Sporting Notes

Hugh Duffy, one of the first athletes to run one hundred yards under ten seconds, is reported to have been wounded on the firing line. Duffy enlisted with a Massachusetts infantry regiment shortly after the United States entered the war. He is recovering in a hospital in France, and expects to return to the first line trenches within a short time.

The amount of prize money that will be awarded in the international six-day bicycle race which starts at Madison Square Garden Sunday, Dec. 1st, is estimated at $30,000. The winning team will divide $3,500. There will be prizes for at least 12 teams. The entry will be limited to 20 teams.

Terry McGovern is dead, but Pedlar Palmer, who was christened Thomas, is still very much alive. Terry knocked out Pedlar for the feather-weight championship of the world at Tuckshoe in one round on Sept. 12th, 1899. Palmer boxed at an exhibition in London on August 15th last in a show for the benefit of his old trainer and second, George Jackson, Palmer, who will be 42 years old on November 1st, has not been prominent in the ring since 1905. He fought one contest in 1912.

Lieut. Lawrence B. ("Larry") Cowing, the amateur golf champion of California in 1916, recently died from disease in an army hospital in France. He had won also the southern California title. Lieut. Cowing is the second California champion to pass away in the service, as Campbell White, a former title holder, serving with the British forces, was killed in action in Flanders in August, 1916.

George (Babe) Ruth, star batsman of the world's champion Red Sox, has been ill with the "flu" at his home at Baltimore, Md. When the baseball season ended Ruth secured essential work at the Lebanon plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company, and became a member of the plant team in the Bethlehem Steel League. Called to Baltimore on business, he fell a victim to the plague. His condition is reported as quite serious.

Another death of gridiron injuries is recorded. Carl D. Snyder, 21, of New Philadelphia, O., died of injuries received in a game recently at Alliance, O. His back was broken in a scrimmage, and he was unconscious from the time of injury.

ARE THEY ON LEVEL?

Amateur Authorities Will Look Into Swede Runner's Records.

John Zander, who was coming to the front when the war broke out in 1914, is now the greatest distance runner that Sweden has produced, and when the International Amateur Athletic Federation meets after the war is over, it will act upon a number of his valid claims for world's records. His latest exploit was in the annual Swedish championships at Stockholm, when he made the new world's record of 3m. 54.7-10s. for the 1,500-metre race, which is 1-10s. faster than Abel Kiviat's record of 3m. 55.4-5s. made in 1912 in the Olympic trials in the Harvard Stadium.

Woman Athletic Coach.

Boston now has its women football coaches and referees, and is proud of them. Of course it is another result of the war taking so many of the young athletes, but the women are making good.

Any week day afternoon from four o'clock to five you will see a horde of youngsters mastering the finer points of the game at the public school playgrounds under the direction of women teachers.

When the men teachers who in other years had charge of the athletic sports of the boys were called away to war, the question of how to properly supervise the schoolboy games became a serious problem. Two women teachers of the Quincy School came to the rescue and volunteered to take the men's places. A study of sporting guide books followed, and all the fine points of the rules were soon learned. A number of other women teachers in the schools are learning the rules of the various sports, and the plan bids fair to be a decided success.

Pat Maloney, formerly outfielder with the Rochester International league club, has been wounded. He was called into Uncle Sam's army last winter. He has had trials with the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Nationals.

J. R. Minogue, well-known Montreal trainer and owner of thoroughbred, died last Friday after several days' illness.

OLD-STARS FADING.

Lawrence Lyke Leads the Riders of American Turf.

The records of the riders who have been seen in action on local tracks this season show that the old stars, for the most part, are giving way to newcomers. Lawrence Lyke has ridden more winners than any other jockey in America, while Sande, who is second, never had a mount until the beginning of the present season. Frank Robinson continues to hold his own and is third, but McTaggart, Buxton, Knapp, Troxler and several others, who were bright stars a few seasons ago, are now far down the list.

Canadians Win Boxing Bout.

Two well-known Canadian boxers have recently added to their reputation in the ring in London, Eng. In one instance Sergt. Joe Attwood (C.M.G.C.) beats Seaman Eddie Stevens (R.N.). After a long sparring match, Attwood twice shot his left over his opponent's guard. Later Stevens attempted to lead, but ran up against a hard right, going down. He injured his arm falling and was unable to resume.

Another match was a ten-round contest between Sergt. J. Borthwick, Canadian, and Corp. Naish (Crested Guard). Borthwick was much the stronger, and he began to score rapidly in the fourth round. In the midst of a very brisk rally he crossed his opponent with the right and forced Naish to take the count.

CAPTAIN ARGUE WOUNDED.

Former McGill Rugby Team Manager Went Overseas with 244th.

Word has reached Montreal that Captain (Dr. Pud) Argue had been wounded in action. Captain Argue was one of the most prominent athletes at McGill previous to the outbreak of the war, and when the rugby team won the championship during the season of 1912, it was under his management. He also managed the McGill hockey team, and finished second in the race for the Intercollegiate title in 1912.

Belgian Team Surprises English.

The Belgian army soccer team is now touring England playing the English and other Entente teams, with the sanction of the Belgian military authorities. They will shortly tour America. The Belgians recently won an international match from one of the crack English teams in France, while both were awaiting orders to go to the front, and the British Empire has not yet recovered from the shock. Being good sportsmen, the British invited the Belgians to come over and get a good beating on British soil, but the Belgians refused to succumb, and have been doing great stunts in the land where soccer originated.

"Fat" Belfrey, former star home player of the Toronto Beavers Junior lacrosse champions, has been wounded in France.

MUTT AND JEFF AT THE FRONT
