GREATEST POULTRY SHOW

EVER SEEN IN KINGSTON IS NOW IN PROGRESS.

Hundreds of People Viewing the Splendid Exhibits at the Armours—Two Hundred More Entries Than Before.

"The greatest show of birds ever seen in Kingston." This is a fitting description of the Poultry Association exhibit at the armours which opened on Tuesday. Hundreds of people from both city and country went to the armours on Tuesday evening to see the beautiful birds that have been reared expressly for show purposes. The laying strains are the best to be obtained, and the utility fowl are the best of their kind. Before being brought into competition, the fowls have given his most devoted care and thought to produce the highest type. Outline of body, color and texture of plumage, strut, voice and set of comb have all been given the artist's attention. Here are to be found langshangs, originally imported from China, as big as turkeys, and feathered right down to the toe nails; brahmas that seem to shuffle when they walk; black, white and buff leghorns perhaps the most beautiful fowls and the most popular. For beauty of plumage the golden and partridge wyandottes and game are unsurpassed. The blue andalusians are in a class of themselves. The comb is a beautiful bird, and is new in this district.

The Asiaties are represented by brahmas, cochins and langshangs; the American are very strongly represented by beautiful types of the barred, white A. O. V. rocks; golden, silver, white, partridge and A. O. V. wyandottes and Rhode Island reds; the Mediterranean, which seem to be gaining strongly in popularity, by the leghorns, minores, Spanish, blue andalusians, anconas and campines; the English by the white, black, buff and blue springtons, red caps and Cornish; French, Houdans; Polands, by the silver and black; Dutch, Hamburgs; game, black-red, duckwing and English; bantams, both game and ornamental, including seabrights and black, white and buff cochins.

All prizes are awarded strictly according to merit, and in addition to the association's ribbon and money prize, special prizes are offered by many of the Kingston merchants, while silver cups, medals and shields are offered by American and Canadian clubs formed to promote the breeding of the different varieties of fowl. The American buff leghorn club offers a $10 silver cup to the winner of the most points on breeding pen, cock, hen, cockerel and pullet. Cups are also offered by W. F. Nickle, M.P., George Robertson, Ottawa; E. P. Jenkins, George Holland, S. S. Corbett, Smith Bros., W. B. Stevens, R. J. Rodgers, and the Association game bantam cup.

Some of the largest exhibitors are: Charles Anglin, Kingston, black minores; John McCourie, Winchester, blue andalusians; J. H. Kirkland, Smith's Falls, anconas; Calclough, Kingston, anconas; J. W. Lake, campines; A. S. Large, cornish; Rook Bros., Prescott, and J. C. K. Muncie, Kingston, bantams; James B. Holland, Kingston, langshangs; C. S. Parks, golden wyandottes; Ben Whitteney, silver wyandottes; Clugston Bros., white wyandottes; Joseph White, Portsmouth, barred rocks; Arthur Leader, Barriefield, W. E. Weeks, Pictou; J. Drummond, Smith's Falls, springtons, white leghorns and bantams; Hills and Kiehl, of Elginburg placed eight entries; F. Bedolph and J. G. Patterson, of Kingston, partridge wyandottes; Moore and Smith, Carleton Place, and H. Young, of Renfrew, wyandottes; L. W. Williams and George Berdan, of Kingston, Rhode Island reds; C. H. Boyce, James Letourney, H. Walsh and James McGuire, Kingston, leghorns.

There are two hundred entries more than last year, and the stock is pronounced much superior. Every one who purchases an admission ticket has a chance to secure the beautiful fowl that go to the holder of the lucky number. On Tuesday evening the first pen went to H. A. Letourney, and this evening the drawing takes place for the pen of barred rocks. On Thursday evening the white wyandottes will be drawn for.

PTE. NORMAN WILSON DEAD.

Report That He Was Alive Proves to be Incorrect.
Mrs. Lucy Wilson, Fifth street, who is at present ill in the Hotel Dieu, has received from the Minister of Militia a letter of condolence over the death in action of her husband, Pte. Norman Wilson, and this dispels the report that Pte. Wilson was not killed. Some time ago Mrs. Wilson received a couple of letters from friends of her husband saying they had been with him at certain times, presumably after the date given of his death in action. There was apparently some discrepancy with regard to the dates. Mrs. Wilson was first notified of her husband's death last October, and an insurance company paid over her insurance money to her and the pension board arranged for a pension for herself and her children.

HAD BIG CHRISTMAS DINNER.

"Bill" Anson Tells About Great Feed the Boys Had in Germany.
Mrs. F. G. Anson, Ordinance street, received a letter from her son, William Anson, who is now in Germany, and who is attached to the Fourth Battalion, Canadian Field Artillery. "Bill" says they had a great Christmas dinner, and goes into details concerning the big feed. Turkeys were ordered, but they did not arrive in time for the Christmas dinner, so they were kept for New Year's. The dinner consisted of roast beef, with gravy, potatoes, carrots, cabbage, corn, plum pudding, and brandy sauce, oranges, apples, and nuts. The boys presented Major Alexander McMurtry, D.S.O., with a toilet set, and Capt. J. Archie Gordon, M.C., with a pipe.

We Recommend & Guarantee Signet Ink

Because it is Made by the Manufacturers of Le Page's Glue

Do you, as a user of ink, realize just what that means? It means that the same standard of excellence which has made Le Page's Glue the Universal Member—the always reliable household requisite—is characteristic of Signet Ink.

WRITES BLUE—DRIES BLACK—IS PERMANENT

Signet Permanent Writing Fluid, made from the World's best dyes, now so hard to get, is everlasting absolutely. Where the permanency of records is necessary, Signet is indispensable. But that's not all. It fills every perfect ink requirement. Flows freely, is without sediment, will not corrode or build on the pen; besides it is a perfect fountain pen ink that doesn't choke or thicken in the cylinder. Furthermore—and this is a merit of unique value—Signet blue-black ink writes blue—the old familiar pleasing blue—but dries jet black—and a black that will never fade. Pleases the eye—insures legibility and "feels" good as soon as you touch the pen to paper.
