TWO BISHOPS PREACHED INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

IN ST. PAUL'S CHURCH AT THE SUNDAY SERVICE.

Bishop Bidwell Dedicated New Organ—Bishop Farthing Preached Thanksgiving Sermon in the Evening.

The annual harvest thanksgiving service was held in St. Paul's on Sunday. In the morning the ceremony of dedicating the beautiful new organ was performed by Bishop Bidwell. At the conclusion the rector, Canon W. F. Fitzgerald, stated that the church was free from debt and he thanked all who contributed to the organ fund, particularly Messrs. Hunt, Monk and Cherry, who gratuitously assisted in installing the instrument. The special thank offering is to be applied to repairing the church and in buying fuel for the winter.

Bishop Bidwell was the special thanksgiving preacher and he laid great emphasis upon the great spiritual significance of the service. Christ was asked to convert stones into bread, but He answered, "Man does not live by bread alone but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." The answer did not mean that the needs of the body were to be overlooked, but that there were spiritual needs apart from bodily needs, and that the whole life spiritual and natural is under God's control. We are not forbidden to care for our bodily needs, for we are taught to say, "Give us this day our daily bread." This further shows that our whole life is in God's hands. Unbelief in God's care of his people exists and the inexorable laws of nature are used as arguments, but behind the laws of nature must be the law-giver—behind all is God. If God were not behind all, we would be the victims of mere chance. The thanksgiving service is no mere sentimentalism. We ought to give thanks for all the great things we enjoy and bring God into our daily lives.

Bishop Farthing's Sermon.

"Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me, praise His holy name." This was the text taken from the 103rd Psalm, chosen by Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, for his thanksgiving sermon at the evening service. There was a very large congregation present. The sermon was most impressive, and an inspiration to all. "Gratitude," said the preacher, "was a virtue, being a divine attribute, but ingratitude was a vice." His lordship referred to the great war and declared that "it was the Spirit of God brooding over the minds and hearts of men throughout the Empire that enabled them to respond to the call upon patriotism and honor, and resolve to suffer together—it ennobled and purified them. In Canada, instead of hardships there came wonderful prosperity, industrial activity and abundant harvests. Instead of privations, there came comfort and luxury. Many who a few years ago were in need are today prosperous. He contrasted the distress and suffering of the Belgians with the freedom and luxury of the Canadian people. Riches and business are dividing forces but those suffering amidst the horrors of war are realizing the horrors of life. We at home do not realize this—we stand in danger of disunion by reason of our luxury. We are bound to account to God for the wealth gained through the war. The fact that we have been spared the suffering calls forth gratitude to God, and we must show it in thankfulness, sacrifice and service, like David, who poured out the water he would not drink because it had been procured at the risk of the lives of his fellow soldiers.

At the present moment the church faces a great crisis, a testing time and an opportunity for service, and Bishop Farthing called upon the individual members who constitute the church to demonstrate in their daily life the great principles for which we are fighting—righteousness, justice and honor. This can only be done by the divine power entering into the body and life of the people, so that social work was of little value compared to a changed spiritual life. Social work in itself constituted a grave danger, and the money and labor engaged in it is lost unless we put Christianity into the lives of the people.

The preacher paid a tribute to the integrity of our public men. It is a cause of gratitude that they are men who fight for truth and honor, but in the business world there are many inequalities. The position of capital and labor was an important one, and the church must go out into every sphere of activity and as Christ's representative churchmen will be Christ's men in business—men who will be true to their word, carrying the highest ideals into every branch of business as well as in social and public life. A positive appeal was made upon all to work out the character of Christ in the practical affairs of every day life. The clergy are not synonymous with the church, which means members working in the fellowship of man with God, in the church services and with each other. The clergy instruct and inspire, but the members must be witnesses for Christ in their several spheres of activity. God is ever present, in touch and sympathy with life. He embraces humanity to-day and suffers because of the war. In conclusion, he urged his hearers to go forth with the confidence of the presence of God.

The choir is deserving of special mention for the manner in which the music was rendered. "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land" was the thanksgiving anthem and it was beautifully sung.

QUEEN'S MAN KILLED.

Flight-Lieut. Murray Macfarland, of Hull, is dead. It was announced in Cooke's Presbyterian church on Sunday morning that Flight-Lieut. Murray Macfarland of Hull, Que., had been killed in action. Two weeks ago the information was received that he was missing. Flight-Lieut. Macfarland enlisted at the end of his first year in arts at Queen's University and served in Ireland during the rebellion as well as in France. While in the university he took an active part in the Dramatic Club and was a member of the cast of "Milton's" two winters ago.

THE LATE MRS. WALDRON.

The Dean of Ontario Makes a Touching Reference. Sympathetic reference was made by the Dean of Ontario in St. George's Cathedral on Sunday to the passing to rest of Mrs. Richard Waldron, whose many acts of kindness and of love will long be remembered both in the cathedral and in Kingston. A more devoted mother, loyal friend and consistent church woman is rarely found. Most generous towards all philanthropic and church work, and especially in that of the Orphan's Home, her sound advice and kindly deeds will be missed by many. After long illness and suffering, she has entered into rest. The Dean expressed the sympathy of all towards the bereaved ones.

Police Court Brevities.

When Constable John Naylon took William D. Walker into custody Saturday night on an old charge, he endeavored to resist arrest. He faced two charges in Monday's Police Court, that of obstructing License Inspector McCammon, in his endeavor to search his auto on July 27th, 1917, and also with assaulting Constable Naylon. He was remanded for a day. Two liquor cases were also on the docket. A fair visitor went under on liquor he brought with him, and was fined $10 and costs, while another member of the "thirsty brigade" paid a similar fine because he was intoxicated in a public place.
