MUST PAY CONTRACT MONEY

BEFORE PUTTING STEEL WORK ON CONCRETE FOUNDATION.

Kingston Construction Company Will Not Stand for Any Money Being Withheld by the Utilities Commission.

When asked how the Kingston Construction Company viewed the stand of the Utilities Commission expert with regard to the concrete foundation for the new gas tank, George C. Wright stated to the Whig that the work was done according to specifications and under the direct supervision of the expert and his assistants, and if there was anything wrong it was the fault of the specifications and not of the construction company, which carried out its contract fully. The company, he said, would not stand for any money being withheld from its contract money for repairs that "might have to be made," as intimated by Mr. Burnett to the Commission at its meeting Tuesday afternoon. The contract money must be paid before the company will permit the Commission to put steel on the concrete work. The contention of the construction company is that the specifications were faulty. Furthermore, Mr. Wright stated that the lining of the tank was an extra and the company would be paid for this work.

THIRTY SHIPBUILDERS STAGED A WALKOUT

Apparently No Notification Was Given to Officials of Company.

About thirty employees of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company created quite a sensation when they walked across the market square about half-past one on Thursday afternoon. They marched to the labor hall, and after waiting for a few minutes outside, went to an inner room for discussion. The Whig questioned some of the men as to the reason for the walk-out, but none of them seemed to know why they had quit work. One of the men stated that there had been a dispute but he did not tell the reason. Another man stated that they were not out on strike. The officials at the shipyard had received no notification of the walk-out when asked by the Whig for the reason. Apparently the men left without notice, and at a late hour on Thursday afternoon the company was trying to find the cause. One of the shipbuilders said they would not likely return to work until Monday.

WRITES OF THE STRAIFE.

An Athens Soldier in the Heavy Fighting.

In a letter dated August 18th to his parents, Postmaster and Mrs. Johnston, Athens, Signaller H. Hibbert Johnston, serving in France, writes:

"I am sure you have read of the events of the last few days. We certainly gave Fritz the surprise of his life and he acted accordingly. Our advance was grand and I shall never forget it, though I should not like to go through it all again. There were plenty of souvenirs for everyone. I have several myself, some of which I am sending home now. I gave a German prisoner a drink from my water-bottle and at the same time relieved him of his life."

"The Canadian mail arrived in the midst of all the confusion and I received my share. A letter from home is the greatest bolster there is for a fellow here."

"I am writing this letter at 2 a.m. I have yet four hours of my signal duty to put in, but will be allowed to rest in the morning. You will not hear from me as often as usual and you will have many anxious moments. However, I will send a card as often as I can. I am well and that counts for ninety-nine per cent. here."

Signaller Johnston is serving with a wireless section of the Canadian Field Artillery and has been once wounded.

A DROWNING AT DELTA.

Richard Matice, of Plum Hollow, Was the Victim.

Delta, Sept. 11.—On the morning of Sept. 9th, Richard Matice, of Plum Hollow, with his two grandsons, Charles Babcock and Richard Matice, left their home for Delta, where they had planned for a day's fishing on Lower Beverly lake. The forenoon was spent very nicely, landing for dinner with a small catch of fish. When dinner was over they proceeded to cut a pole, which they intended to use as an anchor-post. Having secured a suitable pole, they again went out on the lake, and endeavored to set the pole. While pushing the pole down into the mud, and were leaning heavily on it, their boats drifted out from under them. As a result all three were thrown into the water. Charles Babcock succeeded in clinging to the boat, but the old man and the other boy were left struggling in the water. The boy tried to save his grandfather, but being taken down twice by him, was forced to let him go in order to save himself. Mrs. (Dr.) Chapman and a friend were in a boat nearby. They came to the rescue, but it was too late. The boys were sent to the village for Dr. Kelly, but all hope was gone, and the doctor could do nothing for him. The body of Mr. Matice was brought to the village and put into the hands of the undertaker. The deceased leaves to mourn, his loss, his wife, four sons, and two daughters. He was a man of seventy-five years, and an old resident of Plum Hollow.

Military News

Captain Palmer has made an inspection of the Renfrew armory and expressed himself as satisfied with the care taken of it. Coal, however, is needed, and although an order for 60 tons was given some months ago, none has been delivered as yet. It is not improbable, Capt. Palmer says, that soldiers may be located at Renfrew for training in the near future.

WERE RUBBER RINGS TAMPERED WITH?

Kingston Lady Found Odor of Carbolic Acid in Jar of Fruit.

Has some person been tampering with the rubber rings used on preserving jars?

It was reported that at Muskoka much preserved fruit had been spoiled and that people had been made very ill as a result of something being wrong with the fruit. It is stated that the rubber rings had a strong odor of carbolic acid.

A Kingston lady informed the Whig on Thursday morning that she opened a jar of her fruit this week, and that it had such a strong odor of carbolic acid that she was unable to use it.

As a result of the complaints, the Government is making an investigation.

Familiar Quotations

No, no, it is not wasted, all that love I thought,
It is embodied in all truth and right;
These pass not out to-night
Nor turn to naught—
Labor and love and thought.

At the Theatres

At the Grand.
Bessie Love, the glad girl, will be seen at the Grand to-night and also tomorrow, both matinee and night, in the five-reel Pathe feature, "A Little Sister of Everybody," and in this happy play the charming little star will play a role in which her sweet, winsome personality will be shown to full advantage. In these days of war pictures and such as this attractive picture will prove doubly attractive because it is a sparkling play in which there is a strong human element that will endear to the hearts of every patron of the Grand this adorable girl who appears in one of the best pictures booked in a long time. "A Little Sister of Everybody" is the kind of film that you have been waiting for, so don't stand the chance of missing it, but be on hand to-night. To complete the bill there will also be a Lonesome Lake comedy, an O. Henry story, and the Pathe News, along with other good reels. An act of superior vaudeville has been secured in the shape of Dick and Alice McAvoy with their songs, dances and music that comes here highly recommended for its originality.

"A Daughter of the Sun."
"A Daughter of the Sun," telling the story of a Hawaiian Butterfly, by Lorin Howard and Ralph Kettering, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, Sept. 14th, both matinee and night, under the direction of Ed. W. Rowland. It is said to be one of the most spectacular productions of the season. There are three acts and seven scenes, each a distinct creation in the scenic art. Opening with a reproduction of the Patio at Honolulu just at dawn, the audience witnesses the gradual flooding of the distant mountains in the riotous colors of the rising sun. From that time each scene offers a new delight in the depicting of the beauties that have made the Hawaiian Islands famous the world over. In story the play is not unlike "The Bird of Paradise." It is one of romance set to dreamy, Hawaiian music reproduced by a group of natives.

At the Strand.
"The Half Breed," which will be shown at the Strand Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, is a photoplay which will hold your interest from start to finish. The company, when making this production, found it necessary to film a forest actually ablaze. This particular forest was the famed Carquinez Redwood, under the control of the Government. The authorities immediately expressed disapproval of the idea, fearing that the mimic blaze desired by the picture people might develop into an actual conflagration. A whole fire brigade, with fire buckets and chemical engines, was lined up by the director and taken over to the chief forester of the reservation. This concrete demonstration of efficiency and preparedness immediately won his consent. The ground was thoroughly soaked and sprays kept going around the scene of action. In the course of the filming "Dexter" lost his eyebrows and eyelashes from the singeing flames and his hands were badly blistered. The flames could not singe Fairbanks' famous smile, however.

THE SEASON'S SURPRISE.
Depot Battalion Pat. C.A.S.C. in Lead of Military "Y" League.
The surprise of the season was registered at Barriefield Common, on Wednesday afternoon, when the Depot Battalion won from the Dentals in a game of the Military "Y" League by 7 to 4. Nearly everyone counted on the tooth-pullers as the safe bet, but the sledge-hammer hitters in the battalion nosed out the win, placing the Army Service Corps in the lead of the league. The teams: Depot Battalion—Neville, 3b.; Fredericks, c.; Kenny, 1f. and p.; Connors, 2b.; Boyer, r.f.; Tuffey, s.a. and l.f.; Struss, 1b. and p.; Bushie, c.f.; Empey, l.f.; Hagerman, 1b.; Wilson, r.f. Dentals—Adams, c.f.; McCartney, 1b. and r.f.; Spoor, 3b.; Riviere, c.; Smith, s.s.; White, 2b.; Millan, l.f.; Hartford 1b.; Adams, pinch hitter; Welch, r.f. The score by innings: R. H. E. Depot Batt. . . . 00030013—7 9 3 Dentals. . . . 010000003—4 9 4 Umpires—Joyner and Alyea.
