Stomach So Bad THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE. CAN EAT ANYTHING NOW.

But for indigestion and dyspepsia, many a life might be a pleasant one. The misery which stomach troubles cause the sufferer knows only too well, and any one who has suffered knows what joy it would give to be able to eat three good meals a day and not be punished for it after.

Nearly everything that enters a weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaten causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach right so that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For forty years now Burdock Blood Bitters has been making weak stomachs strong, and permanently curing severe cases of indigestion and dyspepsia that other remedies were powerless to reach.

H. L. Fairweather, Cumberland Bay, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with my stomach for two years, and sometimes so bad I thought I would die. I tried everything I ever heard tell of, and had medicine from three doctors, but continued to grow worse. One day I read of some wonderful cures made with Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking two bottles, I could eat any kind of food without any bad effects, and by the time I had taken four I was in perfect health."

KINGSTON WENT WILD OVER THE GLAD NEWS

They Broke the Bell. Serjt. James Bateson and Constables James Cotter and James Doney had the honor of ringing the bell at the City Hall. The three "Jims" pulled the bell for all they were worth. Never before had the old bell been sounded with more enthusiasm. It is said that the bell rope was broken, so hard did the sturdy custodians of the law pull.

Many citizens celebrated on horse back. One fellow came down Princess street riding a horse and dragging some tin pans after him. Some were so overjoyed at the news that they commenced to cry. The majority made a big noise, but there were others who remained silent, apparently stunned at the news.

The Salvation Army headed a big parade of men, women, boys and girls up and down Princess street shortly after seven o'clock. When the parade broke up the Salvation Army band played patriotic airs on the market square. As the National Anthem was played there was a big demonstration.

One man celebrated by riding up and down Princess street sitting on a trunk which was towed by an automobile.

Queen's Students Celebrate. Following the market square meeting there was a grand snake dance of the students of Queen's University up Princess street. For over an hour the scholars zig-zagged up and down the street, picking their way among the decorated cars that dashed up and down with all sorts of patriotic emblems and noise-making devices attached. Soon the men joined with the women of the university and the combined forces made merry on the main street.

Each man had a girl by the arm, and sauntered along with abounding enthusiasm. After marching several times up and down the street they proceeded to Queen's University, and in Convocation Hall they sang the college songs and roared the college yell.

J. Courtland Elliot took the chair after a few words called on Principal Taylor for a short address. The Principal enthused his already excited students, and at each sentence they burst forth into unstinted applause. He paid eloquent tribute to the fifteen hundred Queen's students who had offered their services, and called upon those who were still in the university to remember the aching hearts upon this wonderful day of peace, when the thought of the lad under the poppies of Flanders fields would bring sorrow to parents' hearts instead of joy.

The students then serenaded the men in Queen's Military Hospital, and on the campus Professors Taylor, Macdonald and Matheson spoke to the students.

Arrangements have been made for a huge student parade on Monday night which will be the first since the outbreak of hostilities. The students will proceed down Princess street to the City Hall, and after the meeting, where they will sing college songs, they will go to the gymnasium, where an informal dance is planned to be held.

"Kiddies" Were Out. Some boys were out as early as six o'clock in the outlying parts of the city, beating tin pans and yelling for all they were worth.

Several citizens celebrated by firing off rifles. Firecrackers were also in great demand.

One citizen was heard playing a patriotic air on his violin at six o'clock. The mothers had no trouble in getting up the boys this morning. It was a good job the mayor declared Monday a holiday. The industries blew off so much steam they would not have had sufficient to run the works.

School "Kiddies" Made Merry. Monday was the day set for the re-opening of the schools, but there was no session. The bells were sounded, but it was in celebration of the joyous tidings. The schools have been closed for a month on account of the epidemic, and the "kiddies" were certainly glad that the schools did not open.

Old Kingston Drown The Kaiser. W. R. Davis, New York, wires the Whig: "Since five o'clock this morning the peace celebration has been wonderful. Whistles, bells, bands, horns, continuously whoop 'hoop' up. Old Kingston drown the Kaiser."

Celebration Notes. Among the 6 a.m. visitors to the Whig were Rev. Dr. Macgillivray and Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson of Chalmers church who were very early out with "the boys" to celebrate.

Chalmers church was heated and opened early Monday morning for the people who might wish to drop into the edifice for a moment of prayer. The day was one for prayer as well as noisy demonstration.

FLU SPREADS OVER CIVILIZED WORLD

Germ Eludes Bacteriologists And Health Authorities Are Baffled.

The influenza epidemic continues unabated. Its ravages are not confined to this city or even to Canada, and cable reports indicate that it is rapidly spreading over the civilized world. It has baffled medical skill to an unusual extent and has claimed more victims perhaps than any other epidemic in a score of years. The germ has eluded the bacteriologists and medical men now agree that the best cure is prevention.

The surest prevention is to build up the bodily powers of resistance and to get the system into the best physical conditions possible. It is now universally agreed that it is possible to perfect the powers of resistance of the human system so that it can throw off almost any infection not excepting Spanish Influenza.

It has been discovered that persons who are weak and rundown are the earliest victims, and if you find yourself tired or weak and losing flesh or if you are in a generally run down condition and below your normal weight, this warning should be heeded promptly.

If you are in this condition nothing on earth will build you up and strengthen you like Tanlac, which contains the most powerful tonic property known to science. As a reconstructive tonic and system builder it is without an equal and contains all the elements needed by the system to give you fighting strength to ward off the influenza germ. This is a statement of facts and is supported by the recognized authorities and reference works, including the United States Dispensary and the Encyclopedia Britannica and leading textbooks used in the school of medicine.

This statement is further proven by the fact that millions of persons who have actually taken Tanlac have testified to its extraordinary merit as a medicine, and by the fact that Tanlac is to-day having the greatest sale of any tonic on the market, over eleven million bottles having been sold within the past three years.

Tanlac is also the ideal strengthening tonic for persons who are suffering from the after-effects of influenza, grippa or bronchial troubles, and hundreds of thousands are using it daily with the most gratifying results. In connection with the Tanlac treatment it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Tanlac Laxative Tablets, samples of which are included in every bottle of Tanlac. Tanlac is sold in Kingston by A. P. Chown, in Plevea by Gilbert Oster, in Battersea by C. S. Clark, in Fernleigh by Ervin Martin, in Ardoch by M. J. Scullion, in Sharbot Lake by W. Y. Cannon. —ADVT.

One of the earliest of the returned soldier-celebrators was Marcus H. Hood now a member of the Whig's portly staff who nobly did his bit in France.

At 6 a.m. a joyous citizen met the mayor coming down town and asked him what should be done. "I think the first thing we should do is to pray," replied the mayor who at once proceeded to carry his idea into effect by having Principal Taylor offer prayer at the big meeting in the City Hall.

The boys at the Mowat Memorial Sanitarium joined in the general celebration early in the day. They formed a band of whistles, bugles and tin cans and marched from the hospital to Princess street, where they joined in the procession. They were headed by a big banner bearing the words, "The Boys From the Mowat. Down With the Kaiser."

They sure did contribute to the big noise that was going on. Campbell Bros., of the Princess street hat and fur store celebrated by throwing out their surplus stock of hats of all kinds to a large crowd of people waiting below. Some of the hats were old stock, and they were grabbed by the younger spirits for use in the procession, but a large number of very fine headpieces were distributed.

While the celebration was in progress a military funeral took place from R. J. Reid on Princess street, and added a touch of solemnity to the rejoicing. The soldier to be buried was Gunner Donovan who died on Saturday.

Montreal La Presse, the French-Canadian daily, has raised its price per copy from one cent to two cents, on account of the rapid increase in production cost.

Probs: Tuesday, fine; little higher temperature.
