SPORT NOTES

Jack Trossider, of Toronto, is still running in great form. He won the quarter and one mile races recently in the Canadian sports in Belgium.

The Rochester Bronchos are getting eight or ten castoffs from the New York Giants. They are now training at Wilmington, Del., under Arthur Lawin.

Jess Willard will probably enter the ring for his fight against Jack Dempsey, weighing 250 pounds. His height is six feet six inches. Dempsey will weigh 195 pounds.

Reports from the south say that Ty Cobb has been working like a Trojan to get back into condition. He is a little overweight, but ought to have one of his best seasons.

According to James J. McCaffery it's easier to break out of the Toronto jail than it is to steal second on Catcher "Mooney" Gibson.

New York baseball men are offering $2 to 1 that John McGraw's Giants run one, two or three in the National Ball League.

What's in a name? Cliff Robinson is the latest sensation among jockeys down south. He will have to ride wonderfully well to equal the record of the late bearer of the illustrious name, Frankie Robinson.

And seven months ago the betting was 20 to 1 against National League being able to announce in 1919: "Ladies and gentlemen the batteries for to-day will be Alexander and Killefer for Chicago."

Con Jones seems to have reversed the tables on the Ottawa Lacrosse Club. George Booth was preparing to take his champions west when Con announced that the Vancouver players were coming east.

Honolulu has a girl swimmer whom it believes will become a champion. She is Miss Marion Dowsett. She recently swam fifty yards in twenty-nine flat. Duke Kahanamoku is coaching her.

Connie Mack says he believes Pitcher Jing Johnson will be one of the most successful of the year in the American League. And needless to say, Johnson draws his salary from the Philadelphia Athletics.

World Whitewash Them All. Calgary's athletic bodies, representing four to five thousand athletes, went on record as favoring the whitewashing of all athletes in Canada this year and the members of his Majesty's land and sea forces as they return from the front.

These bodies also favored the mingling of amateurs and professionals under certain well-defined restrictions such as are observed in Great Britain without detriment to the amateur's standing, and they also endorsed a definition of an amateur, as "a participant in sport who does not accept payment in money or other form, directly or indirectly, for playing that sport, and who does not pawn, sell or otherwise dispose of his prizes for money or other material consideration."

The resolution will be put before the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. A motion endorsing daylight saving was also passed.

Sir Douglas Haig's Tribute. The following "foreword" to Capt. Sidney Galtrey's book, "The Horse and the War," was written by Sir Douglas Haig: "The power of an army as a striking weapon is largely dependent on its mobility. Mobility is largely dependent on the suitability and fitness of animals for army work. I hope that this account of our army horses and mules will bring home to the peoples of the British Empire and the United States the wisdom of breeding animals for the two military virtues of hardiness and activity, and I would add that the best animals for army purposes are also the most valuable for agriculture, commerce and sport."

Hamilton to Have Ice Palace. Hockey fans in Hamilton are jubilant. Hamilton is to have a real arena at last. The present rink apparatus will be disposed of and a new building will spring up in its place that will cost about $200,000 and have an ice space of 200 feet in length by 80 feet in width. Building is expected to commence about May 15th and the doors will be opened in September. The arena will be the last word in rink construction and with another championship team on the ice for the year 1920, and perhaps a professional team thrown in for good measure, hockey fans will be in clover.

Chance For the Game. By the provisions of a bill introduced by the Minister of Lands and Mines, New Brunswick will have a game sanctuary consisting of the Province where the shooting of game shall be absolutely prohibited. This policy has been recognized at most universally as one of the best means of conserving the game supply, and with the exception of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick is the last to make provision of this nature for the protection of game.

Shaughnessy And McGill. Frank Shaughnessy will have a busy time of it when he takes charge of the athletic department of McGill University next September. His job will be to make an athlete out of each of about 2,000 students. His plan is to encourage every scholar to participate in sport, and "Shag" will be somewhat of a Jack-of-all-trades to supervise and direct operations in all the fields of college competition. His principal work will be with the football, hockey and basketball squads. The policy of many institutions these days is to encourage every person to participate in at least one form of athletics. A game for every man and every man in the game—is a slogan that just about hits the nail on the head. Such is the policy of Shaughnessy, will pursue when he hooks up with McGill. The collegiate teams of Montreal should do well under his direction also.

Lacrosse To Boom. Lacrosse is going to boom in the small cities and towns of Ontario this summer, is the word the delegates brought down to the annual C.A.L.A. convention. But the boom would be helped along a whole lot if railroad fares were not so high, and to get some relief in that direction the O.A.L.A. will ask the sports committee of the Citizens' Repatriation League to lift in having the club rate privilege restored. This has been out of the question during war times. Carting a lacrosse squad of fifteen players around costs a big sum these days when railroad rates are about seventy-five per cent. higher than they were in pre-war days.

Modern Rink For Orillia. Almost half of the $30,000 required for a new hockey rink for Orillia next season has been subscribed. Options have been secured on a number of suitable sites. It is proposed to form a joint stock company and have the rink ready for use when the hockey season opens next winter.

The plan of a rink shown was for a steel and concrete structure, about 230 by 120 feet, with a sheet of ice 180 by 85 feet. A span of 105 feet is provided, with one thousand reserved seats within the span, so that there would be no obstructions in front of these seats. The supporting columns would be behind the reserved section, and standing room for about 2,000 people would be provided on each side of the span. A balcony could be added at each end to accommodate about 250 in each.

Jimmie McAvoy, former Canadian Leaguer, will be Connie Mack's backstopping mainstay in the American League race this year.

CREWS PREPARING FOR INTERNATIONAL REGATTA

High French Officials Will Attend the Inter-Allied Water Carnival.

The crews which will take part in the international regatta on the Seine on April 27th are dipping their blades in some of the most famous rivers of the world, the Seine, the Thames and the Rhine, in preparation for the inter-allied water carnival, sporting and social events of the French season.

High French officials, including Premier Clemenceau, and officers from all the Allied armies have expressed their intention of being present. Each of the crews is made up of war veterans. The Newfoundlanders are showing a surprising amount of speed. The canal, however, said that his men were handicapped because they were unaccustomed to the sliding seats.

The Australian and New Zealand crews are training on the Thames at present, but are expected in Paris on Sunday. The Portuguese crews have been on the water since February, and the French rowers are veterans who have rowed together for years.

The dark horse of the race is Alsace-Lozaine. The men representing these provinces are training in secret on the Rhine.

The reason given for the withdrawal of the English crew is that when they came to the Seine for training they did not like the French type of boat, which is heavier than the English, and decided not to compete.

Peterboro Great War Veterans' Association hope to get "Red" Gallagher and "Scotty" Lisner matched to settle all disputes at Peterboro on May 22nd.

Shevill, champion writer of the United States navy, beat Newberry on points in 20 rounds at London.

Satisfaction is a delicate "Plant," its cultivation requires much attention and it feeds upon the milk of "given values and unwavering service."

WE GREET YOU!

Our first thought was to tell you what we've been doing in preparation for your homecoming, but this is no time to talk spring styles. The "spring step" of your march up Princess street is the big thing now. You are the subject of discussion and we're with you strong. What's a Lion suit to the suit you have on? What are our ties beside the ties that bind us to you? Our hats are in the air as you pass.

We hope to see you when you buy, But you can bet your old Tin Hat, We'll see you when you go by.

We're going to stick around till your train pulls in and we've got our grand stand on the curb all chalked off, even now. When you hear a lot of noise—execute an "eyes right," that's us. There's nothing more to be said just now, except to remind you that after the last "retreat" has been blown and "civies" begin to look good to you again—you'll find us waiting for you in our "dugout" ready to present you with the "Croix de Wear." Yes sir, we'll be here behind the "lines" to greet you with hand shakes—not hand grenades—and the honor is ours. We welcome your heartily.
