BOXING TO BOOM

In the Paris Clubs, Where It Is Popular.

A London letter to the Philadelphia Ledger says:

"Even though there may be some curtailment of hostilities on the various fronts during the coming winter, due to inclement weather, there will be plenty of fighting in Paris. Fugilistic bouts between the leading A. E. F. boxers of the various weight divisions will be staged weekly for the benefit of the American and Allied soldiers, quartered or on furlough in the French capital. The athletic department of the Y.M.C.A. has leased the famous Palais de Glace for the winter, and every Wednesday night will be 'boxing night' until springtime brings a return of outdoor sports.

The Palais de Glace is an ideal place for ring contests. It has a seating capacity of 2,000, with standing room for several hundred more. The ring will be up in the centre of the hall, so that every seat will command a good view. The building is in the Champs Elysees, corner of the Avenue d'Antin, a central location, easily accessible by the Metro subway.

All talent for the boxing programme will be furnished by members of the American expeditionary force. It is planned to conduct the shows in the form of a continuous tournament, so that in time the Paris division championships in the various classes may be established.

Toward the end of the season it was hoped to bring in the champions of other districts and hold a tournament that will develop the star boxers in the entire A. E. F.

F. W. Stone, of the Y. M. C. A., is match-maker. He was for years prominent in promoting amateur boxing for the Chicago A. A., and is relied upon to bring together the right men. The aim of the committee is to develop boxing among a large number of men, rather than to exploit a few professionals. At the same time, men who have had ring experience will not be barred.

Eight bouts each Wednesday night is the limit, with four rounds as the usual distance, but in some cases with windups over longer routes. Eight ounce gloves will be used, the idea being to increase the knowledge of the game among soldiers rather than to furnish material for the hospitals.

Here's a Real Fan.

"Joe" Gordon, one-time president of the Highlanders, is a real optimist, so far as the outlook for baseball is concerned. Though no longer connected with the game in any official capacity, Gordon is a dyed-in-the-wool fan, and recently appeared at the Giants' offices and asked that a box at the Polo Grounds be reserved for him for the season of 1919. "Baseball is coming back next spring," he told Harry N. Hemstead, president of the Giants, "and I want to be the first to subscribe for a box for the season. I am absolutely serious in this, and want you to enter my name on the club's books at once."

Break Faith? Never.

The memory of their noble deeds is seared into our hearts, and will live in the hearts of our children, generations hence.

Let our lives, for which their lives were given, be pledged devotedly to the Cause—their Cause—of Freedom and Civilization.

We Canadians must carry on.

Before us, as a nation, as individuals, our way lies clear.

Afar off along the path that leads to Right we hear the cry of those who fell.

We will follow on.

We will finish the work they so nobly began.
