Chapter X.

The Word of a German.

Towards the end of October, 1914, two or three weeks after the evacuation of the fortress of Antwerp...

This letter contained a special provision which is remembered to this day. The Cardinal stated that, after a conference with the German authorities...

About the 15th of December of the same year, that is to say, about two months after the Cardinal's letter appeared, two Capellen lads, 14 or 15 years of age, boarded a locomotive standing at the station...

night from six o'clock until seven o'clock the following morning, and this until further orders. This raised a hue and cry in the village...

But it was of no avail; the twenty-four citizens whose names appeared on the list were compelled to keep guard in front of the station during the cold, wet nights of December and January...

It was at about that time that a new officer appeared at the chateau with a request that we should receive him in the house. This man was much less pleasant in manner than his predecessor...

One of the Capellen physicians having returned from Holland, my wife and I decided, after consulting the children, to take steps to leave the occupied country...

The Man on Watch

With an electrical mayor, we may now hope to have the town clock illuminated from sundown to sunrise.

More banks for Kingston—more jobs for the girls. But the people would perhaps prefer more coal yards established than banks.

Well, Victoria Ward did not demand the head of Kingston's "John the Baptist," and therefore Aid. Linton is again a member of the City Council.

Four City Council members are going to Cooke's church. The Armath schoolhouse seems to have quite a pull.

There are still a large number of men who are too lazy to rise at 7 a.m. and use the shovel on their sidewalks.

After all it is the military medals and the military crosses that will count in the future, rather than the higher decorations.

Men who talk one way and vote the other still exist in Kingston. They would shine in the diplomatic service.

How few Kingston ladies, who think they cannot do without "help," observe the Tenth Commandment, which says they must not covet the maid servant of their neighbor.

The mistress of the house is now becoming an adept at the washtub, owing to the scarcity of domestic help, for which there will soon be no need if every housewife would dig in.

The Presbyterian church has good cause to grieve its sextons, for it is this church officer who carries "the books" into the pulpit ahead of the minister. The carrying of "the books" is a most impressive act.

A certain city church which has not heard the Ten Commandments read from the pulpit for a long time, had the law laid down to it last Sabbath, and it is hoped some of its lively old lads will obey some of them this year.

The week of prayer meetings have had fair-sized audiences, but if the meetings had been advertised like the theatre performances, the attendances would have been still larger.

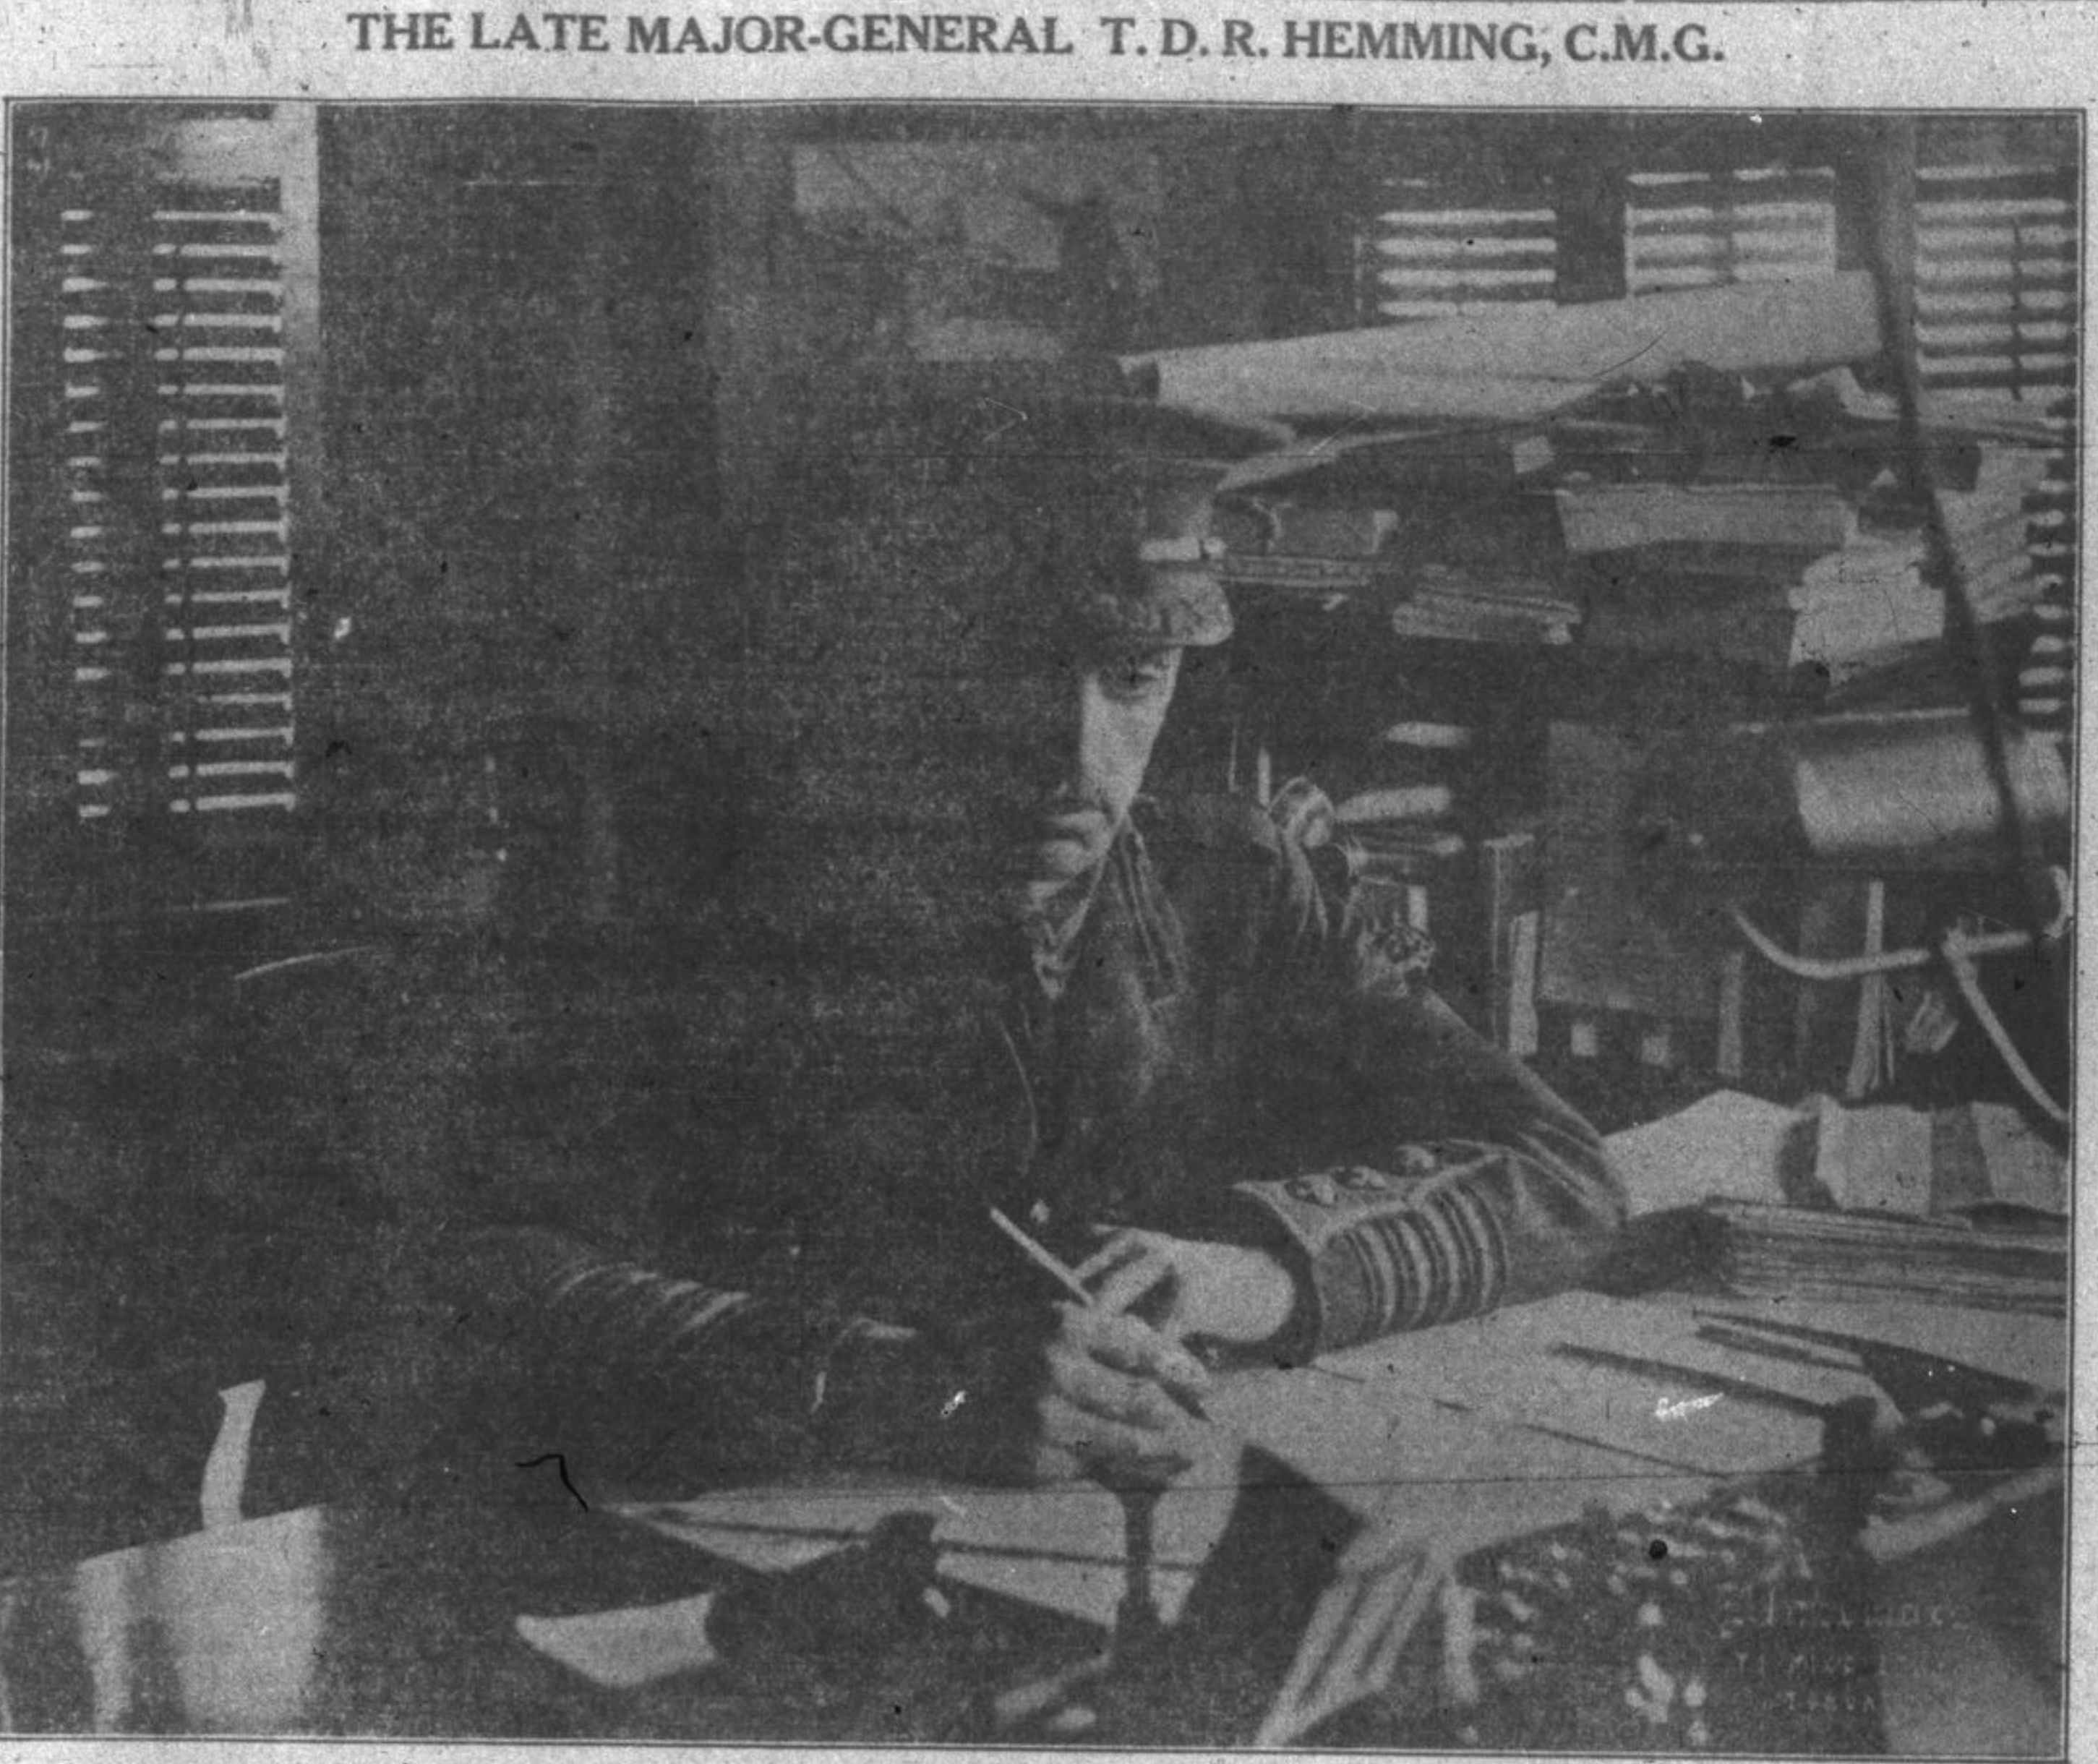

THE TOWN WATCHMAN.

Serious Illness Avoided.

Many a serious illness has been avoided by the prompt use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually enrich and purify the blood, and in this way build up the system...

It is with particularly sincere regret that the Whig heard the announcement of his death. Throughout his life in this city he earned the highest respect of all newspapermen as a courteous and honest military leader...

When the announcement of war came as a crash to Kingston on that famous August day in 1914, General Hemming said to a Whig representative, "I want to get over to see this scrap. It may be my last, but I want to go."

GENERAL HEMMING—AN APPRECIATION

On Friday afternoon the mortal remains of Major-General T. D. R. Hemming, C.M.G., were taken to Cataract Cemetery and in their place is a memory of an officer who, during his years of work in Kingston and elsewhere, built up a reputation that will not soon pass away.

From the General's office were wires leading all over the district that kept him in almost personal contact with those who were struggling to learn the rudiments of military work in preparation for the fight in France.

As a first step he set to gather around him a staff that was of real value. It proved to be one of the finest pieces of organization that has ever been attempted in Canada.

At the annual meeting of the Provincial Law Association the secretary-treasurer's report showed the finances to be in a healthy condition.

The question of the appointment of a county court reporter was discussed and a special committee composed of Messrs. Cunningham and King was appointed to take up the matter.

A committee composed of Messrs. G. H. Smythe (Chairman), T. J. Rigney and A. E. Day were appointed to prepare a conveyancing tariff and submit a draft of the same at next meeting.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. E. Whiting, K.C.; Vice-president, J. B. Walkert, K.C.; Secretary-treasurer, T. M. Asselstine, library committee, J. J. Whiting, K.C. (Chairman), F. King, J. M. Farrell, T. J. Rigney, T. M. Asselstine, librarian.

Fifty Dollars Damages Awarded. Belleville, Jan. 10.—In the Supreme Court the jury awarded fifty dollars damages to George Post, painter and decorator of Huntingdon in an action against John English of the same township.

Fatal Shooting Accident. Peterboro, Jan. 10.—A fatal shooting accident took place at the home of Willard Whitney, in Chandos Township, when a lad of thirteen accidentally shot his mother, Mrs. Willard Whitney, with a .32 rifle. She died instantly.

of Military District No. 2 at Toronto, went with the 21st Battalion, and left a big vacancy. It was filled by Major, now Lieut.-Col. Bywater, who commands the 2nd Depot Battalion, E.O.R., in Ottawa. The Colonel went overseas with the 39th Battalion after only a few short weeks in office.

During the months and years of war, there were many chances. Today the staff at the armories is made up of almost all new faces. Only Major Turner, paymaster, was in the position when the war broke out.

It has been said that he was ever ready to receive visitors. That does not in any way express his real courteous, open-hearted manner. There was a regular stream of officers, N.C.O.'s and men at his office door waiting to interview him and ask his opinion or advice on any one of thousands of questions.

Tools No Part in Wrongly Advertising for Aid. New York, Jan. 11.—Lord and Lady Aberdeen, whose names were mentioned in connection with an investigation by the District Attorney's office for alleged irregularities in connection with an entertainment given here last May for the benefit of the Child Welfare Association of England and Ireland, have been completely exonerated.

Healthy bile in sufficient quantity is Nature's provision to secure regular action of the bowels, and when the liver is sluggish it is not working properly, and does not manufacture enough bile to thoroughly cleanse the bowels and carry off the waste products from the system.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills gently unlock the secretion, clear away all waste and secret matters by acting directly on the liver and make the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

An argument is a wordy method by which the other fellow is convinced that you are wrong.

A HIGH FLYER

What's become of Mr. Lark? Oh, he's in society now, you know he's a "high flyer."

EXPENSIVE

"There is nothing more expensive than getting married!" "Oh, I don't know, I only gave the minister ten dollars to marry me, but it took fifty for a divorce!"
