The man who is in love with himself imagines all the world loves a lover. No man is great enough, wise enough, or good enough to be trusted with unlimited power.

SMILES FOR WHIG READERS

MONEY WANTED

"Wouldn't you like a soul mate?"
"No, give me one that is well heeled."

KOOTYS?

"Well, son, I see you're back from the front and not a scratch."
"No, I quit scratchin' as soon as we got out of the trenches."

A PECULIAR FELLOW

"Don't you believe that you are the only girl I have ever loved?"
"Yes, I have heard that you are rather eccentric."

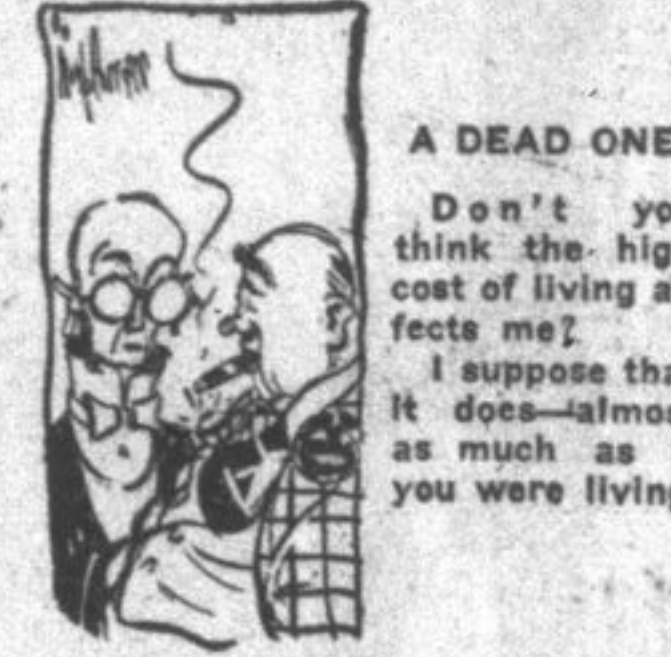

TWO OF A KIND

I suppose your husband when a baby used to put his little toes in his mouth?
Oh, yes. And when he goes out with me in company he generally puts his foot in it.

A FAIR DONER

Ethel — Does she let her right hand know what her left hand gives?
Jack—No, and she doesn't let her left friends know what her right friends get.

A DEAD ONE

Don't you think the high cost of living affects me?
I suppose that it does—almost as much as if you were living.

EXPENSIVE PLACE

"Did you stay long in New York?"
"No, I got short very quickly."

NOT CARRYING THEM

"Did Bill inherit his father's brains?"
"If he did they must be held in trust by somebody."

POOR OLD TIME

Miss Klavlerklang—I play the pi ano merely to kill time,
Mr. Bangs—Your playing certainly does it. But what a death!

DIBBLE QUILTS TRAINING.

Awaits Word From Committee of Royal Henley Regatta.

Until the definite assurance is received from the committee of the Royal Henley Regatta that the latter will be held next summer, as has been rumored, and that the Diamond Sculls will be rowed as a part of the program, Lieut. "Bob" Dibble will do nothing further in the matter of his preliminary training. Lieut. Dibble recently decided to make another effort to win the premier sculling honors of the world, but lacking definite information concerning the holding of the regatta, has resolved not to continue his preparations.

The coach and trainer who prepared Dibble for his race with John B. Kelly of the Vespers of Philadelphia, who was beaten by the Toronto sculler for the international championship has closed the training quarters which have been in use for some time, and nothing further will be done until the Henley Committee is heard from officially.

Lieut. Dibble's entry has already been forwarded to the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, through which all Canadian entries to the Royal Henley regatta must be made, and by which they must be endorsed. Nothing further will be done by Dibble or his adviser until instructions are received from the C.A.A.O.

"Safety First" Baseball Clubs.

Fisherman Jake Daubert of the Brooklyn Club has been paid in full by the club, the suit against the Dodgers having been settled out of court. Daubert signed for the full period of the 1918 season and when the schedule was curtailed he sued for the full amount stipulated in his contract. Dozens of other major league players awaited the outcome of the suit. Had the court found for Daubert there would have been an avalanche of suits against major league clubs. Paying the player in full before the matter came to trial looks like good business from the standpoint of the "big leagues." Hal Chase's suit against the Cincinnati club has also been settled out of court.

Special Tariff Caucus Called.

Ottawa, March 8.—The Government seems to be fully alive to the tariff situation, and a special tariff caucus of the Unionists will be called before the end of the month, at which there will be a frank exchange of views. Following this an effort will be made to shape a budget to suit all parties. The finance minister will have a difficult task, but a prominent supporter of the administration says Sir Thomas White will evolve a policy which will be more historic than the National Policy of Sir John A. Macdonald.

Clergymen Oppose Sunday Ball.

Opposing the playing of professional baseball on Sunday, although not offering any objection to the playing of the game by amateurs, was the keynote of the opponents to bills now pending before the New York legislature, designed to permit baseball games where admission fees are charged, to be played after 2 p.m. Sundays in cities and municipalities desiring Sunday baseball. The opposition was represented largely by clergymen. A large number of persons in which military were conspicuous were represented in favor of the bill.

Allan Cup Games.

On Wednesday and Friday nights of next week the Quebec winners will meet the O.H.A. winners in the Allan Cup elimination series. On Tuesday and Thursday of the following week the western winners will meet the O.H.A. champions in the final for the possession of the Allan Cup and the right to be called world's champions. Probably during the same week the junior Allan Cup series will be staged.

How Dominion Friction Surface Belting Helps to Increase Production

The greatest single factor in increasing and maintaining your production at the maximum is efficient equipment—this depends not only on your machinery, but to a greater extent than you realize on your power transmission equipment.

We are ready to demonstrate to you that Dominion Friction Surface Belting is the most economical and efficient transmission equipment made.

It is more than water-proofed fabric—the rubber used is a special friction compound that practically eliminates slipping and transmits all the power that any belt can transmit.

Its uniformity and dependability insure long and continuous service which saves time wasted in making replacements and repairs and prevents idle employees and machines.

Our special free advisory service, in charge of belting experts, is maintained to help manufacturers increase production through efficient equipment.

Phone, wire or write our nearest Service Branch when you are ready to have one of our experts help you "speed up" production just as they have helped many others.
