> YOUTH GETS 15 LASHES Found Guilty of Assault in Police Court To-day.

Three months in jail at hard abor and fifteen lashes formed the sentence meted out to Clarence Cook, aged sixteen years, Hungerford, found guilty on the charge of ndecent assault. The magistrate told the youth he was certain that the accused was the guilty person, although an alibi had been set up to show that he was not on the scene of the alleged offence. The complainant's story was direct and there was in her mind no doubt that Cook was the offender. Seven lashes are to be applied under the supervision of the jail surgeon within the first seven days of Cook's confinement and eight at a time between thirty days from the first administration and ten days before his liberation.
