GOSSIP HEARD ON THE SIDE

"SHOP EARLY," JUST THREE MONTHS UNTIL CHRISTMAS.

The Merchants by Making Your Purchases as Early as Possible—Will We Have Lady School Trustees?

Hardly three months till Christmas; shop early. It may appear a little ahead of time to talk about Christmas and Christmas shopping, but there are a large number of Kingston people who already have the Yuletide season in mind, and are making the necessary preparations. The movement each year to have the people shop early so as to avoid a big crush in the stores is a good one.

The wise people will commence right away and make purchases, and in doing so they will have the benefit of the best selection of goods. Owing to the war, there has been a scarcity of many things, and those who leave their shopping off till the last minute will be sorry.

Shop early and help the merchants. Make a Christmas purchase each day or so, and when Christmas rolls along you will have all your shopping finished and will not be tired out when the day of all days comes along. The merchants would appreciate your help in this early shopping movement.

The general opinion is that there will be some real lively meetings of the Board of Education when they get lady trustees in Kingston. There are lady trustees in some other cities, and there is no reason why they could not act on the local board. No doubt the women could take along their knitting and there by kill two birds with the one stone, as they discuss the big school problems of the day.

A fine piece of news came to the Whig office in the form of an account submitted about a wedding which occurred in this vicinity. After quite an elaborate description of the dress worn by the bride, the writer went on to say "the groom looked very nice in a suit of blue serge, with hat to match."

The men have certainly come into their own at last. Much newspaper space has been taken up in telling how the bride has been attired, but the groom has had to be contented to be referred to as simply "also present."

Chief Nesbitt had his office filled with booze, flour and sugar on Saturday. "What next is he going to get?" asked a citizen of a Whig reporter. "I cannot say as to that," replied the scribe, "but just watch your step, that's all."

The man in search of information passed on with a worried look. He did not appear to catch on to the reply given him.

All honor to the citizens who are keeping their autos in the garage on Sunday. The Whig knows of several citizens who keep their cars out of sight several days in the week, and walk to their place of business. They are not only helping to win the war, but they are also helping themselves, as the exercise will keep them healthy.

Much good is looked for as a result of the organization formed by the mothers and the teachers of the pupils of Victoria school who have organized for the purpose of doing all they can for the betterment of the school and the community. Much good work can be done along this line. The question of child welfare is the front to-day, and the new association starts its work with the best wishes of every citizen.

Little Freddy, who lives on King street, does not like to eat bread crusts, but his mother who is doing her best to conserve food, is anxious for him to eat the crusts, so that there will be no waste. For several days the good mother was drilling the youngster about eating his crusts and saving for the soldiers overseas. He could not understand why he would be helping the soldiers overseas by eating his crusts.

"How will the soldiers get the crusts if I eat them?" piped the little fellow.

The mother then explained how she would not have to cut another piece of bread if he ate his crusts, and finally the little fellow got it all through his head, and now he is eating all his crusts, as he says "the sojers must have bread."

The mothers are the loaf cutters, and they can do their "bit" by insisting that there is no wastage.

The automobiles on Sunday now are about as few and as far between as street cars on Princess street on a rainy day.

"It is so quiet on Sunday now that a person can get a good rest," remarked a citizen who lives on a street where it has been the custom for autos to race by his door all day long and all hours of the night. He is not the only citizen who appreciates the Sunday tie up of cars.

Up in Western Ontario nearly all the fall fairs have been spoiled by rain. The people up there should get wise and take on a manager with the name of Bushell.

By the way an old citizen stopped a Whig man on Saturday and remarked, "We had a Bushell of fun at the fair."

Just spring another joke like that and you will get into a peck of trouble," was the scribe's reply. It may not be generally known, but a newspaper man has to stand for all these kinds of fibes on the street.

Three Sons in War.

William Cook, president of the Board of Trade and manager of the Dominion Textile Company, has given his third son to the service. Flight Cadet Arthur Cook, of the Royal Air Force, is in the city to-day, and is leaving for Ottawa to-morrow, and will then proceed to England for further instructions. His brother is already in the Flying Corps there, and another son has left Kingston en route to go with the Siberian Expeditionary Force.

The customs import returns for August amounted to $25,255.06.

Military News

The Royal School of Artillery, under command of Col. J. S. N. Leslie, opened on Monday at Tete de Pont barracks. Fifty members of the C.O. T.C. from different parts of the district arrived in the city and reported.

The sentence of life imprisonment passed upon Pte. Thomas Carroll has been commuted to ten years penal servitude. Carroll was a conscientious objector and he refused to put on the uniform or allow himself to be inoculated.

Lieut. H. N. Bate, R.C.D., has been struck off the strength of the C.E.F., being medically unfit.

Q.M. Hon. Capt. G. B. Reed has been granted the rank of captain.

Col. J. F. Clarke, C.A.M.C., who succeeded the late Col. Duff in command of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, returned on Sunday, but left immediately for Toronto. He has been appointed to the Siberian Expeditionary Force as officer commanding the medical services, and he will proceed to Victoria. Col. Clarke established the 1st Canadian Field Hospital at Letreports, France, and No. 2 and Boulogne. From there he transferred to Ramsgate, where his hospital was bombed. Col. Clarke is a Kingstonian but before the war he was practising his profession in Toronto.

Barrieffield Camp is practically closed, only the details remaining. By Wednesday every sign of the 1st Depot Battalion will have been removed.

The Military "Y" is to open in Brock Street Methodist church hall the same as last year. Reading rooms and games for the soldiers will be provided.

Major Bowerbank, who left Kingston as a company commander in the 21st Battalion, has been raised temporarily to the position of senior major of the battalion "allowing the recent appointment of Lieut.-Col. H. E. Pense.

Each military district having a depot battalion has been asked to train fifty machine gunners per month in order to provide the requisite number of drafts. Men selected should not be less than 19 years or over 35 years, but the actual age is not so important as general physical condition. The best age for a machine gunner is 25 years. The physical standard is higher than that of the infantry soldier.

It was reported that Brig.-General T. D. R. Hemming, C.M.G., G.O.C. M.D. No. 3, had completed a period of thirty-six years' military service, but the report is not correct. On December 21st General Hemming will complete thirty-five years' service in the permanent force. His executive ability and long experience have proved of inestimable value since the war began, placing M.D. No. 3 in the forefront in the organization and equipment of battalions and other units for overseas service. The Military Service Act, however, imposed most onerous duties calling for the exercise of the rare qualities of tact and sagacity which the general possesses in a high degree. While the enforcement of the act in other districts was attended with more or less irritation and recourse to the courts, M.D. No. 3 has had nothing of this sort, and the maximum has been reached in the way of reinforcements.

Eighty-nine N.C.O.'s and men completed the course at the N.C.O.'s class, which terminated on the 24th inst. The instructional cadre was under Captain Edwards. The complete list of the qualified men is published in district orders to-day.

The headquarters sub-staff platoon is causing general comment because of the snappy appearance of the men on parade, which speaks well for the state of efficiency attained. The platoon was in the church parade on Sunday under Major McManus, and made a most favorable impression.

CREW RESCUED OFF BARGE

WHEN IT SPRUNG A LEAF ON WAY OVER FROM OSWEGO.

Barge Muskoka Met With Mishap Ten Miles Off the Ducks on Monday Night—Loaded With Thousand Tons of Coal for Montreal. The barge Muskoka, of the Montreal Transportation Company while being towed over from Oswego Monday night sprung a leak, and the members of the crew were taken off and landed safely on the barge Selkirk. The barges were being towed to Kingston by the barge Magnolia, also of the Montreal Transportation Company. The Muskoka was loaded with a thousand tons of coal for Montreal. The barge met with the mishap about ten miles off the Ducks, and about twenty-five miles out of Oswego.

When the tug Magnolia and barge Selkirk pulled away for Kingston the barge Muskoka was still afloat, but up till noon on Tuesday it was not known just how she would fare. The tug Laura Grace cleared on Tuesday morning for Oswego, and will try to locate the missing barge.

At the Theatres

At The Grand.

One of the greatest headliner attractions ever shown at the Grand was presented here yesterday afternoon, when a large audience witnessed the Vitagraph five reel feature, "The Other Man," which has three of the best stars in the world of film. Harry Morey, the rife star of many successes such as "Within the Law" and "A Bachelor's Children," had the titular role, and in his support were beautiful and talented Grace Farrow, who is well known for her work in many serials, and also Florence Deshon, who needs no introduction to the patrons of the Grand. These three made the picture, from the acting standpoint, one of the very best, while the story was one that could not be improved upon. It dealt with the troubles of a famous physician whom circumstances necessitated living in the slums, and while there he met a young society girl and they helped each other to the end that they both went back to their old lives, but they went together. Other films on the bill were the Pathe News, who presents a comedy and two other good reels, while Bush and Bush provided an act of vaudeville consisting of music and whistling that was excellent. This programme will be repeated again to-night and also to-morrow both matinee and night.

At Griffin's.

Always delightful in any portrayal she attempts, Miss Billie Burke, the dainty screen star, was seen by an enthusiastic audience at this theatre last night in her latest photoplay, "In Pursuit of Polly." Miss Burke demonstrated her popularity in no uncertain manner, for her portrayal in this photoplay was as artistic as it was delightful, and that it pleased her audience was manifested frequently throughout the presentation. The story deals with a society girl who is loved by two men, and who offers her hand to the man who catches her in an automobile chase, she being allowed an hour's start. Another interesting feature is Jack Gardner, famous in stage and screen, in "Men of the Desert," the greatest of the wonderful Essanay western pictures. A story of great open spaces, of rugged men, of free untrammelled women, filled with dramatic action and heart throbbing interest. In addition there was "A Fight For Millions," an intensely thrilling serial picture, and an uproariously funny comedy picture.

At the Strand.

One of the most unusual and entertaining pictures of the year was the attraction at the Strand theatre yesterday. This was the Metro production of "In Judgment Of," starring Anna Q. Nilsson and Franklin Farnum, supported by Herbert Standing and an all-star cast. The story shows the hypnotic powers of a young girl who does not realize her gift until the man she is in love with is in danger of the electric chair through the crime of another man. Seeing black and convincing evidence piling up against him in appalling array, she decides to exert her powers to the full and clear his name from the crime. The play drew a large audience, which showed its thorough appreciation of the clever theme and unusual acting.
