Sporting Notes

Billy Armstrong, former boxing instructor to the M.A.A.A., has been appointed to the staff of the Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.

The Newark Motordrome has been ordered by the city closed indefinitely. No public gatherings will be allowed for the next fortnight at least.

President Frank Calder should sign on a couple of stenographers from the Russian Duma to "cover" next Saturday's meeting of the hockey magnates at Montreal.

The home of the Chicago Cubs has been turned into football field, and will be used this fall by the team representing Camp Grant. They will play for the American army championship.

A. S. Maloney, well known Montreal skater and all-round sportsman, died Sunday after a short illness. He had won a number of cups and medals for his speed and artistic skating.

Over thirty big college football games, scheduled for Saturday last on the American side, had to be cancelled owing to sickness among the players. All the university schedules have been seriously interfered with.

Pete Stanridge, National League pitcher, who was once with Calgary in the Western Canada League, sustained serious injury last week when a pile of lumber collapsed on him in the Seattle shipyards. He is recovering.

Clarence Rowland, manager of the Chicago White Sox, has become a prize fight referee. He has handled a number of bouts at Camp Grant and Great Lakes, and his decisions have given general satisfaction.

Paul Conroy, who succumbed at the Toronto aviation camp to pneumonia, was former president of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club. He is a director in the S.A.A.A. and had taken a leading part in the successful campaign for that institution two years ago.

Georges Carpentier, greatest of European pugilists, will probably meet Jack Dempsey after the war, and a match between these eminent boxers should be one of the greatest conflicts in the annals of pugilism.

The sending of sporting supplies by the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association with the Siberian Expedition is just one more evidence of the good work being done by this organization. Skates, hockey sticks, Rugby, soccer and baseballs and other needed material is included. The consignment is valued at $1,200.

Those who opposed the elimination of the scrimmage back early in the season are now convinced that the game is improved considerably without it. One thing at least it does away with is continued arguments with the officials.

There is mistaken identity upon the part of most Rugby players that on a bounding or dribbling ball it is not necessary to give as much leeway to an opponent as a ball that has not touched the ground. The receiver is entitled to just the same amount of freedom of play, and a chance for a fair catch, which is left to the referee to decide. It is better to give plenty of room than to infringe too closely.

Walter McMullen, of the Hamilton Spectator, states that Hamilton will not be represented in the O.B.A. next season as they are not satisfied with the way things have been handled this season. Of course if Hamilton wants the executive to give them everything and hand all the "kicks" to the other fellows, then Hamilton would do well to run a little league of their own. Town tactics are alright in a town, but when they are enacted in a city then it causes one to laugh.

Great Swimmer Dies. Harry Elifonsky, the strongest swimmer in America, is dead from Spanish influenza. He was a member of the Pelham Bay Naval Station, and once swam ninety miles without a stop. One of his favorite performances was to swim from the Battery to Coney Island, New York, with hands and feet manacled. Several times he towed a rowboat, loaded with passengers, several miles while his hands and feet were tied.

MATTY BALDWIN

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Matthew Baldwin, former New England lightweight boxing champion, died at his home in the Charlestown district. In his fighting career, which began in 1902, and lasted until he was knocked out by Charlie White three years ago he took part in many fights and except in his final battle, he was never knocked out.

A FOUR-TEAM CIRCUIT.

Patrick's Are Now Making Plans For Coming Season.

Four clubs will compete for the Pacific Coast Hockey Association championship this season, if the coast magnates reach a decision to operate again. This situation was discussed informally at a meeting held recently in Seattle and attended by President Frank Patrick, of Vancouver, and other directors. Definite action was deferred until the annual meeting, which will be held in Vancouver on November 1. In the meantime the officials intend to get busy and endeavor to have everything in shape for the gathering here.

VANCOUVER ARENA OPENS.

Frank Patrick Announces Plans at Pacific Coast.

Frank Patrick's big arena on Georgia street, Vancouver, B.C., will open for skating on or about November 1st, according to an announcement made by Mr. Patrick on his return from Seattle, where he attended a preliminary meeting of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, at which plans for the coming hockey season were discussed.

Last season the rink opened for skating on October 24th, this year the opening is a little later, owing to a concert which has been arranged to take place in the arena on October 25th. Immediately after this concert, Mr. Patrick will have his staff commence freezing operations and the ice will no doubt be ready for the season to open on November 1st.

Shortage of Sporting Goods. Amateur sportsmen had better conserve their on-hand supplies of equipment. The handwriting on the wall is seen in the shape of the recent order of the U.S. War Industries Board, which has put a ban on the manufacture of many implements that are used in the promotion of amateur games.

Tennis and golf will be particular sufferers. The output of goods for these pastimes during the remainder of this year will be cut to 40 per cent of the amount turned out during the corresponding period of 1917. It is understood that the large amount of rubber used in the manufacture of golf and tennis balls is the primary reason for the severe cut down in these lines. The manufacturers of football and baseball tuggery will be allowed to turn out 60 per cent of their normal output.

All amateur sports will suffer in the matter of uniforms. There will be no material available for special clothing for sport after the manufacturers have used up the stocks that they have on hand at the present time. This will affect principally uniforms for football and baseball teams.

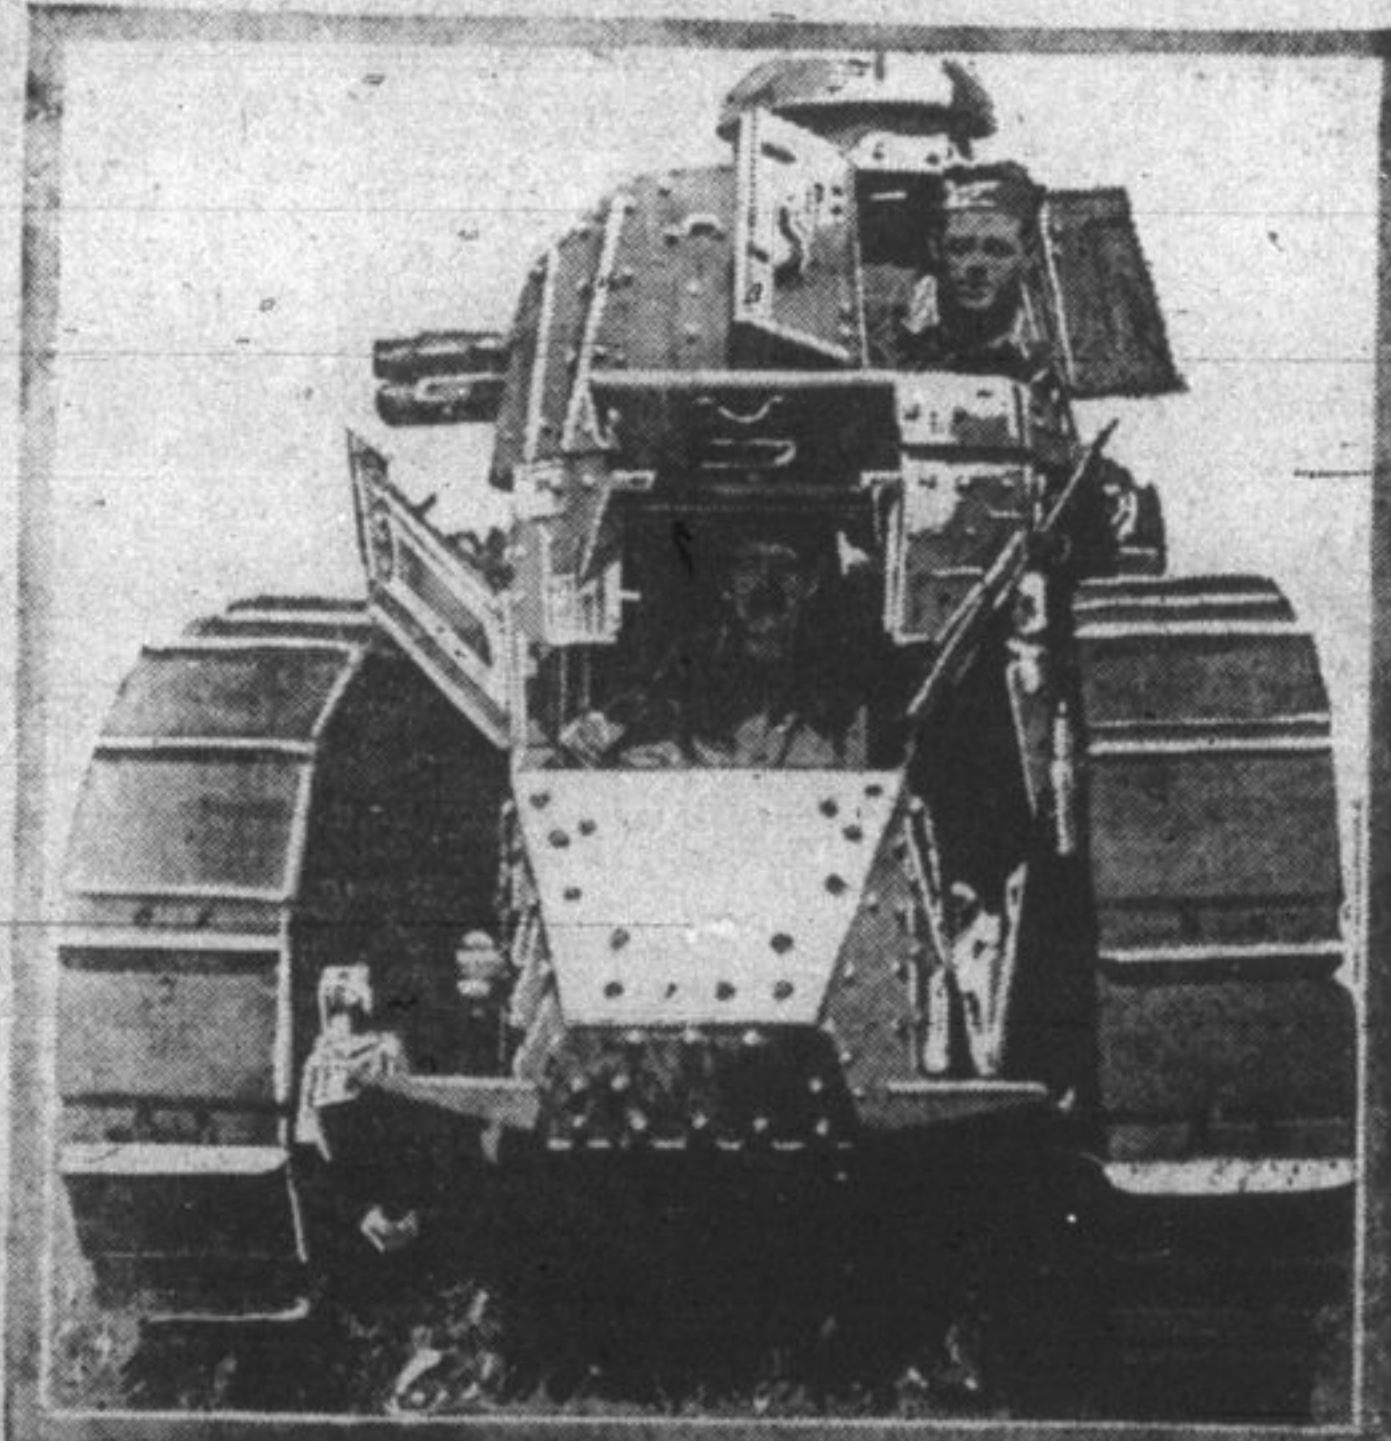

It is freely predicted that there will be as acute scarcity of tennis balls next summer that will seriously affect the activities of the ordinary run of tennis clubs.

Golf will not suffer so severely in this respect, because of the fact that golf balls can readily be "re-made," while once their "life" is gone, tennis balls are absolutely unfit for further play.

Shaughnessy at the Coast. Lieut. Frank Shaughnessy, former business manager of the Ottawa Hockey Club, manager of the Ottawa Baseball Club, and coach of the McGill football team, who enlisted several weeks ago with the Canadian Siberian Expeditionary Force, is now on duty at the Pacific coast. "Shag" left some time since and expects to sail shortly for Siberia. This was his second trip to the coast, as he went out there in charge of the Ottawa hockey team when it annexed the N.H.A. championship in 1915.

A. C. Miller, a leading druggist of Brockville, is dead of pneumonia following grippe.
