THE INEFFICIENT WORKER

A SPLENDID LECTURE GIVEN BY PROF. H. MICHELL

On Thursday Evening in Connection With the Course in Social Service at Queen's University.

The fourth lecture in this series was delivered on Thursday evening by Prof. H. Michell on the subject of "The Inefficient Worker."

The man or woman who has never learned a trade, the unskilled worker who has nothing but physical strength to rely on in the battle of life, is beaten before the struggle has well begun. The last to be hired when good times come, and the first to be discharged when trade begins to slacken, the inefficient worker presents a sad and serious spectacle.

His small earnings do not allow him to enjoy any of the little luxuries and elevating amenities of life. Living from hand to mouth, he is at the mercy of every wind that blows, and often from the ranks of the unemployed he sinks into that most melancholy of all human beings, the unemployable.

Setting aside those who are incapacitated from mental or physical disease, as presenting a problem peculiar in itself, the lecturer proceeded to give a sketch of the life history of such an one. With no taste for school, fretting at its restraints and discipline, he leaves at the earliest possible age, perhaps only just to read and write.

Employment comes easily to him, he can make what is to him good wages as errand boy, or at selling papers, or anyone of the occupations that will employ a boy, and make no other demands of him than that he will be ordinarily quick and intelligent.

Such employment will content him for a time, but as he grows older he finds that his earnings do not keep pace with his years, and by the time he is a man, he finds that he has followed "a blind alley," which leads to nowhere, and he is a man without a trade, and it is too late to learn one of the golden opportunities of youth have been lost.

What is the comedy? The lecturer answered most emphatically, the absolute prohibition of all child labor, and the teaching of every boy and girl of a trade, skill in which will provide them with a sure means of livelihood.

In conclusion, the lecturer turned to another aspect of the subject, the training of the home. The school can do much, but it is facing a hopeless task if it is not backed by the home. The parent who does not recognize that the future welfare of his children depends upon their training in youth, who does not set before them the ideal of worthy citizenship, the ideal of the craftsman delighting in his skill, falls in the duty that parenthood imposes upon him.

Child labor has been one of the curses of the world for centuries. The duty of society is to abolish it for ever, and set in its place that will and kindly training that makes the efficient worker and the worthy citizen.

OLD MAN SMASHED WINDOW

AND THEN ASKED POLICE TO SEND HIM TO JAIL FOR WINTER

Poor John Ross is a Native of Toronto, and He Was Given Railway Pass as Far as Napanee.

"Please, sir, I broke a window in a house down the street and I want to be sent to jail."

Poor old John Ross walked into police headquarters on Wednesday afternoon and made this rather unusual plea to Sergeant Samuel Arniel. John is over sixty years of age, has no home, but simply makes a stopping place wherever he is able to hang his hat.

It is very seldom that a person asks to be sent to jail. The majority of people who go to jail do so because the law has sent them there. This was certainly a new one for the police to have a man ask to be sent to jail.

Investigation was made, and it was found that Ross had smashed a window in a vacant house on Ontario street; by so doing he thought he could be put away in the jail for the cold winter months.

Even breaking a window could not get Ross into jail, and when informed that he could not be given the rest cure he so much desired, he declared that there was always some person taking the joy out of life.

Ross belongs to Toronto, so instead of sojourning in the castle near the cricket field, he is now making the trip to the Queen City in easy stages, that is to say, that Kingston gave him a boost as far as Napanee.

Other places along the line are expected to help him so that he can get back to his native city. Constable Leslie Armstrong went to the G.T.R. station with Ross on Thursday afternoon to see that he got on the train all right.

"Breaking windows is an old game that Ross has indicated in before. He served a term in the jail at Belleville, so reports says, for doing a Carrie Nation stunt on some windows there.

Cured Of Dyspepsia BY USING

Burdock Blood Bitters

The symptoms of dyspepsia are so numerous and diversified in different individuals that probably no description could exactly represent them as they occur in any given case, but a few of the most prominent are a rising and souring of food, pain, flatulence and distention of the abdomen, a sensation of discomfort after every meal, which is sometimes followed by sickness and vomiting.

To get rid of dyspepsia a careful arrangement of the diet is necessary and due time must be given for the digestion of the meal.

You will find that Burdock Blood Bitters will help with this digestion. It does this by toning up the stomach in such a way that the dyspepsia soon disappears.

Mr. Robt. Baldwin, Winifred, Ala., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters for curing dyspepsia, of which I have been a sufferer for years. I have tried a good many doctors and proprietary medicines, so one day I thought I would try something different. I got a bottle of B. B. B. from our local store, as it was about the only remedy he kept, and I can certainly say that I was more than pleased with the results, as I got better right away. I will always recommend it to other sufferers."

Sinners Like Rest of Us.

In speaking at Chalmers church reception to Rev. Dr. Wilson last evening, Rev. J. W. Stephen, of St. Andrew's church, said he had been asked on deciding to accept the call to Kingston if he was not afraid to appear in the pulpits and preach before college professors. He had replied that he was, but he had one consolation, and that was that the professors "were all sinners like the rest of us."

A limited number of bunches of heather will be sold on the streets on Saturday, St. Andrew's Day, for benefit of Red Cross.

That is the proportion of medicine contained in Zam-Buk, and that is why Zam-Buk's healing powers are so superior to ordinary ointments, which contain about 5 per cent. medicine and the balance animal fat.

Zam-Buk contains absolutely no animal fat or harsh mineral drugs, but is composed exclusively of extracts of medicinal plants and herbs and vegetable oils. These are so blended, refined and concentrated that they contain the maximum amount of soothing, antiseptic and healing power.
