At The Grand.
All the talk these days is about after the war and now that the time has come there is much to be done and even though it is all over there are still German spies who would seek to overthrow the plans of the country and cause still more trouble. This was found out by the little heroine in the feature picture, "After the War," starring beautiful and vivacious Grace Cunard, which was presented at the Grand yesterday and will be repeated again to-night and also to-morrow, both matinee and night. This is a feature picture of quality. Other films are the Pathé News, an excellent O. Henry story and a crackerjack comedy that kept the watchers in roars of laughter. For the vaudeville, Snider's trained goats gave a really novel entertainment that was well received by everyone.

At The Strand.
The circumstances looked badly for David Aldrich. From all appearances he was training a young boy to become a thief. So, naturally, Helen Chambers thought very badly of David, and all the more so for reason of the fact that she was in love with David. But the boy himself, seeing the situation, proved conclusively to the girl that David was not teaching him to be a thief—that, in fact, David was doing his utmost to reform the boy and make a man of him.

This is one of the interesting situations in the World picture, "To Him That Hath," which on Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be shown at the Strand theatre, with Montagu Love as the star in the role of David Aldrich. Gertrude McCoy is seen in the role of Helen Chambers, while Cleo Ayres is seen in the important part of Kate Hoover.

"To Him That Hath" is an intensely interesting and decidedly unusual photoplay. It gives popular Montagu Love one of the very best roles he has ever had, and, needless to say, he plays it in a manner that will linger long in the memory of every one who sees this production. "To Him That Hath" has been filmed from the best selling novel, written by Leroy Scott. This novel sold into the hundreds of thousands and was read eagerly in all parts of the country by the lovers of exciting and interesting tales. The screen presentation given this novel is elaborate, convincing and satisfying. "To Him That Hath" is a great picture. See it.

At Griffin's.
Swaying her admirers by the magic of her impersonation, beautiful Billie Burke scored a decisive hit in her new photo-comedy, "The Make-believe Wife," which had its premier showing at Griffin's today. It is seldom that Miss Burke has been seen to such fine advantage as in this rollicking farce, and that it will greatly enhance the number of her admirers throughout the city seems a certainty. Another pleasing photoplay which kept the audience's constant attention is Tom Mix in "Ace High," a red-blooded story of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, that splendid body of men whose motto was "get their man, and whose devotion to duty and justice was unparalleled in history. Tom Mix has a splendid role, and he does full justice to it.

CHRISTIANS IN EAST
HOUNDED BY TURKS
Hundreds Sorely Distressed and in Need of Help From Canada.

An interesting letter, dated Hamadan, Persia, September 16th, 1918, has just been received by Dr. A. H. Abbott of Toronto from the Rev. E. O. Eshoo, ex-Moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Urumja, Persia, describing the awful sufferings of the people and the atrocities perpetrated by the Persians and Kurds against the Christians. Mr. Eshoo is a medical graduate of Queen's university.

After three weeks of flight the refugees reached Hamadan. All Mr. Eshoo's immediate family were saved, but lost everything they possessed, and he had to sell his horses as soon as he arrived, so as to get food. He tells of meeting Capt. J. M. Fisher of Wyoming, Canada, and of the splendid assistance rendered by him to the refugees. Canada has a right to be proud of such men, he states. There are hundreds of widows and orphans in the place without any money or food; indeed, many of the Christians are awaiting the Moslem faith just to get bread. The sight of the pretty young women becoming mere skeletons for want of food is the saddest thing imaginable, Mr. Eshoo writes, and he makes a strong appeal for help for these sorely-stricken people.

BALL IN CITY HALL

Brilliant Event Given by Queen's Returned Soldiers' Club.

The ball of the Queen's University Returned Soldiers' Club which was held in the City Hall on Thursday night was a brilliant event. There was a large attendance of soldiers and their friends, including about sixty cadets from the Royal Military College. Practically every branch of the service was represented. The hall was beautifully decorated. A large illuminated moon announced the numbers on the programme, and on the platform was a cosy bungalow tent, from which the patronesses surveyed the proceedings. In front, in an electric spray were the letters, "Q.U.R.S.C." The patronesses were Mrs. Victor Williams, Mrs. P. G. Campbell, Mrs. W. F. Nichol, Mrs. B. Bruce Taylor and Mrs. C. N. Perrean. Splendid music was provided for the dancing by the jazz orchestra from Watertown, N.Y. The catering was in the hands of Peter Lee.

Corpl. Victor Fraser, 21st Battalion, writes Mrs. John Kinch, 188 Rideau street, under date of Dec. 29th, 1918. He was then marching to Bonn, Germany. He says he had the honor of escorting the colors across the Rhine. The country at this season of the year, he says, is very much like Canada. Corpl. Fraser is one of the Salvation Army bandmen, and went overseas in the 21st Battalion.

An interesting event took place at the office of the vocational department on Friday afternoon, when Charles Hicks, late of the 2nd Battalion, who has been in the employment of that department for some time, was the recipient of a pipe and pouch on the occasion of his leaving the department. Prof. Manly Baker made the presentation, and extended the good wishes of the staff to Mr. Hicks, who replied suitably. Mr. Hicks is leaving to become managing director of the Veterans' Clothing Company, which is soon to commence business in Kingston.

It would be worth while for employers of labor in Kingston to note that in the case of the men now being discharged on demobilization, no remarks as to conduct appear on their discharge papers, no matter what their army record might be. A case occurred recently in Kingston, in which an employer refused to employ a returned soldier because there was no entry as to conduct on his discharge paper. Only men discharged previous to the armistice, or as medically unfit have any note of conduct on these papers. Therefore, it is in no way detrimental to the soldier now being discharged that his conduct is not mentioned.

The Richardson Chapter, I.O.D.E., assisted by the G.W.V.A. entertainment committee, are to give a concert and whist drive to the patients at the Mowat Memorial sanatorium on Friday evening.

Sergt. Major C. E. Susee and C.S. M.L. Dawe of the instructional cadre are being granted their discharge. They performed most valuable service throughout the war as instructors, and all of the officers and N.C.O.'s, that left this district received their training, or a part of it, from these competent men. S.M. Susee will complete twenty-one years military service on April 1st next. Up to Nov. 1915 he served in the 59th Peterboro Rangers. C.S. M.L. Dawe was also a member of the 59th Peterboro Rangers. It has been stated by many officers that there are no more capable soldiers than these two instructors, and they carry with them on their discharge the best wishes of their superiors.
