MUST DON KHAKI AGAIN INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

JAMES RUSSELL DID NOT HAVE HIS LIBERTY VERY LONG.

Magistrate Ordered That He Be Turned Over To Military Authorities—Was Caught at Napanee by Local Police As Result of Theft of Horse and Rig.

James Russell, who took off his suit of khaki, donned civilian clothes, and tried to give the military police the slip, will again go back to khaki. Not of his own accord, however, but due to the efforts put forth by the police. Russell is the young man who made off to Napanee two weeks ago with a young woman in a livery outfit which was secured from C. H. Finkle and which was not returned as promised. The couple, after reaching Napanee, left the horse and rig on the roadside. Chief Nesbitt and Constable Marshall Stronight went up to Napanee, captured the couple, and also the outfit. The young woman was given three months in jail by the Magistrate a few days ago, and when Russell, who has been on remand, came up in Police Court on Tuesday morning, Magistrate Farroll gave orders that he be handed over to the military authorities, and Sgt. James Bateson took him over to the military authorities following the session of the Police Court.

Russell does not like the life of a soldier. He was in one of the local military hospitals, and while being removed from the hospital to Fort Henry made a bolt out of an ambulance and took to the country, but as a result of his escapade with the young woman landed in the toils.

TALK TO BLUE CROSS BOYS

BY LIEUT.-COL. FREDERICK WALSH, C.A.V.S.

Who Told What Canada Was Doing For the War Horses—Kingston Boys Sent Much Moss Overseas.

Lieut.-Col. Frederick Walsh, C.A.V.S., addressed the Blue Cross boys at the St. George's Hall on Monday evening, on the work of the Blue Cross at the front. Col. Walsh returned from overseas last week, after spending over four years in England and France. He went to Valenciennes five days after the war was declared and was appointed a lieutenant in the Veterinary Service. On January 5th, 1918, he went to France with the corps, and was the first when the Germans launched their first gas attack. In March, 1917, he was appointed to the 3rd Canadian Division with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Col. Walsh told the boys about the measures taken for the care of the army horses and the use made of the spinaquim pads and dressings made by them here at home. All the horses were inoculated against strangles and shipping fever before they left Canada and this precaution, which was taken by General Neill, the father of the Veterinary Corps in Canada, reduced the losses during shipment to two per cent.

Twenty-five thousand bandages, moss pads, knitted sponges, etc., were sent from Kingston to the Veterinary Corps in France and distributed among the four Canadian mobile sections. As a result of the work done in Canada by the Blue Cross the Canadian Veterinary Corps was one of the best organized and best carried out of any in France. At La Havre, Canada maintained a hospital for the care of 2,600 horses.

All of the boys, who numbered between forty and fifty, were greatly interested in Col. Walsh's address, because they assisted Miss Mary Goring, director of Blue Cross work in Kingston. They gathered the sphagnum moss and it was a great pleasure to learn from an officer in charge of the horses at the front how it was used and of the great benefit it was to the horses that were injured.

Col. Walsh was injured in the knee, the wheel of a transport passing over it, which incapacitated him for some time.

R. E. KENT IS RE-ELECTED

CHAIRMAN OF GENERAL HOSPITAL BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

The Hospital Had a Strenuous Month Fighting the Epidemic—No Deaths Among the Nursing Staff.

The directors of the Kingston General Hospital met on Monday afternoon and held their regular monthly meeting, which was followed immediately by the annual meeting and election of officers.

The report of the committee of management for October gave in concise form a history of the strenuous month through which the hospital has passed, mentioning particularly that no expense had been spared to procure for the patients every needed delicacy and comfort. It was also noted with much gratification that notwithstanding that a number of nurses had been sick, there had not been one single death among them, whereas most hospitals had lost a number.

The financial report for the month showed that the expenses had been enormously increased by the epidemic of influenza, but the authorities felt exceedingly gratified that now the worst of it is over they could reflect that everything possible had been done for the sick and suffering committed to their care.

At the annual meeting reports were read and a resolution was then passed expressing appreciation of the interest manifested in the work of the hospital.

The nominating committee recommended as officers and the committee of management the following, and the report was duly confirmed by the board: Chairman, R. E. Kent; vice-chairman, F. G. Lockett; honorary secretary, A. F. Chown; committee of management, T. McE. Robertson, William Jackson, R. F. Elliott, Harold Davis, G. Y. Chown (representing Queen's University).

High appreciation was expressed at the excellent work done by the chairman, R. E. Kent, during the past year.

Visiting governors for the month are W. F. Nickie, M.P., and A. F. Chown.
