as good as ever, but are too expensive to ever become overpopular, and now come some of the exquisitely embroidered bags quaint and beautiful. On frocks we see quilting and tiny quilted edges. Cording and any other form of decoration known to our grandmothers has been called into service.

Cameo Effects in Cotton.

Cameo effects (two shades of a given color) are very much the thing in printed dress cotton this year. Usually the printing is in lighter tone on a darker ground, giving the cameo suggestion, but the patterns may be in scroll or stripe effect, not suggestive of cameos—as one ordinarily understands the term.

It is truly wonderful how fascinating most things are to people that are none of their business. Every young man has a great future ahead of him, but it usually persists in staying there.

USE MADE OF FOOD CARTONS

Oatmeal Containers Easily Transformed Into Attractive Scrap Baskets for the Table.

"Why in the world are you Hoovering all these oatmeal cartons? I always burn mine," said the visitor in astonishment as her friend opened a cupboard and disclosed a shelf filled with a collection of oatmeal cartons, the round kind.

"I will show you," said her friend, leading the way into the living room and taking an object from the table. "What do you think of that? I call it a table scrap basket."

"A table scrap basket!" exclaimed the visitor. "What could be more useful and what could be prettier?"

"You know," explained her friend, "I always save the odd lengths of wall paper left over. There is a box full in the storeroom. One of these pieces of wall paper is of a wonderful blue, the kind with green in it, a mat tint. I took a carton, cut and fitted the blue paper to it and pasted it on. Then there was another end of wall paper left over from the dining room frieze. It was a French paper showing a riot of gaily colored birds in a jungle of leaves and flowers. From this paper a rich blue parakeet, balancing on a red stem, was cut and pasted on the darker blue background, taking care to paste it over the seam where the paper on the carton is joined together.

Then the edges, top and bottom, were bound with furniture gumme which matches the blue paper. For handles I took two large rings such as are used for curtain pulls, covered them with buttonhole stitching in black and hung them on either side of the carton, forming little drop handles. The bottom and inside of the carton were dyed a deep red, harmonizing with the touches of red in the parakeet. Other cartons were covered with a light yellow paper and mounted with brown and yellow birds with gumme to match and black handles.

"My table scrap baskets, I find, make useful and much-appreciated gifts. And that is why I am Hoovering the oatmeal cartons."

SAND PILE KEEPS TOTS BUSY

Affords One of the Greatest Amusement for Youngsters—Can Model Clay Designs.

What else is there with which little children's hands can be kept more satisfactorily occupied than sand? Just turn the children loose in a pile of sand, with a spoon, a pail, a cup or anything with which they can dig or shovel.

You do not like sand in the house? If you have a suitable place for it, it need not make any trouble. An old kitchen table turned upside down, with the legs cut short and put on the other side, makes a good table for sand. A piece of burlap or denim placed under the table keeps the sand from being scattered over the house.

With clay, a simple little cradle may be made. The child first rolls a piece into a ball, cuts it in half with a string. One of these halves forms the lower part of the cradle. The other he cuts in two, using one piece for the top and remodeling the other into a "ball for baby."

Birds' nests with eggs can be made with clay; also apples, oranges, cups and saucers, and even animals may be attempted.

VOILE AND ORGANDIE FROCK

Of the many varieties in summer frocks this of voile stands out as a pleasing and attractive dress. The frilled organdie breaks the long skirt line, and is used for collars, cuffs and belt.

The revolving breakfast tray is a comfort which American women would do well to borrow from their English cousins. It makes it possible to do with less exertion.

Every young man has a great future thing for nothing he gets a little additional experience. If a woman is unable to think of anything else to say, she repeats what she said to other people.

Leonardo da Vinci Amaze. Though written four hundred years ago, Leonardo da Vinci's book on anatomy has only recently been published, and surgeons are only now discovering the marvels it contains.

Lecturing recently on it in London, Prof. William Wright pointed out that when it was written the circulation of the blood, osmosis, oxygen and the microscope were all unknown. All doctors believed that the arteries were full of free air and that the blood was aerated in the heart. The interior arrangement of the heart was also misunderstood.

But Leonardo denied that air entered the heart, and wrote that the blood was "refreshed" in the lungs; he described accurately the anatomy of the heart and large blood vessels and the action of the muscles of the chest and abdomen in respiration.

Electrons and Atoms. Atoms are minute particles of matter, each about one-three-hundredth part of an inch in diameter. They are so small that if the earth were made up of baseballs it would be a fair model of a drop of water made up of atoms. The electron is smaller still. It has a diameter of about one-hundred-thousandth that of an atom, so that if an atom were represented by a sphere 100 yards in diameter the electron would be about the size of a pin's head. It has been said that the electrons which form an atom can be compared to a swarm of gnats in a cathedral or other large building. As atoms are made up of electrons, so molecules are made up of atoms.

A good hard fall is often the result of trying to stand on one's dignity. Some men are locked up for safe keeping and some for safe keeping.

ONE CAUSE OF HIS SUCCESS

Letter of Charles Dickens Reveals Care Which Great Writer Gave His Books and Readings.

In a recent sale of Dickens' autographs in London this letter, written while he was in the United States, appears:

"I should never have made any success in life if I had been shy of taking pains, or if I had not bestowed upon the least thing I have ever undertaken, exactly the same attention and care that I have bestowed upon the greatest. Do everything at your best. It was but last year that I set to and learned every word of my Readings, and from ten years ago till last night I have never read to an audience but I have watched for an opportunity of striking out or inserting somewhere. Look at such of my manuscripts as are in the library at Gads' and think of the patient hours devoted year after year to single lines.

The weather is very severe here, and the work is very hard. Dolby (his manager) having been violently pitched into by the mayor of New Haven (a town at which I am to read next week) has gone off boldly this morning with defiant written instructions from me to inform the said mayor that if he fell to make out his case he (Dolby) was to return all the money taken, and to tell him that I will not set foot in his jurisdiction, whereupon the New Haven people will probably fall upon the mayor in his turn and lead him a pleasant life."

HOW INDIANA LOST CITIZEN

Escapade That Caused Youth to Turn His Thoughts Toward the "Wild and Woolly" Region.

Harry Coonse, ranchman and real estate expert in the far Northwest, returned to Indianapolis from his home near Seattle after an absence of fourteen years. It is not widely known, but Mr. Coonse, when a boy of 15, started in business as a helper on a delivery wagon of L. S. Ayres & Co.—started and ended his dry goods career in an unusual and interesting manner.

Harry, out of his first month's wages, had bought a rifle and a box of cartridges. One evening in Park avenue the delivery man went into a house with a package, leaving Harry on the driver's seat in charge of what was common at that time—a Texas mustang—well broken, but still worth watching. Instead of holding the lines Harry spent the interim handling a new rifle. As often happens, the gun was discharged and the bullet struck the mustang. Harry made one grab for the lines, missed, tumbled off the seat and the wagon disappeared down the street, strewn packages in its path.

At dawn the next morning the horse and wagon were found in the Pleasant run bottoms, near the place where the furnaces of the Citizens Gas company now stand. Harry had already resigned.—Indianapolis News.

Gunners Making Glorious Record.

The gunners of the armed guards on merchantmen have made a record of which we may be justly proud. The contests of the Silver Shell, which sent down the submarine which attacked it; of the Morel, on which the men stayed at their guns until the flames flared up to the top of the smokestacks on the burning ship; of the Campana, whose gunners fought for hours until their ammunition was exhausted; of the J. L. Luckenbach, which, though under a rain of shells, hit nine times and temporarily disabled, fought a submarine for four hours, before aid arrived, and later managed to reach port under her own steam; of the Armenta, which, though torpedoed, was saved through the courage and resources of its captain, crew and armed guard; of the Narajo, the M... the Petrolite and a dozen notable enough to be recorded in the naval history of the United States.
