ONTARIO'S GROWTH.

Since the year before the beginpopulation of Toronto, up to the year 1916, has been 99,285. The figures of the Registrar-General's Departwas away bigger than the other

The figures for 1917 are not yet available, but are expected in a short time, and it is thought these will show a slight increase over 1916. During the years recorded the birth figures have shown an increase till 1916, and then a decided

Whether there is any truth in the old story that during war time male the appointment of Lewis Clow as births outnumber female births is hard to say, but since the war started the fact is apparent. But in 1914 (the war broke out in August) the reports show that the male births in the earlier months were just as much in advances of the female births as during the latter months.
