GANANOQUE

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Nov. 27.—Sergt. Forrester Seal, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Seal, former residents of this town, but now residing a few miles north of the town in the front of Leeds and Lansdowne townships, who enlisted and went overseas some two years ago, arrived in town on Monday afternoon and was met and welcomed by the mayor and members of the town council as well as by a goodly number of residents.

Tuberculosis Day was celebrated in the local high and public schools on Monday. As customary during the past few years members of the medical profession accompanied by members of the Board of Education, visited the various rooms in each school and gave short talks, telling the pupils how to guard against the spread of this disease by using sanitary precautions.

Reeve T. I. Ellis and Deputy Reeve George A. Dowley left yesterday for Brockville to attend the session of the counties council of the united counties of Leeds and Grenville.

In connection with Gananogue Lodge, No. 4, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, a club room was opened on Monday evening in the old American hotel building, with quite an encouraging membership.

The Late Mrs. Thomas Maloney, Brockville, Nov. 26.—Sorrow entered the home of Thomas Maloney, Toledo, with terrible suddenness on the 26th inst., when his beloved wife passed away after a brief illness of about fifteen minutes. Mrs. Maloney was as well as usual during the morning, and went about her household duties, but in the early afternoon she had an attack of acute indigestion, to which she speedily succumbed. The deceased, formerly Miss Teresa Jordan, was born near Westport, forty-four years ago, and was a daughter of the late Patrick Jordan and Jane Hamilton.

J. O. Herity, Belleville, suffered a sprained ankle by falling. He also injured his right hand.

Their View
The human race is just in its infancy. Of course, why they're just learning the use of wings.

British and Canadian prisoners have been pouring into French frontier towns. American Y. M. C. A. is caring for them.

REASONED OPTIMISM NEEDED.

Food is admittedly gone, and hundreds of millions are on the verge of starvation—all over the old world these conditions exist.

To dig our minerals, to manufacture our lumber, to raise our food, to transport all these by sea and land, will tax the full capacity of our man power. The world's shortage cannot be repaired in one year, nor yet in two, and while prices are not likely to remain at their present high figure indefinitely, they will be richly remunerative for a few years to come. And we still have vast areas of cheap land. What does that mean? Given good prices for farm products, and with land at an easy figure, we are bound to see a large wave of immigration to the western provinces, not only from the United States, but from the British Isles. A prosperous and well-peopled west means a prosperous and well-peopled manufacturing east. An increased population means more shoulders to carry the national debt, and so a reduction to the individual. The late Lord Rhonda, one of the showiest of business men, himself a large holder of coal lands in British Columbia, gave his opinion of Canada's future after the war. He stated that there would likely be a year or two of unsettlement immediately, but that thereafter the country would go forward by leaps and bounds, and that in all probability fifteen years later would see fifteen million people in Canada. His view is one of reasoned optimism indeed, and not of the wild-eyed exaggerated type.

During these days of partial eclipse we must keep two things in mind, would we shorten its duration—thrift and moderation. Like all new countries, this has been a wasteful land—there will be less room than ever for waste for a few years to come. As for moderation, if we do not exercise it in our political affairs, if we harken to extremists in the east or west, to say nothing of a mild flirtation with Bolshevism, we shall but encourage discontent, and discontent always spells disorganization. We shall make this country less attractive to live in, and so discourage immigration, and sadly retard the day of returning prosperity and national happiness.

We must have a broad Canadianism—the provincial and parochial must go by the board. With our as yet undeveloped riches, and of these the present trade opportunities are the greatest, nothing can stop our progress, if we work hard and keep sane.

There'll be nought to rue, if we unto ourselves do prove but true.

Parties broke into the Hotel Carleton, Cape Vincent, N.Y., and set fire to a room in which the bedding and curtains were stored. The bed and contents were destroyed, and a large hole burned in the floor before the flames were subdued.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome the Trouble Caused By Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach, and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

THE ADVENTURES OF THE "AVERAGE" FAMILY

Chapter IV—Wednesday

ON Wednesday night Mr. Average usually stayed downtown and went to his lodge. But on this Wednesday night he came straight home, and the minute the evening meal was finished he made a bee-line for the living room, saying:—"You youngsters monopolized everything last night—it's our turn to-night. Come, Mother, we'll have some real music." "All right, John," replied Mrs. Average, "I'll be in directly. I've asked Mrs. Goodneighbor to come over to-night, and as soon as she comes in we'll be with you." While waiting for the arrival of Mrs. Goodneighbor Mr. Average played "Lights Out March," by Prince's Band. Like all red-blooded men, Mr. Average liked good, rousing, lively hand music, and he liked this record so much that he played it over twice. When the ladies arrived he put on "A Perfect Day," then "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and followed these with some Grand Opera. After hearing the "Sextette From Lucia," Mr. Average remarked:—"Here we are enjoying Grand Opera right at home at one-tenth of the usual cost. No more buying of $25 worth of Opera tickets at one flip for me; after this we'll go to LINDSAY'S and buy the Records instead."

Mr. Average most assuredly did not regret staying away from the Lodge that Wednesday night.
